XLIX SATURDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 13, 1930. C

DAILY, FIVE CENTS

Will Rogers Remarks:

CAMP RICHARDSON, Sept. 12.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Eddie Rickenbacker, our ace of aces, who brought down twenty-six enemy planes, walked in his sleep, had a twenty-foot forced landing and cracked up. I agree with Arthur Brisbane, not on Russia 'as don't sell America short, but on his stand on Rickenbacker. I believe that Eddie ought to get an even break with a cross-continent record or a refueling champion. There is such a thing as a hero being too modest, and I think the least we can do for Eddie is to have the nation give him a parachute to sleep in. We are doing all we can to have another war and we will want to use him.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

NAVAL PACT FORECAST

France and Italy Near Accord

League Leaders Say Definite Proposal for Solution Has Been Made

Tonnage Dispute May Result in Agreement for Long Holiday

GENEVA, Sept. 12. (AP)—Settlement of Franco-Italian naval tonnage difficulties, at least by a long naval holiday, was predicted by persons in authority at the League of Nations Assembly today.

It was said the absence of the Italian Foreign Minister Grandi, who took his departure suddenly Wednesday, had something to do with bartering over the Tunis and Tripolitan questions that have been engaging attention here.

It was understood on good authority that some sort of definite offer had been made by either France or Italy and a definite reply could be expected shortly.

That a long naval holiday may be the accepted solution is the opinion put forth by persons in close touch with both delegations in the League Assembly.

OBSTACLES TO PACT

Conversations on naval affairs have progressed to a certain point within the last few days since Augusto Rosso and Rene Massigli, Italian and French experts, respectively, have been in contact. Naval matters, however, are largely dependent upon the obtaining of a

HURRICANE HITS COAST

North Carolina Area Struck

Twelve Buildings Wrecked; Citizens Flee Homes at Cape Lookout

Communication Disrupted by Gale Reported Blowing 120 Miles Hour

RALEIGH (N. C.) Sept. 12. (AP)—Striking with sudden fury at Cape Lookout, fifteen miles from the Port of Beaufort, a tropical hurricane howled up the North Carolina coast this afternoon, but was believed to have passed out to sea tonight without causing loss of life.

The full force of a 120-mile-an-hour wind from the southwest buffeted the Cape Lookout vicinity at 5 p.m., demolishing a dozen buildings and damaging the Coast Guard headquarters slightly. Inhabitants of the vicinity sought shelter in the guard buildings.

WIND ABATES

Reports received here early tonight indicated the fierceness of the storm was abating. At Cape Lookout the wind had fallen to sixteen miles an hour by 9:30, but at Cape Hatteras and northward, the coast was still battered by a fifty-mile-an-hour gale.

Earlier Hatteras had recorded sixty-mile velocity.

Communication with the coastal area was badly crippled. Information of the damage at Cape Lookout was given Coast Guard division headquarters at Norfolk by radio telephone. Commercial telephone lines were put out of commission, but little other damage was listed in available reports.

NEIGHBOR TOWNS ESCAPE

Morehead City and Beaufort, neighboring towns within a few miles of Cape Lookout, did not feel the full force of the storm. Their telephone, telegraph and power facilities were disrupted by a fifty to sixty-mile gale early in the afternoon, but there was no other damage except the uprooting of trees and the unroofing of one building.

A dispatch from Norfolk said weather officials there did not expect the storm to be felt to any great extent in that region as they believed the center had already curved back into the Atlantic, whence it came about 2 p.m., with the blow at Lookout.

No report had been received of any shipping in distress.

HOOVER PLEDGES AID TO DOMINICAN REPUBLIC

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. (AP)—President Hoover said today this country will co-operate in every way possible with the attempts of the Dominican government to raise money for hurricane reconstruction work.

The President said this country will not stand in the way of the proposed loan flotation for money to meet the hurricane emergency.

Under a long-standing agreement the Dominican Republic may not increase its exterior indebtedness without consulting the United States.

It is seeking a $3,000,000 loan of which $1,000,000 would be used for public works and reconstruction, and $2,000,000 for limited private loans to individuals.

GRAFT'S END FORECAST

Bernal Outlines Policies

Mexican Governor Declares He Acts on Presidential Order in Inquiries

Games-Concession Holders at Mexicali Hurry to Protect Interests

MEXICALI, Sept. 12. (Exclusive) "Public and private graft must end in this district." This assertion was made today by Gen. Arturo Bernal, newly appointed Governor of the northern district of Lower California, in explanation of the sweeping changes in personnel which have been made since his arrival here early last week.

"We are not going to stir up any unnecessary trouble," said Bernal, "but we were sent here to rid the district of graft and illicit manipulation of office and I am personally determined to go to the bottom of everything that is not in accordance with the laws of my country. This is no idle threat. The President's orders are explicit and whoever stands in the way of honest law enforcement will be subject to removal and trial if the circumstances justify. There are to be no favorites under my regime."

SHORTAGE CHARGED

It was stated at the territorial palace today that a search is being made for Col. Jesus Ochoa, former police inspector who was replaced when Bernal took charge. Ochoa's secretary, Louis Romera, was arrested and locked in jail yesterday in connection with an asserted shortage of funds in the department.

Officials close to the Governor stated that he made an early morning trip yesterday to Alaska, former summer home of Gov. Abelardo Rodriguez, in the coast mountain range, to investigate the complaint of Mexican citizens who are occupying public buildings there that they had been forced to pay graft money to petty officials of the previous administration. The Governor was much disturbed over conditions disclosed in the investigation, it was stated.

GAMING QUIZ LOOMS

Gambling in Lower California may be subject to new restrictions, it was intimated at the palace today. The Governor has asked for a complete investigation of gaming franchises now in operation both in Mexicali and Tia Juana, and the situation is so critical that Marvin Allen and Joe Flores of the Owl Resort in Mexicali left on a hurried trip to Mexico City this week, presumably to protect their concession.

Gov. Bernal has given employment to more than half of the 2000 laborers who have been idle in the district throughout the summer. They have been put to work building roads and doing landscape work in the municipality.

League Curbing Italy's Ire

Mussolini Reported Ready with Ultimatum to Jugo-Slavia

(Copyright, 1930, by Chicago Tribune.)

LONDON, Sept. 12. (Exclusive)—Open evidence of the serious tension between Italy and Jugo-Slavia is only being delayed by the sitting of the League of Nations, according to reports here today. As soon as the League disperses, Premier Mussolini is reported to be ready to present an ultimatum demanding satisfaction for various grievances.

Italy is said to have proof that Jugo-Slavia backed the Slovene plots in Italian territory which led to the execution of four Slovene terrorists in Trieste a few days ago.

The Jugo-Slavians are said to be depending on the French to prevent an attack by Italy.

It is also reported that the Italian Ambassador to Ankara has been instructed to conclude a naval agreement with Turkey which would make Italy virtually the defender of Turkish rights in the straits.

MOB STONES ITALIAN LEGATION AT PRAGUE

PRAGUE (Czecho-Slovakia) Sept. 12. (Exclusive)—Three members of the Czecho-Slovakian Fascist party were arrested here today for participation in an attack on the Italian legation this morning. The mob, lashed to fury by unabated attacks in the press against the Fascist execution of the four Slavs at Trieste, broke the police cordon and reached the Italian Legation, stoned it, and broke all the windows.

The attack was preceded by wild objurgations against Italian Fascism. Most of the participants are members of the Czecho-Slovakian party which a few days ago decided to change the name due to the disgrace brought on the term "Fascist" by the Trieste executions. The entire demonstration originated at a Czecho-Fascist party protest meeting indoors, which, becoming too hot to remain confined, poured into the streets and headed for the Italian Legation.

The persistent anger of the Czecho press is indicated by the slogan sprinkled on the front page of the Ceske Slowo, a Prague newspaper, of "Slavs, always remember that the Italian Fascists consider that you are insects and barbarians."

MASSING OF TROOPS ON BORDER DENIED

VIENNA, Sept. 12. (AP)—The Italian Legation here issued an official denial today Italy has concentrated troops on the Jugo-Slav frontier.

Republicans of Ohio Adopt Dry Party Platform

COLUMBUS (O.) Sept. 12. (AP)—Law enforcement, indorsement of the Hoover and Cooper administrations and reduced general property taxes will be the battle cry of Ohio Republicans in the campaign this fall.

The State convention of the party adjourned today after adopting its platform.

Antiprohibitionists seeking referendum or repeal of the dry laws got no further than the resolutions committee and they made no effort to fight it out on the convention floor.

TURKS SAY KURDS BEING DRIVEN BACK

ANGORA (Turkey) Sept. 12. (AP) Army officials announced today revolting Kurdish tribesmen had been cleared from the east and south slopes of Mt. Ararat, although hot fighting continues on the north slope. The Turks said the rebels' numbers were being steadily reduced by gunfire.

WHITE CAR SPEED LAW CLARIFIED

Supreme Court Declares Act Doesn't Fix Color for City Police Autos

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 12. (AP)—The State motor vehicle law compelling traffic officers to use white automobiles when making arrests does not apply to city policemen, the State Supreme Court ruled in a decision announced here today.

The case was appealed to the high tribunal by Herbert H. Mitchell, who was arrested in North Sacramento last winter by a city police officer on a speeding charge. Mitchell was found guilty on trial in police court. The Sacramento County Superior Court reversed the decision, but in a retrial of the case held Mitchell guilty. It was this latter judgment the Supreme Court upheld.

In his appeal Mitchell contended the arresting officer was an incompetent witness because he rode in a green automobile while making the arrest. The Supreme Court ruled the law relating to the use of white automobiles by traffic policemen applied only to members of the California Highway Patrol. Use of white cars only by city police would interfere with their duties other than enforcing traffic laws, the court held.

Ex-Dry Agents Denies He Asked Fund for Jones

SEATTLE, Sept. 12. (AP)—Roy C. Lyle, former prohibition administrator, accused with three of his official associates of bribery and corruption, testified in Federal court today that the charge he had collected $800 from bootleggers for the 1926 campaign of Senator Wesley L. Jones, outspoken dry, is a "malicious and infamous falsehood."

Lyle also denied receiving any money "directly or indirectly" from Alfred M. Hubbard, former prohibition agent, as protection money from organized liquor runners. Lyle testified he had offered to waive immunity in communications to the grand jury which indicted him this spring, but that he had not been allowed to tell his side of the story.

HUGHES TO QUIT NAVY NEXT WEEK

Admiral Foe of London Pact to Retire Prior to His Original Plans

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. (Exclusive)—Admiral Charles F. Hughes, chief of naval operations and one of the most bitter opponents of the London naval treaty, will retire for age the 18th inst., six weeks in advance of the date originally fixed for his retirement, it was announced by the Navy Department today.

No explanation was advanced for the hasty retirement of the veteran admiral. According to reports current in Washington tonight, Admiral Hughes moved his date of retirement forward partly in the belief that his departure will hasten action on the new naval building program.

Friends of Admiral Hughes said tonight that the admiral feels that inasmuch as adjustments will have to be made in the Navy to make it conform to the London treaty it will be better for all concerned if he retires and permits Admiral William V. Pratt, a stanch upholder of the treaty, to become chief of naval operations at once.

Admiral Hughes will be 64 years of age October 1st next. During his term of service he commanded the United States Fleet, the battle fleet, and before that a division of battleships. Admiral Hughes suffered a stroke a few months ago, and this has played a part in his decision to retire.

HIGH COURT AGAIN GETS DEPOT CASE

State Tribunal Permits Plaza Union Station Row to Take Last Appeal

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12. (Exclusive)—As a formality which will fulfill all legal technicalities in bringing about construction of the Plaza Union Terminal at Los Angeles, the State Supreme Court today granted the Southern Pacific, Santa Fe and Los Angeles and Salt Lake railroads permission to take back to the United States Supreme Court a plea for an overthrow of the State Court decision of May 27, last.

That decision was one upholding the authority of the State Railroad Commission to order construction of the station. The authority so established is declared erroneous by the railroads. Today's action was merely formal, as verbal indication of this step was given on the same day the decision was handed down.

Yancey's Plane Burns in Crash

NEW YORK, Sept. 12. (AP)—Word was received here tonight that Capt. Lewis A. Yancey and two companions crashed on a small island in the Bahamas today on their return from a 20,000-mile good will tour of the Americas. The flyers were not injured, but the plane was destroyed by fire, the messages said.

Radio messages received by Mrs. Yancey and Isadore Goldberg, backer of the flight, said the flyers are safe, but gave no details of the crack-up.

Pilot Hawks's Wife Escapes in Air Crash

DAVENPORT (Iowa) Sept. 12. (AP) Mrs. Frank Hawks, wife of the holder of the transcontinental air speed record, and three others escaped serious injury in two crashes of planes landing with the Ford air tour today.

Mrs. Hawks was riding in a plane piloted by Lee Schoenhair, assistant scorer of the tour, when it nosed over in landing. The wings and propellor were damaged.

Young Finders Proffer Flyers Dropped Chart

PORTSMOUTH (N. H.) Sept. 12. (AP)—The French flyers Coste and Bellonte will be given back the map which guided them over the Atlantic Ocean, two Portsmouth youngsters said today.

Louise Stef and her brother John, who found the map when it fell from the Question Mark as it sped over this city, made the statement when told Bellonte had asked, through the press, that the map be sent him.

There was little doubt that the Stefs did not relish the prospect of giving up their treasured keepsake, but both agreed if the flyers wanted the map it should be returned to them.

Volcano Blows Out from Base

MESSINA, Sept. 12. (AP)—Officials investigating yesterday's eruption and earthquake have made the extraordinary discovery that the volcano Stromboli opened at its base.

Twenty Communists Put to Death in Campaign Against Red Propaganda

HANKOW (China) Sept. 12. (AP) Twenty Communists, including two women school-teachers, were executed by the Hankow military today in its attempt to throttle the spread of Red propaganda throughout this district.

Fireman Killed in Train Wreck

FORT WORTH (Tex.) Sept. 12. (AP)—A head-on collision between two Rock Island freight trains tonight resulted in the death of P. W. Frey, a fireman, injury to two other trainmen, and possible death of two other crew members, reported missing after the crash.

Ernest M. Fridge and Thomas E. Christopher, both Fort Worth engineers, are the missing men. It was feared they were buried beneath the wreckage, part of which caught fire.

FIVE DIE IN OIL TRAIN FIRE

Ride-Stealers Cremated Alive by Blazing Fuel When Trapped Under Derailed Cars

ENID (Okla.) Sept. 12. (AP)—Trapped in an inferno of blazing gasoline, five men, four of them unidentified itinerants, were killed today when fifteen oil cars of a Rock Island freight train left the tracks at Kremlin, ten miles north of here, and caught fire.

The identified man was I. L. Lockhart, 52 years of age, of Lexington, Ky., who died shortly after he had been removed to a hospital here, suffering from broken legs, shock and internal injuries.

Flames whipping hundreds of feet into the air drove citizens of Kremlin from their homes, destroyed three residences on the edge of town and burned an automobile and garage. Explosion after explosion occurred as successive tanks of gasoline took fire.

Witnesses watched three men burn to death in the flames, unable to aid because of the intense heat and danger of explosions. A fourth man, both legs broken, was seen to crawl upon his back for fifty feet, pulling himself along with his hands. As the heat became more intense he collapsed and died.

Ambulances and fire trucks were rushed to Kremlin from Enid as word of the wreck reached here.

A straw stack a half-mile north of the wreck was set afire.

William and George Slade of Pueblo, Colo., the only two to escape out of a party of seven which boarded the freight train at Enid, said they did not know the names of the men killed. They met the men at Enid and all decided to take the freight northward from here.

The Slades said they had crawled from a tank car on to a box car when the wreck occurred. They leaped as the box car, the last to leave the tracks, went into the ditch.

JOE ROBINSON'S HAT IN RING

Arkansas Senator Boosted for President in 1932 by Enthusiastic Democratic Followers

HOT SPRINGS (Ark.) Sept. 12. (AP)—Enthusiastic friends of United States Senator Robinson in the State Democratic convention here today tossed his hat in the ring for the 1932 Presidential nomination. The convention indorsed him as a candidate for President.

In seconding the resolution of indorsement, former Gov. Brough of Arkansas assured the delegates he had the word of Gov. Roosevelt of New York that in the event he is unable to obtain the nomination he will support Robinson.

Mr. Brough also said he had been assured by Chief Justice Dennis of the Supreme Court bench of Maryland that if Gov. Ritchie of Maryland can not be nominated he is quite sure the Maryland delegation will go over to Robinson in the convention. This statement was denied from Baltimore by Justice Dennis, who characterized it as "an absurd untruth."

Mr. Brough later reiterated the statement and declared Justice Dennis has assured him of Maryland's support for Robinson in event Gov. Ritchie cannot be nominated.

ROW RENEWED OVER DRY LAW

Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Favors Repeal

Anti-Saloon League's Head Not Perturbed

McBride Asserts Montanan Classed as Wet

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. (AP)—Prohibition again commanded attention today in the capital, with Senator Burton K. Wheeler saying conditions under it had forced him to the opinion the Eighteenth Amendment had failed.

The Montana Democrat recalled having voted for the dry law in his State. He advocated leaving liquor traffic regulation to each State. Aside from his prepared statement, he predicted the Democratic party will nominate an opponent of prohibition in 1932.

A. Scott McBride, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, said his organization had "never counted Burton Wheeler as a dry."

NO LOSS TO DRYS

"This is simply a case of a wet changing his mind as a wet and is in line with the views of Chairman Raskob and other party leaders whom he has supported before," he said. "It is no loss from the dry standpoint that I know of."

McBride said the newly announced stand of Gov. Roosevelt of New York brought "the wet issue into the next political campaign."

"In view of the fact he has been mentioned as a possible candidate," he said, "it looks as if he makes the statement to clarify his position as a candidate."

The demands for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment are regarded by the drys as futile. To repeal the amendment, two-thirds of both branches of Congress would have to vote to resubmit the amendment to the States, and two-thirds, or three-fifths of the States then would have to vote for repeal.

WET VICTORIES HAILED

The wets have heralded the defeats of dry House members in Michigan and Washington Republican primaries as an indication of a changing trend against the dry law.

McBride said tonight "it was to be expected we would lose some drys this year."

"We had more drys in the last Congress than previously," he said. "It was a reaction to normalcy."

The Anti-Saloon League superintendent said the defeat of Representative Miller in Washington, "a good man and a dry," was an example.

"Seattle is one of the wettest cities in the country," he said. "We had no right to claim a dry from there."

Aside from the fact the primaries "have taken away two of our outstanding leaders," he said the wets had no reason to rejoice. The defeats of Representatives Hudson and Cramton in Michigan were attributed by him to the shifting population, the unrest of an industrial region and "an aggressive wet compaign."

In general, he said, the primary turnover had been about normal and he predicted if the drys would concentrate upon the coming campaign, they might regain some of the lost ground.

Senator Wheeler's statement follows:

"I voted for prohibition in Montana because I felt that the old saloon was a curse to the American people and I wanted to do away with it. In the old days the breweries in many instances owned the fixtures, the buildings and the license and in many instances controlled local politics.

GRAFT CITED

"I am no more in favor of the saloon, no more in favor of the saloon liquor today than I was before, but under prohibition you have in many cities more dives and speakeasies where they are openly selling rotten whisky than you had in the old days. Today in many communities the bootlegger is becoming a greater political power and has more influence than the old-time saloon keeper, as evidenced by the fact that he is able to reach many of our higher officials. He generally a much lower type of citizen. He has a frightful corrupting influence upon our social, moral and political life.

"In view of the fact that this administration and the previous administrations have apparently been helpless in stamping out the evil I am reluctantly forced to the opinion that national prohibition is a failure and that each State should be left to regulate the liquor traffic as a majority of its citizens deem advisable."

SENATOR JONES WILLING TO ACCEPT REFERENDUM

LONGVIEW (Wash.) Sept. 12. (AP) Senator Wesley L. Jones, sponsor of the stringent "5 and 10" law against prohibition violators, said today he would feel justified in voting for submission to the people for direct action of a Congressional proposal for modification or repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment if such a request were made by the people of his State.

He reaffirmed his faith in the dry cause by adding "I would do everything I could to induce the people of reject" a change in the law.

The statement was made in a letter to John Rea, Tacoma, a contributing editor to the Longview News. Rea had asked Senator Jones to declare his position in view of the recent defeat of Congressman John F. Miller, a dry, in the primaries by Ralph A. Horr, outspoken wet.

Senator Jones pointed out a change in the national prohibition law could be brought about in two ways, either by modification or repeal in the same way it was adopted or by a national convention "pursuant to the terms of the Constitution," to revise it.

LARGER APPROPRIATION SOUGHT BY WOODCOCK

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. (AP)—An increase of $2,200,000 in the appropriation for the Prohibition Bureau was asked today by Director Woodcock at a hearing before the Budget Bureau.

The prohibition director asked the additional funds principally for use of 500 additional agents. He now has 1475 agents.

Asked if he could "dry up" the nation with the increased staff, Mr. Woodcock replied, "I don't know."

Surveyor's Camp at New Boulder City Site

LAS VEGAS (Nev.) Sept. 12. (Exclusive)—When visitors arrive here next week to attend ceremonies signalizing the official opening of construction of Boulder Dam they will find the beginnings of the new model city that is to arise near the dam site already laid out.

The crew of government surveyors has established a camp at the site of the new city, as yet unnamed. It is approximately six miles from the site of the dam proper, and will be connected with it by a cogwheel railway winding down a precipitous trail.

The new town will be the terminus of a standard railway line to be built by the Union Pacific from Las Vegas.

The site was chosen in preference to one three miles closer to the dam site because temperature records showed it to be at least thirteen degrees cooler.

SOUTHLAND'S MYNA BIRDS STIR ALARM

State Commerce Chamber Gets Report of Colony of Pests Near Los Angeles

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12. (Exclusive)—Discovery of a small colony of Asiatic myna birds in Southern California was the object of serious consideration at a meeting of the State Chamber of Commerce here today, as it is the first known instance in which the birds have been seen at large on the American continent. If allowed to multiply they will become a distinct menace to the grape and cherry industries.

The mynah, a member of the starling family, is described as being slightly larger than the blackbird, with a yellow beak and brown feathers. Heretofore, it was said by R. N. Wilson, chairman of the committee that reported on the birds, the only instances of their presence in the United States have been as caged pets. Steps have been taken to regulate their importation as such, he said, and measures have been taken to stamp them out in the small colony found near Los Angeles.

The meeting heard also that safeguards against the Mediterranean fruit fly are working satisfactorily and its depredations are being effectively checked in Florida.

Plans for improving traffic conditions throughout the State, for improvements of highways, protection of industrial water, assistance of farm laborers and protection of live stock also were discussed.

Brucker's Lead Cut in Michigan

DETROIT, Sept. 12. (AP)—The lead of Wilber M. Brucker over Alex J. Groesbeck in Tuesday's gubernatorial primary was cut to less than 3500 today with the discovery of an error in the unofficial tabulation of the Oakland county vote.

The Oakland county error amounted to 1000 votes. Brucker's vote in the county on the corrected return was 13,336 instead of 14,336. This change gave the county to Groesbeck by 1000 votes.

Along came Beruchman and climbed into the saddle. He took a short ride, mostly up and down, and Officer Rose found him lying on the pavement with Hal standing over him. At the Receiving Hospital physicians said Beruchman probably will recover.

GIRL VICTIM OF TORTURE WITH FIRE

Her Body Mass of Burns; Unable to Talk Coherently as Result of Ordeal

BEAUMONT (Tex.) Sept. 12. (AP) A pretty 21-year-old girl is in a semiconscious condition at her home here tonight after having been tortured with fire.

Early this morning police found Miss Edith Boseman in a hotel room suffering from burns on nearly every part of her body. Even her lips were seared, and she had been struck several blows in the face. She is unable to talk coherently.

Theories are advanced that she had been lured to the room, forcibly detained and deliberately and repeatedly burned with lighted cigarettes and cigars or a cigarette lighter.

The young woman left her home to attend a film show last night with a man whom she had known only a few hours and who is described as about 24 years of age.

Hotel officials say the girl arrived at the hotel with a registered guest and some hours later, when they heard strange noises from the guest's room, they summoned police.

ILLICIT LOVE DEATH VICTIMS IDENTIFIED

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12. (Exclusive)—With identification of the victims, police today established to their satisfaction that Russell L. Cole of Denver, shot and killed the woman living with him as his wife in a Hyde-street apartment-house yesterday and then killed himself because of fear the woman was about to desert him. Friends of the couple supplied the jealousy motive. The girl was identified as the daughter of Mrs. Harriet Leigh of Lincoln, Neb.

KEARNS HAS TO PAY WIFE DURING SUIT

Chicago Court Orders Him to Give $500 Per Month Alimony Pending Trial

CHICAGO, Sept. 12. (AP) — Jack Kearns, one-time manager of Jack Dempsey, was ordered to pay $500 a month temporary alimony and $1000 in temporary attorney's fees after counsel for Mrs. Kearns had filed a cross-bill for separate maintenance in Circuit Court today.

Charging cruelty, the cross-bill asked the court to set aside a separation agreement made in New York in March, 1924. Kearns sought an annulment in February, 1929, contending he was not legally married and that he had been coerced into signing the separation agreement, which provides for a monthly payment of $500 to Mrs. Kearns.

In her cross-bill, Mrs. Kearns declared she and the promoter were married in New York September 20, 1920, and that a few months later, Kearns began to accuse her. She asserted Kearns paid her $500 a month for her maintenance until late in 1929, when the payments suddenly stopped. He now is $4500 in arrears in payments, her bill asserted.

Judge Brothers set the 19th inst. as the date for hearing a motion to vacate the order which he issued today. Mrs. Kearns is in New York, her counsel said. She previously obtained a judgment for $2000 in a similar action in Los Angeles.

Young Minister Captures Auto Thieves in Chase

BOISE (Idaho) Sept. 12. (AP)—Rev. H. M. Waldron, young Christian Church minister of Gooding, has stopped the theft of automobiles of his flock.

Leaving the evening services a few minutes early, Rev. Mr. Waldron, barely a year out of college, saw four men climb into an automobile and dash away. Leaping into his own car, he swung around a block in the opposite direction and headed them off. The driver of the fugitive machine began backing away disregarding demands of the minister, who leaped upon the running board and dealt the driver such a blow on the jaw he collapsed in the seat.

He then escorted them to the Sheriff's office.

Duce Expected to Visit Pope

VATICAN CITY, Sept. 12. (AP)—Premier Mussolini is expected in official circles to make his long-awaited visit to the Pope as soon as a law establishing February 11, date of signing of the Lateran Treaty, as a public holiday goes into effect.

The statute will abolish the September 20 holiday marking the date when Victor Emanuel II seized the temporal power of the popes.

SLAIN SAILOR'S BODY FOUND LYING IN DITCH

HOUSTON (Tex.) Sept. 12. (AP)—Shot through the chest and beaten over the head, the body of H. H. Myhrs, a seaman said to have lived "on the west coast," was found in a ditch near here today. Clinton Kinney of New Orleans, a sailor, was charged with murder in connection with the slaying, although he said he and Myhrs were held up and Myhrs was killed by highwaymen.

"JAKE" DRAWS COLOR LINE

Ginger Compound Affects Only Whites, it Seems; Negroes and Colored Chickens Immune

CINCINNATI, Sept. 12. (AP)—A new freak of the Jamaica ginger compound known as "ginger jake," a mysterious color affinity that affects chickens and men alike, has turned up in research at the University of Cincinnati. In the medical department the ingredients of this liquor, which caused about 300 cases of paralysis about Cincinnati a few months ago, are under searching analysis.

It was noted at the time of this Cincinnati outbreak that nearly all the victims were whites, Negroes constituting less than 3 per cent. At the same time reports brought to the university, when analysis of samples of the liquor was undertaken, stated much of the drink had been sold in Negro districts.

F. J. Andress, who is conducting the research, tried samples of the drink on monkeys, rabbits and white rats, but all these animals were immune to paralysis. Then he tried it on chickens, the bird family having a well-known susceptibility to poison.

He gave it to white chickens and every one developed either paralysis or symptoms of paralysis.

But when he gave it to black chickens not one of them showed a symptom of paralysis.

Scientists who attended the chemical meetings here this week made a guess that the paralysis "is a function of pigmentation" meaning that the coloring matter in pigment of the complexion may in some manner combine with something in the drink to give the whites a special poison.

Mr. Andress says the experiments are too incomplete to throw any light on these guesses.

ECONOMIC WAR CLOUDS DARKER

League of Nations Admits Defeat of Hopes

European Powers Further from Co-operation

Speech of Briton Today May Throw Some Light

GENEVA, Sept. 12. (AP)—The League of Nations Assembly reviewed its past year's work today and found the movement for co-operation in the economic field launched twelve months ago, has many defects to mourn and no great victories to celebrate.

Spokesmen for various countries following each other before the international gathering of statesmen are agreed Europe now is in a state bordering on economic anarchy and some joint remedial effort is a vital need for world peace and prosperity.

FAILURE CONFESSED

The Assembly was told by its own leaders that attempts at a tariff truce have failed; that customs barriers, instead of crumbling, actually have grown more formidable in several states, and that continuation of the growth of its protectionist spirit is threatening to drive the few remaining free-trading nations into adopting that high tariff policy which all loudly deplored.

Beelaerts Van Blokeland of Holland, Peter Munch, Foreign Minister of Denmark; Premier Hertzog of South Africa, Foreign Minister Schober of Austria, and Paul Hyams, Belgium's Minister of Foreign Affairs, raised their voices in a composite demand that "short-sighted nationalist policies" in the economic field be abandoned for some form of concerted international action.

AT SEA ON CURE

While agreed as to the diagnosis, the speakers were not so much in accord as to what this form should be. All insisted concerted movement should take place within the bosom of the League. But a clear-cut program of operations is lacking.

Perhaps the plan of the Austrian leader was as well defined as any. Despairing of attaining co-operation even on the limited European basis, Premier Schober reverted again to the possibility of regional economic treaties by small groups of states holding common interests. This he called "the organic and synthetic method" of economic collaboration.

"I consider no political character should be ascribed to these efforts and the formation of such groups should be determined solely by the imperative needs of European economy," said the venerable Austrian Chancellor.

WAIT ON GRAHAM

After hearing confessions of failure and demands for remedial action, the Assembly awaited with interest the declaration tomorrow by the man who started this drive for concerted economic action—William Graham, president of the British Board of Trade. Graham, Mr. Henderson has promised, will have something to say of importance regarding the political economic situation.

While speakers recognized the existence of a grave economic crisis, especially in Europe, a number of them echoed Mr. Henderson's words of yesterday in urging closer application of the League's original and primary purpose, namely, a scheme of general disarmament. The value of the London Naval Conference was noted but this is said to have realized only partially those fair hopes which flourished a year ago.

LAST ALIEN TROOPS TO EVACUATE SAAR

GENEVA, Sept. 12. (AP)—The League of Nations Council today decided the last remaining defense force of French and Belgian troops should be withdrawn from the Saar district within the next three months.

The action was taken on recommendation of Senator Scialoja of Italy, head of the Italian delegation since the departure of Foreign Minister Grandi. Scialoja conferred with Foreign Ministers Briand of France and Curtis of Germany regarding the problem.

The council also voted in increase the number of World Court judges from 11 to 15, to increase the salaries of the judges and to allow pensions to the personnel of the court after January next.

The Assembly was exhorted to press forward the disarmament program through its preparatory commission and lay a sound basis for the general conference next year.

RUSSIA INVITED

The council today extended an invitation to soviet Russia to take part in the contemplated conference on drugs and narcotics. Russia was not among those originally invited, a fact which had aroused strong protests from the antinarcotic workers at Geneva. The conference will be held October 27.

The first American citizen ever to address the League Council in person stepped before that body today and before the delegates realized what was happening had said his few words and left the room. He was Charles B. Eddy of New York, chairman of the League's Greek refugee committee.

He thanked the Council and the Greek government for their support of his committee, whose work now is nearing completion. The incident caused considerable discussion.

HONEYMOONS WHILE WAITING SUIT TRIAL

Mary Louise Spas

BROWNING'S FORMER PET NOW BRIDE

'Daddy's' Foster Daughter Weds Dentist and Affair Arouses Two Camps

NEW YORK, Sept. 12. (Exclusive) Mary Louise Spas, once the adopted, curly haired Bohemian pet of Edward West (Daddy) Browning, put on the veil and orange blossoms in Troy, N. Y., and became the blushing bride yesterday of Dr. Henry Tvrdy, an Astoria dentist.

The news caused a distinct shock in at least two quarters, the home of the bridegroom's mother, and the home of Mary's erstwhile boy friend, Frank Vanyek, handsome, crippled 26-year-old lamp-shade designer.

Mrs. Joseph Tvrdy of Manhattan, Mary's mother-in-law, was not told until today that her eldest son had married Mary, and still is unconvinced.

"If he has married that girl he must be crazy," she said. "He can't be in his right mind."

Mary gave her occupation as a stenographer and her age as 24.

The newlyweds will return from their honeymoon just in time for the trial of Mary's long-delayed $500,000 suit against Browning which is scheduled for early in October. Her suit is based on his treatment of her after she was hired as a companion to his adopted daughter, Dorothy Sunshine Browning and later, in 1925, became his second adopted daughter.

political accord on the Mediterranean and North African questions.

The status of Italian subjects in Tunis and Italy's desire for more territory in North Africa to compensate for promises given her when she entered the World War on the side of the Allies are among the most important of all the political questions to be solved.

The French have contended that the Italian subjects in Tunis should eventually be naturalized, while Italy wants them and their children and their children's children to remain Italians. The territorial question, it is asserted, will be easier of adjustment. France is said to be willing to make a good many concessions in return for a treaty of mutual guaranty and security in the Mediterranean.

NAVAL HOLIDAY

In French opinion once these political questions are out of the way solution of the naval parity problem will be comparatively simple, and based on the fact that the Mediterranean then would be out of naval politics. On the other hand, with the final meeting of the preparatory disarmament commission set for November, some provisional settlement must be reached if the League's world disarmament conference is to be called for next year.

It is here that a proposal for a naval holiday enters in. Both countries, spurred perhaps by British Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson's bold demand for action, hope results will be obtained shortly, but if full agreement cannot be reached it has been suggested to both France and Italy that a long naval holiday, based on the status quo with perhaps necessary replacements provided for, would be a compromise solution.

It is understood this proposal has received serious attention.

INDIGENTS' AID ISSUE CLEARED

Supervisors Can Take Over Property of Charges

Insurance Policies Held to be Needless Expense

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12. (AP)—What to do about the indigent needy who apply for aid under the State old-age pension law, when the needy have property of their own has disturbed members of the State welfare department.

An opinion clarifying portions of the State Pension Act was rendered by Atty.-Gen. Webb today in response to a request by Mrs. Anna L. Saylor, director of the department.

Three general rules were laid down by Webb in interpreting the law, substantially as follows:

(1.) The Department of Social Welfare is without power to force aged indigents to transfer property as a condition of receiving State aid, as this power is held by the boards of supervisors. If the various boards do not ask reimbursement for aid extended to such applicants as have some property, the State is powerless to act.

COULSE POINTED OUT

(2.) The State is without power to compel applicants for aid to borrow money on property owned by them, if the property is valued at less than $3000. The Supervisors, however, might compel transfer of all or any part of such property to the county, before granting aid.

(3.) In view of the fact that the State and county care for aged indigents, the Attorney-General's office sees no reason why indigents accepting aid should keep up insurance policies. Webb suggested boards of supervisors compel adjustments of policies whenever possessed by indigents seeking aid. When such persons own paid-up policies, Supervisors would be justified in denying aid until such policies are assigned to the county in which the applicants reside, he added.

CONCLUSION VOICED

In conclusion, the Attorney-General said, the county boards may insist on receiving title to all or any part of an applicant's property to make up for aid advanced. He said he sees no reason why county authorities should not insist on transfer of all property prior to granting aid.

County authorities should have the power to sell, lease or transfer any property obtained in this manner until such time as aid is discontinued, he continued. In the event of death by a person receiving such aid, property in excess of the amount spent would be considered a part of the estate of the deceased, for administration to the heirs.

Grape-Control Board Favors Shipment Cuts

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12. (Exclusive)—Fifty per cent reduction in the volume of juice-grape shipments from California, effective throughout next week and a 25 per cent reduction in the quantity of table-grape shipments for the same period, were recommended today by the clearing-house committee of the California Grape Control Board, which is directing the movement of the 1930 crop.

The proposed curtailment, it was explained, is for the purpose of stabilizing conditions in the eastern markets and is based upon advices from eastern agents that such action is necessary.

He also produced fifteenth-century documents about the forebears of the adventurer, Giacomo Casanova, whom he connected with Columbus and the corsair, or free-booter, Casanova-Couillon.

Government Agencies Report Skies Brightening

Increase in Carloadings of Much Hopeful Sign

Mid-August Improvement Marked as Notable

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. (Exclusive)—Two government agencies today definitely pointed to signs of improved trend in business.

The United States Employment Service of the Department of Labor in its monthly review said that while there was little change in the volume of employment in August as compared with July, there were indications during the latter part of the month of improved conditions during the next thirty or sixty days.

The Department of Commerce in its weekly review of domestic business conditions noted a slight increase in activity in the week ended September 6 as compared with the previous week.

OFFICIALS CAUTIOUS

But the reports reflected the general disposition of government officials to refrain from over-optimism. The data presented appeared to confirm their belief that the worst of the depression was over in July and the early part of August and that a slow but steady upward climb may be expected from now on.

Moreover, government experts have been impressed with considerable satisfaction by the American Railway Association's report of carloadings during the week, which showed a gain of considerably in excess of any previous month this year although below August, 1929.

OUTLOOK BRIGHTER

There was little change in the number of employment maintained during August, as compared with that which obtained in July," reports I. Jones, director-general of the United States Employment Service, in summing up developments from all the States. "The outlook developed toward the close of the month in response to the industrial employment needs of the country for the next sixty to sixty days.

"Activities continued on a curtailed basis in the automobile and allied industries, but there was a upward tendency apparent at the close of the month in the branches of the iron-and-steel industry.

"Public works provide employment for thousands of skilled and unskilled laborers in practically every section of the Union. Building construction also average usually higher this period of the year."

BUILDING RELIEF

"Federal, State and municipal improvements, including construction and telephone construction and maintenance work, provided employment for a great many skilled, semi-skilled and unskilled laborers."

The Department of Commerce in its weekly review said that "business activity during the week ended September 6, as measured by bank debits in New York City, registered a slight increase over the previous week but declined from the corresponding period of a year ago." Business failures during the week were reported to be less numerous than in the previous week.

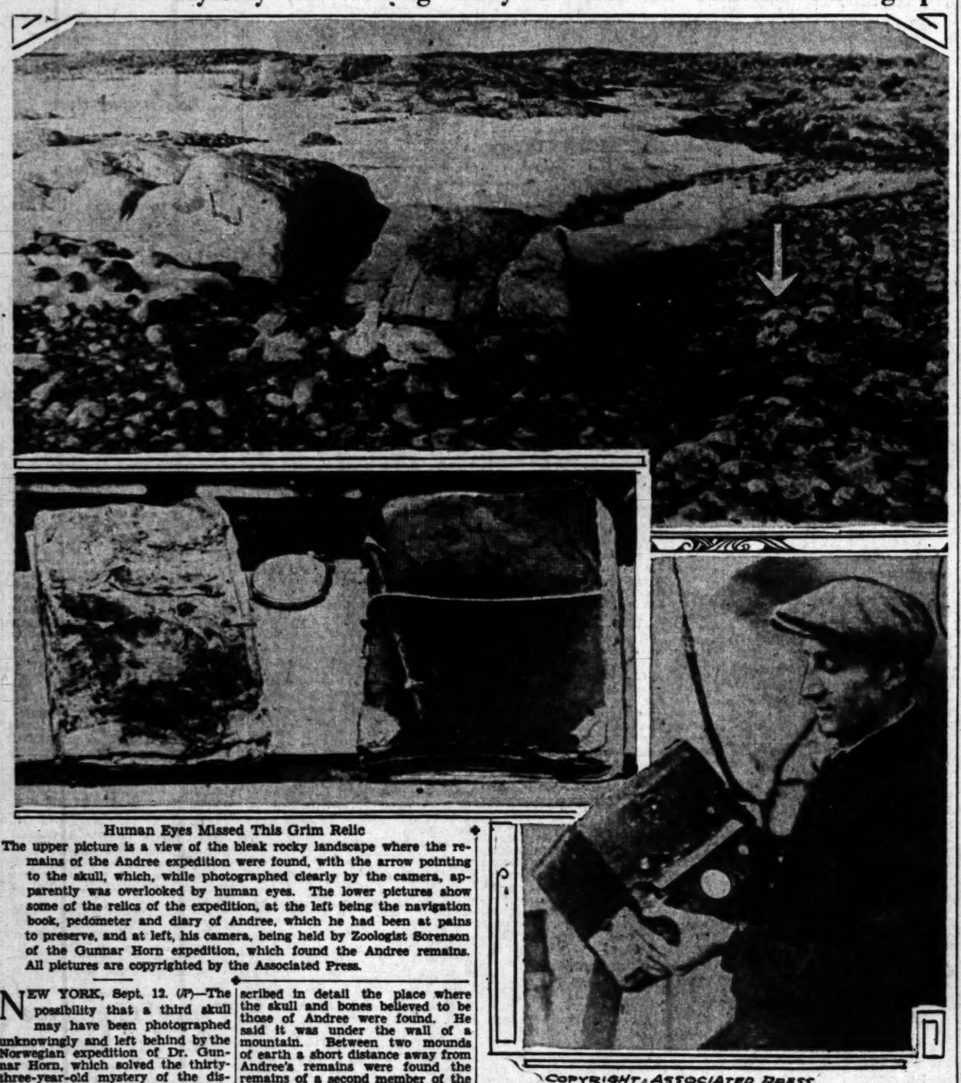
CAMERA DETECTS UNSEEN SKULL NEAR ANDREE CAMP

Solution to Mystery of Missing Body Hinted in Unusual Photograph



Human Eyes Missed This Grim Relic

The upper picture is a view of the bleak rocky landscape where the remains of the Andree expedition were found, with the arrow pointing to the skull, which, while photographed clearly by the camera, apparently was overlooked by human eyes. The lower pictures show some of the relics of the expedition, at the left being the navigation book, pedometer and diary of Andree, which he had been at pains to preserve, and at left, his camera, being held by Zoologist Sorenson of the Gunnar Horn expedition, which found the Andree remains. All pictures are copyrighted by the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12. (AP)—The possibility that a third skull may have been photographed unknowingly and left behind by the Norwegian expedition of Dr. Gunnar Horn, which solved the thirty-three-year-old mystery of the disappearance of the Swedish balloonist, Dr. Salomon August Andree, developed here today.

When a photograph of the landing place of the expedition was enlarged by the Associated Press a well-preserved skull was found resting among the rocks on the desolate terrain of White Island. Cables to Oslo and London developed the fact that no one there had noticed the object, which blended into the picture so completely.

LEADERS IN DARK

As far as can be ascertained the expedition leaders were in ignorance of the relic shown in the picture of the landing place and it may be that this is the one located by the expedition aboard the whaler Isbjoern last Sunday.

This expedition, which set out to search for the returning Horn party aboard the Bratvaag, proceeded to White Island after it had missed the Norwegian scientist. Cables the 7th inst. told of the finding of additional relics of the balloon party, including a skull.

In Dr. Horn's own story he described in detail the place where the skull and bones believed to be those of Andree were found. He said it was under the wall of a mountain. Between two mounds of earth a short distance away from Andree's remains were found the remains of a second member of the party.

WASTE SPACE SHOWN

The picture in which the apparently overlooked skull is shown does not fit into either of these descriptions. It is a flat waste space at the edge of the ocean which was photographed only to show the difficult landing made by the expedition. The melting snows have left patches of earth and in the foreground, blended into the rounded knobs of rocks, is the grim relic of this long-lost expedition.

While is it not possible to ascertain if there are additional relics hidden among the rocks, it is pointed out that bears might easily have moved the skull at any previous period during the long silence which shrounded the expedition's fate.

Attempts are being made to get Dr. Horn to identify the picture and if he verifies the surmises it probably will clear up the fate of the missing member of the party, probably Knut Frankel. The two skeletons brought back by Dr. Horn were tentatively identified as those of Andree and Nils Strindberg.

BRITISH IN THREAT TO PRESIDENT

Grain Representatives Tell Hoover Dangers of American Tariff Curbs

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. (AP)—President Hoover was told today by representatives of the English grain business that unless the American market for British goods is left open through moderate tariffs the reciprocal market abroad will be endangered.

The delegation, representing the co-operative wholesale society of England, was presented to President Hoover by Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British Ambassador, and Herbert L. Bodman, president of the New York Produce Exchange. It included Robert Fleming and Joseph Bradshaw, directors of the society.

In recent years, the visitors told the President, "enormous political pressure" has been put upon English merchants to buy British Empire goods.

"This pressure," they added, "might possibly affect the purchasing of staples in this country unless a market for the British manufactured products is assured."

REVENUES FOR ROADS TO MOUNT

State Official Estimates Total of $62,259,000 for Next Biennial Period

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. (AP)—Describing a new form of speculation—traffic in radio licenses—the Radio Commission announced today that requests for broadcasting licenses are being carefully scrutinized.

The statement said "so many applications for change of ownership of stations have been filed recently it appears trafficking in radio licenses is a new form of speculation developing in this country."

The commission also cited "another apparent effort to take advantage of the commission" in the fact that "a few stations licensed to conduct charitable and altruistic work have been commercialized and now insist upon more time to take care of advertisers."

"It is likely the commision, in many cases, will find it advisable to cancel these licenses rather than to add to the overloaded channels," the statement said.

LOS ANGELES We Thank You

IT WARMED our hearts to have you attend our formal opening in such generous numbers yesterday. Your enthusiasm was ample compensation for the months of thought and labor that brought our new home into being. ¶ It brings us happiness that our contribution to the beauty and convenience of downtown Los Angeles was so well received, and it brings us greater happiness to know that we now have the facilities to serve the home makers of Southern California in a manner that befits their four decades of loyalty to our institution. ¶ We enter business in our new home with the full realization that our future success will be in direct ratio to the service we render. And we repeat that we regard our new home, with its finer facilities and tremendous stocks, not as the goal of past performance, but as a starting point on the road to new achievement, a road to which we hope never to find an ending. + + +

NEW DAY SEEN FOR ARGENTINA

Uriburu Nephew Forecasts Foreign Policy Change

Return to Co-operation with United States Expected

Relative of South American Leader Resident Here

Resumption of the historic foreign policy of the Argentine Republic, which had as one of its tenets friendly co-operation with the United States in the furtherance of Pan-American aims and aspirations, undoubtedly will be one of the fruits of the coup d'etat which turned President Yrigoyen out of office and installed Gen. Jose Felix Uriburu as provisional President, it was stated yesterday by Dr. Julio Zeigner-Uriburu, nephew of the new Argentine leader.

Dr. Uriburu, who is an international lawyer and educator with offices in this city, was himself a pioneer in the Pan-American movement, especially in Southern California, where he has spent the greater part of the twenty-six years since he first came to the United States. His close contact with American life during the past quarter-century and his relationship to the new leader have combined to foster a belief among Argentineans resident here that he may become the new government's Ambassador to this country.

APPOINTMENT PROSPECT

No statement concerning that report could be drawn from Dr. Uriburu yesterday, but he did say that the situation which has existed for almost two years, of no Argentinean Ambassador being in Washington, undoubtedly will be ended soon by the appointment of an envoy by the new government. As to the identity of the envoy, he said, no definite decision has been made as yet.

While his residence in this country kept him from having an active part in the coup d'etat, Dr. Uriburu has kept in close touch with conditions in his home country and he was well aware of what he termed the inevitability of his uncle's leading just such a movement as he did last week.

He asserted that the new regime is in no sense a military dictatorship and declared he is certain his uncle will fulfill his promise to hold an election for a regular President in the near future. He said the general considers himself merely an emergency leader.

OPPOSED TO REDS

Neither is the new regime in any sense a radical body, Dr. Uriburu said. In truth, he added, one of its prime objectives is the combatting of the Communist elements in the nation. Its support comes, he said, from the most responsible and conservative men in the nation.

Gen. Uriburu, his nephew pointed out with pride, became leader of the movement to oust Yrigoyen because of the respect and esteem in which he was held throughout the nation. The general's family long has been prominent in Argentina, and Jose Evaristo Uriburu, who was President during the 1890's, was an uncle of the present provisional President. Cousins of his are at present ambassadors at London and Brussels.

Gen. Uriburu is 62 years of age and until his retirement last May had spent all of his life since boyhood in the Argentine army. At 19 he was graduated as a second lieutenant from La Escuela Militar de Palermo, the Argentine West Point. Then he went to La Escuela Superior de Guerra, or war college, where he was graduated with the highest honors, and then was sent to Germany for four years to study military science and organization.

MILITARY RECORD

When he returned to Buenos Aires he was given command of the regiment known as Granaderos de San Matin, a cavalry organization which is the President's escort. His next promotion was to the directorship of the War College, which he reorganized and headed for about four years. Then he was made a brigadier-general and given the command of the First Division. This was during Yrigoyen's first administration. In 1920 he was promoted to major-general and kept in command of the First Division.

When Alvear became President he offered Gen. Uriburu the post of Secretary of War, but he refused, preferring to remain in the army. Alvear, however, made him inspector-general of the army and subsequently he became president of the War Council, which post he held when he applied for retirement last May. His request was granted but simultaneously he was promoted to lieutenant-general and allowed to retire as such.

YRIGOYEN HELD ABOARD VESSEL

Mystery Surrounding Status of Deposed President

Argentine Officials Silent on His Destination

New Government Soon will Reveal Steps Taken

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 12. (AP)—The status of Hipolito Yrigoyen, deposed President of the Argentine Republic, is as much a matter of speculation tonight as it has been in the six days since he was overthrown from the seat directing the destinies of this nation.

Two ministers of Gen. Jose Francisco Uriburu's provisional Cabinet told the Associated Press today the elderly former executive is still in Argentine waters aboard the cruiser Belgrano, on which he was placed yesterday, and he is under arrest. This was in answer to reports he would be landed in the neighboring nation of Uruguay soon or he would be transferred to a steamer bound for Europe.

Hence his destination or his ultimate fate appears a mystery.

Sanchez Sorondo, Minister of the Interior, disclosed that Yrigoyen is under arrest when asked about the reports concerning the transfer to Uruguay or to a steamer heading for Europe. He said the cruiser was about two hours' steaming from the port of La Plata and would remain there to await orders, but added the government soon will reveal what measures will be taken against the former President and other political prisoners.

Rear-Admiral Abel Renard, who as Minister of Marine controls the movements of the Belgrano, told the Associated Press tonight the former President still is aboard the cruiser, "subject to an order I have received from the Minister of the Interior."

POLICE LAUNCH CRATER SEARCH

Disappearance of New York Jurist Baffling

Theories Include Kidnaping, Murder and Romance

District Attorney Orders Grand Jury Quiz

NEW YORK, Sept. 12. (Exclusive) Is Supreme Court Justice Joseph F. Crater dead or alive?

Detectives are rattling the doors of lonely hunting lodges in the forests of the Adirondacks, searching the great hotels of half a dozen cities and probing into the secret spots of the underworld tonight in an effort to answer that question.

"I'm going up to Westchester for a swim—see you tomorrow," said Justice Crater almost five weeks ago to his confidential clerk, Joseph L. Mara.

Stepping into a taxicab "Joe" Crater, politician, jurist, family man and the "life of the party" along Broadway—a pleasure-loving fellow who knew everyone from the highest Washington circles to the night club dance floors, vanished into the traffic and left behind him a strange trail of fragmentary episodes.

CONFLICTING THEORIES

Stories persist that the jurist went on a joyous trek that led him through Manhattan's night clubs into the company of chorus girls, hostesses and on to a mountain fastness for a romantic interlude. Equally persistent stories insist the missing judge has been kidnaped, drowned, murdered by gangland foes he made in the courtroom.

Others believe he is merely "resting" or hiding from some one or something that still is unknown to the public.

There is every ingredient of the mystery thriller in Justice Crater's disappearance. Not since the almost legendary abduction of a judge whose name has been lost in crumbling newspapers files of 100 years ago has there been a similar case.

Coming at a time when the bench of New York was mired in scandal (although the scandal has not been traced to Crater) and the blues had turned to storm clouds, the disappearance took on a political tinge which soon changed to a sinister aspect with a hint of murder. Now the vanished jurist's connection with the whoopee crowd along Broadway has added the previously missing romance to make a plot that compares with any best-seller.

RECORD CLEAR

If Crater is dead—murdered—then the case must take its place with the famous crimes of a crime-filled era. If he has been kidnaped—abducted or is being held in any way against his will—then it still remains a first-class thriller. But if Justice Crater should walk into his home tonight he would have only to answer to his wife. There is no charge of any kind against him.

Police Commissioner Edward Mulrooney reports that every paper of public or confidential nature has been removed from Crater's files. Mulrooney believes Justice Crater is hiding and it is the police commissioner's men who are searching the banks of lakes in the Adirondacks, where the owner of a hunting lodge informed police that a man answering the missing judge's description had been on the night of August 30.

The police are looking for Justice Crater because Mrs. Stella Crater, his wife, asked them to find him. Mrs. Crater is fearful that her husband has been killed. She knows of no reason why he should have vanished. It was Simon H. Rifkind, attorney and intimate of Crater, who first reported the case to the police. Rifkind, too, believes his friend was murdered.

GRAND JURY QUIZ

Dist.-Atty. Crain announced today that on Monday he will begin a John Doe inquiry before the grand jury into the Crater case.

It is the investigation Chief Magistrate Corrigan declined to make after a conference with Mayor Walker and Police Commissioner Mulrooney because he found it not in his province. The grand jury, Mr. Crain announced, therefore, will sift the evidence.

Meanwhile the police have not forgotten the old French adage of "look for the woman." They say they have learned Justice Crater was the guest of honor at a party in a theatrical man's home late in July. It was there that he first met a number of girls from the chorus of "Artists and Models." The show has since moved on to Chicago and the girls that Justice Crater knew are all dancing there except Jane Manners, who has dropped out of sight and has not been seen in her accustomed Broadway haunts.

WOMEN QUESTIONED

Among those who have been questioned is Elaine Dawn, entertainer at a night club which Crater visited just before he disappeared. She was unable, she said, to throw any light on the mysterious case.

Still another woman is sought in Washington. She is reported to have been in the jurist's company when he went to the capital after a visit to Atlantic City some time before he vanished.

On the afternoon of August 6 when Justice Crater rode into obscurity, Mrs. Crater had not heard from him for two days and nights.

Justice Crater had $5150 in cash when he vanished. It was an unusually large sum for him to draw, his bankers said.

It was reported today that the justice had $75,000 in securities in his safety deposit box, as well as a $40,000 credit with a downtown broker, which, if true, indicates he did not take all his possessions with him when he disappeared.

The date of the founding of Stobi is unknown, but Livy mentions it as being captured by Philip V of Macedon in 197 B.C.

Flood of Liquor Going in Sewer

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Sept. 12. (AP)—Vancouver customs men started a job this week that will keep them busy for the next three months. Six thousand cases of Scotch whisky seized three months ago when export houses were abolished are being poured into the sewer from the King's bonded warehouse on Richards street, bottle after bottle, at the rate of sixty cases each day.

Owing to the lack of circulation in the chamber of destruction, the fumes of the liquor nearly overcome the customs men by the time sixty cases are disposed of, hence the decision that sixty cases is a day's work.

ARMOUR FACES SARAZEN TODAY

'Pro' Championship Reaches Finals at Fresh Meadows

Tommy Eliminates Lacey in Tough Match, 1 Up

Gene Vanquishes Kirkwood by Score of 5 and 4

FLUSHING (N. Y.) Sept. 12. (AP) Gene Sarazen and Tommy Armour, two seasoned golf professionals who oddly enough never have met in match play competition, will go out tomorrow to decide possession of the Professional Golfers' Association championship.

TOMMY ARMOUR

From a field of sixty-three crack pros starting the championship play Monday only the stocky, dark American of Italian parentage and the prematurely gray Scott are left.

Sarazen advanced to the final round by defeating Joe Kirkwood, who thrills golf galleries by sensational trick shots. His winning margin being 5 up and 4 to play. Armour had a sterner struggle in winning his chance at the championship. He had to go the full thirty-six holes to eliminate Charley Lacey, young British pro of the Pine Valley Club, Clementon, N. J., 1 up.

The Scot's putting failed him at the last minute and his young opponent took a new lease on life when he seemed to be definitely out of it. Tommy sunk up three putts at the thirty-fourth and three more at the thirty-fifth and Lacey was only 1 down with 1 to play when Armour had been within a short putt of winning 3 and 2.

Sarazen played better than par golf all day and although Kirkwood struggled gamely through the first twenty-two to keep the match level, he slumped at the close.

Sarazen has twice won the P.G.A. championship, first in 1922 when he was also open champion, and again in 1923. Armour won the open championship in 1927 and now holds the Canadian open title.

Armour and Lacey were even at nine holes and although Lacey was up only once, when he won the thirteenth hole with a birdie 3, he kept in striking distance, by coming back every time he was in danger of being wiped out. Armour had a two-hole advantage at the luncheon intermission and increased it to four at the first two holes in the afternoon.

Lacey then recovered some of the lost ground with birdies at the third and fifth holes, and was still 2 down at the three-quarter marker. He drew within a hole of his opponent by winning the twenty-eighth when Armour was stymied, but knocked Tommy's ball in for a birdie 3 at the twenty-ninth when he was the stymie victim.

The British youngster won the thirty-first and seemed about to stage a real comeback but the Scot holed a birdie 2 at the 202-yard thirty-second. Lacey wasted two shots in a trap at the thirty-third and when Armour had a four-foot putt for a half in fives at the

Jess Hill to be Honored at Park Tonight

Tonight is Jess Hill night at Wrigley Field. The former Trojan track, football and baseball hero, who is now helping keep Uncle Bill Lane's Hollywood Stars on top of the second-half Coast pennant race, is to be honored by a gathering of Riverside ball fans, who are journeying here to see the former Corona High School star, and new Riverside J. C. coach, in action.

Hill recently announced that he would quit the Stars tomorrow to keep his contract as football coach at the Riverside Junior College. McGrath and Olsen, clothiers in that city, promptly organized a large party of fans, to give the home-town boy a hand in his final night game for the Stars. Jess Mortensen, another ex-Trojan athlete, who will coach with Hill, and most of the J.C. athletes are included in the party.

Santa Monica Giant Beats the "Old Master"

First American to Defeat Bill Since 1919

Frank Shields Turns Back Sidney Wood

BY TED VOSBURGH
Associated Press Sports Writer

FOREST HILLS (N. Y.) Sept. 12. (AP)—Young America caught up with Big Bill Tilden at last this afternoon. The 38-year-old champion went down to a surprising defeat at the hands of a young California giant, sixteen years his junior, Johnny Doeg, in a match that had 10,000 fans on the edge of the seats for two solid hours.

BILL TILDEN

By scores of 10-8, 6-3, 3-6, 12-10, the powerful Doeg turned back the still mighty Tilden in the semifinal round of the national tennis singles championship, and tomorrow he will clash with a 19-year-old rival from the East.

Big strapping Frank Shields of New York playing wonderful tennis downed a fellow - New Yorker, Sidney Wood, in the first of the semifinals, 6-2, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3, and Doeg's remarkable victory gave this classic tournament two of the youngest finalists in its forty-nine-year history.

TILDEN CHEERED

Even though beaten, the one and only Tilden brought thunderous applause from the packed stands as he battled with never-failing courage against a younger man, who was playing the tennis of his life.

When sorely pressed Big Bill again and again pulled seemingly miraculous drives and aces out of his bag of tricks, but they did not stump Doeg as they did a year ago, when he bowed to the master in five hard sets in the semifinals of this same tournament.

Doeg today fired right back with placements and acing drives of his own, outdoing Tilden in power of service and lungin, in to kill the champion's returns with whizzing volleys.

Tilden's right leg, which has bothered him in many a previous match, had him limping throughout most of the last three sets. The leg appeared to give him great pain, but Big Bill threw caution to the winds to race about the court, leg or no leg, in quest of Doeg's searching volleys and soft, deceptive chop strokes.

Not since Little Bill Johnston downed him in the final round in 1919, had Big Bill lost to an American in the United States championships. Only the great Frenchmen Henri Cochet and Rene La Coste, had accomplished the feat before.

Tilden, over that period, compiled his total of seven championships with a string of six between 1920 and 1925, and another title last year when he won his way through a field of younger rivals in the absence of the French stars, who had captured the championship for the three previous years.

This year Tilden started in

Ray Jacobs Shines at Bat for Wrigley Squad

BY BOB RAY

The southpaw wiles of Carroll Yerkes, combined with some timely hitting by Ray Jacobs, gave Lelivelt's Angels a 5-3 victory over the Hollywood Stars in last night's Wrigley Field thriller.

RAY JACOBS

A crowd of 12,847 fans, 8273 of whom were women, saw Yerkes and Jacobs end the Stars' winning streak of three in a row, after an exciting mound duel that found Vance Page, youthful Hollywood right-hander, on the losing end.

Although the Angels won last night, the Stars have a three-two lead in the series, and are still seven and one-half games ahead of the Lelivelitans.

Page pitched good ball for the Stars, but was touched for a run in the second, two more in the sixth, and then the winning pair in the eighth. Yerkes held the Sheiks to five hits, but two of them came in the seventh, after he had yielded his lone walk of the game, and produced all three Hollywood runs, and temporarily tied the score. Hank Severeid's home run with two men on and two out was the big punch of the Hollywood seventh, but that was the only round in which the Stars could even come close to scoring off the Cherub portsider. Yerkes fanned nine Stars, with Jess Hill being favorite victim. Hill struck out three times.

ANGELS TAKE LEAD

The Angels took the lead with a run off Page in the second. A walk to Jacobs was turned into the tally, when he took second on Statz's infield out and scored on Hannah's single to left.

The Stars never got a man to second until the sixth, when Mike Gazella singled and Page sacrificed him along. Yerkes, however, ended the Sheiks' hopes of scoring by fanning Hill and Lee, to leave Gazella stranded on the middle cushion.

The Seraphs stepped out and picked up two more runs in the home half of the sixth, during which they nicked Page for four hits, and were going strong when a double play halted their activities. Harper began the round with a double to right for his third hit of the game. Haney bounced one over Gazella's head that Lee made a sensational stop of with his bare hand to hold it to an infield hit, and keep Harper from advancing past third. Haney promptly stole second, but Schulmerich popped to Gazella. After having two strikes called on him, Jacobs lined a single to center to drive both Harper and Haney over the plate. Statz also singled, but Dittmar hit to Gazella, who stepped on third base, and then threw to Heath for a snappy double killing. Mike's throw to first was low, but Heath scooped it out of the dirt.

YERKES'S STUFF SOLVED

Skipper Vitt's hired help finally solved Yerkes's offerings successfully enough to break into the run column in the seventh, when they tied the score on Hank Severeid's homer that scored two men ahead of him. Yerkes issued his first walk to open the seventh, Brannan drawing the pass. Barbee followed with a single to left. Green fouled to Haney, and Heath was thrown out by Sigafoos, the runners advancing to second and third. With the count three and one on him, Severeid lined one of Yerkes's fast-ball offerings for the circuit, the ball striking on top of the left-field wall and then bounding out in home-run territory.

After two were out in the eighth

ROMAN MYSTERY DEEPENS

Identity and Eligibility of Mexican Quarterback Now Here May be Established Today

BY BRAVEN DYER

The Mexican mystery melodrama entitled "Who is Eddie Roman" has progressed to the second act with the climax likely to pop some time today. And whatever the third act may reveal there are going to be enough laughs to go around.

To get back to the prologue—on the 4th inst. Eddie Roman arrived at Occidental College, claiming to be the star quarterback of the University of Mexico team which plays Oxy in the Coliseum on the night of the 20th inst. Phil Ellsworth, Oxy graduate manager, thought it rather strange that a student should be away from his university for three weeks prior to a football game. Roman, however, had several explanations to offer. One was that he had injured himself and needed expert medical attention, plus a long visit. The other was that he arrived here early in order to surprise his mother, whom he had not seen for many years.

EDDIE ROMAN

AT ALEXANDRIA

At any rate Roman was finally accepted and installed at the Alexandria Hotel. Last Monday he gave out information that three additional members of the Mexican team would arrive on Tuesday. When they didn't show up Roman declared he had received a wire from Coach Root of the Mexican eleven, stating that he (Root) had changed his mind and would keep his team in Mexico until just before the Occidental game.

Two days ago Ellsworth received a wire from Roberto Noriega, Mexican football man-

McDONALD WINS NOD OVER HESS

HECTOR McDONALD

Hess put on his unusual windmill finish in the last two rounds, but failed to catch Referee Lieut. Duke Kenworthy's eye, who undoubtedly was influenced by the cleaner punching of the newcomer.

Hess forced the fighting all the way, McDonald speeding backward most of the time. The fans booed the decision lustily.

Don Buchard, blood lightweight, was awarded a six-round decision over Vincinclo Alacanta in the semi-wind-up. After an even first round, Buchard took the next three sessions. Alacanta had a big edge in the fifth and also took the sixth. In the fifth Buchard rolled to the floor but was right up again. Both battlers were guilty of holding throughout the affair.

Jimm, Mack and Sergio Redam battled to a draw in the six-round special event. The first and sixth round were even with Redam winning the second and third, while Mack copped the fourth and fifth. Frank Holborow's decision was met with approval by the crowd.

Jim Flores took the nod over Ad Cadena in one of the preliminaries, while Julie Zuniga beat Jimmy Martinez in the curtain-raiser. Cadena, who at one time was considered quite a promising prospect, has slipped way down the fistic ladder.

HAUSER SETS WORLD'S HOME-RUN MARK OF 61

BALTIMORE, Sept. 12. (AP)—Joe Hauser, Baltimore Orioles' first baseman, who last night in a game with Newark in the International League hit his sixty-first homer and broke the record set in 1927 by Babe Ruth, is to be formally crowned home-run king Sunday. Hauser will be presented with a gift at the ball park by friends.

Hauser formerly was with the Athletics.

GUERRERO, GAINES MEET

Joe Guerrero, Mexican lightweight champion, will be in great shape when he meets Homer Gaines in the eight-round main event at the reopening of the Pico Athletic Club Wednesday night. After a layoff of seven months Guerrero had a tough tune up bout when he boxed Johnny Chrismas at the Main Street.

CALIFORNIA RIFLEMEN LEAD NATIONAL SHOOT

The United States Navy followed the Marines for second place with 1888 points; the United States Infantry was third with 1877, and the United States Cavalry fourth with 1875.

Lipton Presents Last Bid for Famous Trophy

British-American Classic is Again Renewed

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

NEWPORT (R. I.) Sept. 12. (AP)—Shamrock V and Enterprise, the House of Lipton and the House of Vanderbilt, British seafaring skill and American nautical ingenuity, emerald-hued sentiment and white-hulled efficiency, these comprise the apparent ingredients of the naval classic of the year—the sailing race for America's Cup, most prized of the world's yachting trophies, in the series starting tomorrow nine miles southeast of Brenton Reef Lightship.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON

Sticking closely to the facts, it's a race between Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock V, flying the burgee of the Royal Ulster Yacht Club of Belfast, Ireland, and the Vanderbilt-Aldrich Syndicate's Enterprise, chosen representative of the sup-holding New York Yacht Club, whose roster of members reads like substantial portion of Who's Who in America.

SIR TOM'S LAST BID

Actually, and from the viewpoint of the popular interest manifested, the race represents probably the last bid of the gallant old Irish baronet, a prince among sportsmen, to lift the "Old Mug" he has sought in vain since Shamrock I went down to defeat before the fast-flying Columbia in 1899.

This is the fourteenth renewal of the British-American yachting rivalry that sprang from the victory of the schooner America around the Isle of Wight in 1851; the fifth successive British challenge sponsored by the 70-year-old tea, merchant and former Glasgow grocery storekeeper who has spent millions in one of the most spectacular sporting quests of all time.

Tiger Victory Puts New York Team Out of Chase

Boston Braves Rally to Win Over Pittsburgh

DETROIT, Sept. 13. (AP)—A double by Charley Gehringer, his third hit of the game, and a single by Dale Alexander with two out in the ninth gave the Tigers a run today that beat the New York Yankees, 5 to 4. The defeat cost the Yankees their last chance to take the American League pennant. The best they can do is to finish a half-game behind the Philadelphia Athletics, who were idle today.

For eight innings the game was a pitching duel between Wyatt and Sherid in which both received poor support. In the ninth Wyatt injured his arm while pitching to Ruth and left the game with the bases filled and one out. Hoyt replaced him and retired the side without a run and got official credit for the victory. Wyatt struck out nine men.

Babe Ruth kept pace in his home-run race with Hack Wilson by hitting his forty-sixth home run of the season with the bases empty in the second. He remained three homers behind the Chicagoan. Score:

SOLONS GAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 12. (AP)—Breaking up a late drive by the White Sox today, Washington won, 8 to 7, and gained a half-game on the idle Athletics.

The Senators laced Tommy Thomas and Garland Braxton for all their runs in the first seven innings, while Fred Marberry was holding the Sox scoreless. A big seventh by the Sox, capped by Carl Reynolds's homer, produced five runs and sent Marberry to cover, and another two runs in the eighth caused Brown to be removed. The victory, credited to Marberry, was his eleventh straight. Score:

GIANTS TUMBLE

NEW YORK, Sept. 12. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals administered a crushing blow to the Giants' pennant hopes today by rallying for three runs in the ninth in their fourth bitter battle to win, 5 to 2. It was the third Cardinal victory in succession and gave St. Louis the series.

As Brooklyn and Chicago also won, the Cards failed to gain in the pennant race but the fourth-place Giants lost a full game and tonight are four games behind the league-leading Cubs. The Cards won the season's series from New York, twelve games to ten.

Flint Rhem pitched a fine game for St. Louis, allowing the Giants only seven hits and shutting them out in all but the sixth. Leach's double, Lindstrom's triple and Terry's sacrifice fly gave them both their runs in that frame.

The Cards got to Carl Hubbell, Giant starting pitcher, for two runs in the fourth. Adams started with a walk and Frisch, Hafey and Blades followed with singles to bring in the first two runners.

The winning rally in the ninth started when Hafey beat out an infield hit. Jim Chaplin, who had relieved Hubbell, weakened rapidly and Watkins, Wilson and Rhem singled in order to push over three runs. A giant error, made when Terry threw wild to the plate trying to catch Watkins, allowed one of the runs to cross the plate. Score:

TILDEN LOSES TO JOHN DOEG

quest of his eighth national title as the favorite against the field, so strong had the belief in his continued supremacy become. But the younger generation had made long strides in the intervening year as was proved by the great play of Doeg and Shields.

There was wild excitement in the concrete stadium on the West Side Tennis Club in the dramatic moment when Doeg, after being held at bay by the gallant champion through a twenty-two-game fourth set, punched across the two perfect placements that accomplished Tilden's downfall. One was a perfect chop stroke that fell into totally unprotected territory and the last was a whissing volley that carried with it the finality of fate.

SHAKE HANDS

Doeg rushed to the net to shake hands with his opponent, and Tilden, after congratulating his opponent, ran from the court as he had done when he bowed to Rene La Coste in another great match three years ago.

Doeg's mighty service was an overpowering weapon, outdoing the famous cannon balls of Tilden himself. In the four sets, Doeg served the amazing total of thirteen love games—four in the first, one in the second, three in the third, and five in the fourth. He piled up twenty-nine aces to Tilden's fourteen, and when he wasn't acing Big Bill outright, he often was forcing him into nets or outs by the sheer power of his serves. Tilden made an unusually large number of nets—seventy, to Doeg's forty-two.

The Coast giant had his unorthodox ground strokes under greater control. Chopping gently, but placing well, he often outfoxed his foeman in the long, exciting rallies. Doeg's ground strokes are considered the weak point in his armor, but they filled the bill today.

Doeg has achieved the notable record of beating the country's second and first ranking players in successive days. He downed Frank Hunter, Tilden's old friend and fellow-veteran, in five sets in the quarter-finals yesterday.

THE DOPE

	Aces	Place-ments	Outs	Nets	Double Faults
Doeg	29	41	64	42	9
Tilden	16	37	80	70	6

Shields's clear-cut victory over Wood in the other semifinal was somewhat dwarfed by what followed, but the towering New Yorker, 6 feet 3 inches tall and weighing 175 pounds, played remarkable tennis, and will be close to an even choice against Doeg. Both have great services and follow them up with sensational volleys.

In the national veterans' singles play for men over 45 the semifinals were won by Commander C. C. Gill, U.S.N., who defeated Fred Bagg, New York, 6-2, 6-3, and Henry H. Basford, Bronxville, N. Y., who downed Dr. William Rosenbaum, New York, 8-6, 6-3.

RABBIT PUNCHES

BASEBALL QUIRKS

BASEBALL is having its usual quota of quirks this year, including a hot four-way race in the National League that may not be settled until the last day of the battle.

Joe Hauser, first baseman of the Baltimore Orioles, breaks Babe Ruth's home-run record of sixty in a single season, and not a move is made by a major-league team to grab him.

Perhaps the pitching in the International League, where the former major leaguer has amassed his record, isn't anything to brag about, but any guy who can slug sixty-one over the fence in any league should be ripe for another fling in the big tent.

In New York a journalist with a fertile mind sends John McGraw over to the New York Yanks as their new manager, climaxing reports of ill-feeling and bickering between John and the New York Giant management.

The Yankee locality is about the last place in the world the veteran Giant manager would go, so Charley Stoneham rushes out and signs John to a new five-year contract to end the rumors.

McGraw has not always approved of newspaper men's sentiments, but this seems to be a case when he could well afford to be in perfect accord.

Bill Rumler, the Hollywood outfielder, after making a wonderful record this year, injures an ankle and the doctors tell him he will wind up with a stiff foot when it heals. Such is fate.

THE STRIKEOUT SITUATION

FEG MURRAY and the Rev. Hocker are bested.

An Occidental lad named Haworth nominates Fay Thomas, former Trojan, as the real strikeout king in opposition to the Murray choice of Lefty Grove and the Hocker selection of Berly Horne.

He writes as follows about the matter:

"I wish to correct both Feg and the Rev. on this point. If you will look up your box scores of Coast League games, you'll find that on the third evening that Wrigley Field was lighted, when Sacramento played the Angels, a young man by the name of Fay Thomas was pitching for Sacramento.

"After the bases were loaded in the first inning, he struck out the next three men and also two in the next inning, making five in a row.

"But that isn't all. If you will look at the last three innings you can see where Mr. Thomas of Sacramento struck out nine men in a row.

"Pay set a new Coast record that night with seventeen strikeouts."

SHOOTING RECORDS

THESE are peace days, but the attendance and the shooting at the national rifle matches at Camp Perry this year indicate that our Uncle Samuel, if he ever gets into another war, won't be caught napping for lack of instructors.

According to the information offices at Camp Perry the matches have been attended by over 6000 people, and over 3000 shooters, all of whom are experts, competed in many of the ninety-five principal events this year.

Local experts, including former Chief of Police James Davis, have won signal honors, and the California National Guard team won the Rumanian trophy match, one of the most important events in the matches.

This match was fired for record, ten shots, each man standing and at the prone position at 200 yards and 600 yards, respectively.

SPOTLIGHT ON YACHTING TILT

bating tonight along Newport's narrow, old-fashioned streets, in the mansions of aristocratic America lining the rocky shores of the bay and among the old salts who have spent their lives on the sea.

The answer is an almost universal expression of sentimental support for "old Tommy" and the fifth of his famous line of Shamrocks. Popular hopes are with the challenger. Conviction, whenever it is candidly expressed, favors the sleek American defender Enterprise, a 2-to-1 favorite in the betting and unquestionably the finest racing yacht this country has ever produced.

HOPE FOR GOOD BLOW

They are hoping for a "good blow" tomorrow and they probably will have it unless there is a marked switch in the prevailing weather of the past week. The race is scheduled to start at 10:30 a.m. (eastern standard time.)

The lighter the blow, the better the chances of Shamrock V, in the opinion of the English experts who have sized up the merits of the two rivals. The challenger admittedly is a faster sloop before the wind, but not so good as Enterprise against the wind.

Since the first and subsequent odd numbered races will be on a windward and leeward basis, fifteen miles each way, the outcome is expected to hinge on whether Skipper Harold S. Vanderbilt can gain enough advantage sailing into the wind to offset anything Shamrock can pick up on the run.

So far as designing skill, money and technical ingenuity can devise, Enterprise and Shamrock V, each costing upward of $500,000 and the American boat closer perhaps to $1,000,000, represent the last word in yacht racing, as befits a struggle for the battered but historic old trophy.

The big sloops with the towering masts had their final workouts today, limbering up their sails and gear much after the manner of a pair of heavyweight boxers exercise easily the day before the batttle.

BILLION-DOLLAR SPORT

For this $1,000,000,000 spectacle the array of expert talent gathered from many parts of the British Empire as well as the United States is equally as impressive as any ever assembled about the ringside for a heavyweight championship fistic affair. There are experts on baseball, polo, golf, tennis, society, big business and fashion as well as yachting. By radio, from barges and destroyers they will tell the world what can be seen from "ringside" observation points a half-mile or more from the racing course.

The time limit for the race is five and a half hours. Until one yacht wins four races, the series will be continued daily, except Sundays unless the weather or a request from either side necessitates a postponement.

thirty-fourth, the match seemed to be over. Tommy missed, however, and instead of winning 3 to 2, was dormie 2. Tommy had some more bad shots in his putter and Lacey won the thirty-fifth with a 5 to a 6.

This brought the match to the home hole. Lacey had the longer tee shot, but he failed to get inside Armour's pitch to the green and his only chance was to sink a forty-foot putt. He was not equal to this Herculean assignment. An easy half for Tommy ended it, for he took no chances on three-putting this vital green, sending his ball to within inches of the cup.

Kirkwood was upon Sarazen only once. He took the lead for the first and last time when he won the fifteenth hole in the morning.

In the afternoon the first four holes were halved before Sarazen was able to break through with a win at the long twenty-third, where Joe was trapped, and a twenty-five-foot putt for a birdie 3 sent him 2 up at the next hole.

Joe was trapped again at the twenty-eighth and Gene increased his lead to 3. He added still another at the twenty-ninth when, after underclubbing his second shot, he sent his third over the green and then holed out from the rough for a 4. Kirkwood, on in 2, took three putts.

The Australian contributed a birdie 2 at the thirtieth to reduce his disadvantage to 3, but Sarazen was striving then to end the uncertainty at the earliest possible moment and pars at the thirty-first and thirty-second were good enough to turn the trick.

Although twelve championships have been played only five men have held the title. Walter Hagen won it five times, Sarazen twice, Leo Diegel twice, Jim Barnes twice and Jock Hutchinson once.

PREP ATHLETES WILL REGISTER AT U.C.L.A.

A bumper crop of prep football men is expected to register today at U.C.L.A., when enrollment of new students is held at Westwood. Some forty-odd candidates for Bill Spaulding's Bruin varsity eleven this fall registered yesterday, and will form the backbone of the team this fall, all having had varsity or freshman experience.

Some junior college gridders are also expected to transfer to U.C.L.A., and these will be eligible to compete on the varsity this fall. Prep stars in other sports will also be welcomed. Practice for both freshman and varsity elevens at the Bruin institution will start Monday, toeing the mark with the other members of the Pacific Coast Conference.

CLAREMONT, Sept. 12.—Eugene Nixon of the Pomona college football team is expected to return here tomorrow from a vacation trip in great condition to his Sagehens through a tough campaign. The Blue mentor issue equipment to his men today afternoon for the opening of the season.

A devotee of sport himself out the year, Nixon spent vacation on several fishing trips which carried him to the Kern River and Rock Creek regions. He has expressed confidence in concerning all sports this fall, his success as an angler of men and trout.

Line Coach "Beefy" Merrill, his assistant, and "Pop" Wagner, freshman coach, have both returned from vacations, proudly wearing coats of tan. Heath spent his time at Balboa and Merrill was a counselor in a private boys' camp in the Arrowhead.

Football interest in this college town has increased the past few days as the opening of the season approaches. Sagehen followers expect an exciting schedule, with Nixon, their favorite coach, directing his stiffest test as a member of the Conference mentor.

Ten 60-foot poles, each bearing new 24000 Pontoon lighting units, now surround the gridiron of Sagehen Field. Lights, shipped from New York, are due to arrive today and the equipment, which will throw a 75,000-watt light with a 1000-foot ceiling—will first be used early next week.

Graduate Manager Glen Gray said today he expects enthusiastic support from residents of Pomona valley as the time for the three conference games. The opening tilt is with San Diego Friday night, October 3.

Cup Race Will Be by Carenaught

ANNAPOLIS (Md.) Sept. 12.—Defeating some of the fastest of Philadelphia Cricket Club's Sarah Parvey of Buffalo, and piloted by Aviator, Capt. H. W. Hinton, of Washington, today successfully defended the Secretary of War Cup won on the Potomac.

The two-day regatta, sponsored by the President's Cup Regatta Association, was featured yesterday by the two noted professional events for the first time they previously have been held at Washington.

The Carenaught covered the 30 heats with an average of more than forty-eight miles an hour, considered creditable in such choppy sea and stiff southeast winds. The six laps of the course of two and a half miles were covered in the first heat in 1 hour, 3 minutes and 17 seconds.

The fastest time of the day was turned in by Maudie Ripp of Jamaica, L. I., who won both heats and made an average of more than fifty miles an hour in the first heat over the triangular course. Miss California, sponsored by Richard Loynes of Long Beach, was second.

A CHUCKLE FOR EVERYBODY

TARZAN AND THE LOST EMPIRE

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

With head flattened, half-crouching, the lion moved slowly toward its prey, the tip of its tail switching in nervous anticipation, its gaunt sides greedy to be filled. Tarzan waited. Had he been a lion himself, he scarcely could have known better what was passing in that savage brain.

Numa the lion knows that his quarry usually does one of two things. He either stands paralyzed with fright or he turns and flees. So seldom does he charge to meet Numa that the lion never takes that possibility into consideration, and it was, therefore, this very thing that Tarzan did.

As the lion charged, the ape-man leaped to meet him and the crowd sat breathless and silent. Numa tried to check himself, but he slipped in the sand and the great paw that struck out missed Tarzan. In that fraction of a second, the giant barbarian turned swiftly and leaped upon him.

Full upon the back of the lion sprang Tarzan of the Apes. A giant forearm encircled the maned throat; steel-thewed legs crossed beneath the gaunt, slim belly and locked themselves there. Numa turned to bite, but the vise-like arm about his throat pressed tighter, so that the fangs missed their goal.

INTEREST IN WOOL TRADE HELD WIDER

Buying Reported Better in All Grades at Very Steady Prices

BOSTON, Sept. 12. (AP) — The Commercial Bulletin of Boston will say tomorrow:

Interest in wool is more widespread among the mills and better diversified than for some time, woolen mills showing more buying interest. All qualities of wool are in demand to a fair extent, at prices which keep very steady.

The trade evidently awaits the opening of the London Colonial, the Liverpool East India and Sydney, Australia, sales, the first of next week as barometric of world values for wool. Present predictions are that Merinos will hold about steady as compared with last sales at London, but cross-breds are expected to decline 5 per cent or more. Offerings are 172,000 bales.

Manufacturers evidently do not feel too sure of the trend of piece goods demand, but have been preparing themselves to take advantage of whatever developments may quickly arise.

Mohair is dull and prices nominal.

The rail and water shipments of wool from Boston from January 1, 1930, to September 11, 1930, inclusive, were 98,193,500 pounds, against 124,537,000 pounds for the same period last year. The receipts from January 1, 1930, to September 11, 1930, inclusive, were 285,177,312 pounds, against 348,318,085 pounds for the same period last year.

REESER CHEERFUL ON OIL

Institute Head Says Fourth Quarter Profits will be Highest of Year; Barnsdall Discussed

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Confident that curtailment of crude oil will be nationally effective for the remainder of the year, E. B. Reeser, president of the American Petroleum Institute, yesterday prophesied that fourth quarter profits will be the highest for the year, although 1930 earnings will probably fall approximately 25 per cent under the previous year.

Mr. Reeser, who has been in Los Angeles for the last two weeks in his capacity as president of the Barnsdall Corporation, predicates his forecast on the apparent defeat of curtailment opposition in Oklahoma, the success of restriction in Texas and the prospect for additional curtailment in California.

1931 HOPES HIGH

With the industry going into the fourth quarter on a stabilized basis he ventured the further prediction that 1931 will turn out as one of the most profitable and healthy years in recent history.

His own company, Mr. Reeser added, is proceeding satisfactorily and will earn the full year's dividend of $2 a share by the end of the current quarter. Net earnings for the first seven months after depreciation and depletion were equivalent to $1.70 a share.

The American Petroleum Institute chief is especially encouraged over the co-operative efforts of California producers. He predicted the objective of 550,000 barrels will be attained at next week's meeting, since virtually all producers have signified their intention of joining in further restriction activities.

Gasoline prices on the Pacific Coast will undoubtedly be increased, he said, in reflection of the anticipated success in crude oil curtailment. Although the stocks of gasoline on the Coast are substantially in excess of working requirements, his information indicates the likelihood of little trouble from this source. For the greater part refiners' stocks are in strong hands and will be worked off prudently.

With the exception of metropolitan New York, said Mr. Reeser, the trend of gasoline prices is upward as the result of successful regulation of runs to refineries and curtailment of crude output. The price cut in the Chicago district has been raised and another increase is expected next week. The price cutting in New York is attributed to the recent shipment of several cargoes of distress gasoline to the East Coast.

GAS LINE UNDER WAY

Mr. Reeser expects the first unit of the 1430-mile gasoline pipe line projected by the Barnsdall Corporation will be in operation to Des Moines by Christmas. The Continental Oil Company joined in the enterprise and acquired a 60 per cent interest in the company, organized as the Great Lakes Pipe Line Company.

The line is the longest of its kind and will transport gasoline from the Barnsdall and Continental refineries in Oklahoma to Kansas City, Des Moines, Omaha, Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul, Minneapolis and intermediate points. Pumping stations every fifty-eight miles will serve as bulk distributing stations from which tank wagons will supply the adjacent territory.

Against the cost of transporting gasoline by tank car, Mr. Reeser estimates the pipe line will save about 50 per cent in transportation expense.

Copper Demand Falls off as Output Gains

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Under further pressure of increasing stocks and with domestic production of copper showing a gain in August, consumers are almost entirely out of the market and custom smelters generally are quoting copper at 10 3-4 cents. Producers are still quoting 11 cents but no business is being done at this price and the current price for the metal is 10 3-4 cents a pound delivered, Connecticut Valley.

Stocks of refined copper in North and South America on the 1st inst., totaled 347,688 tons, an increase of 25,649 tons over August 1, last, and comparing with 104,372 tons on September 1, 1929, according to the American Bureau of Metal Statistics. Stocks of blister copper, including copper in process on the 1st inst., were 234,'35 tons, a decrease of 8077 from August 1, last, and comparing with 353,834 tons on July 1, last.

The total stocks of refined and blister copper on the 1st inst., were 581,823 tons, an increase of 17,752 tons over August 1, last, and comparing with 570,596 tons on July 1, last.

Buenos Aires Lines Absorbed

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Consolidation of the New York, Rio and Buenos Aires Air Lines, Inc., with Aviation Corporation of the Americas was approved today at a special meeting of stockholders. The merger is to become effective the 15th inst.

Subject to terms of the contract New York, Rio and Buenos Aires Air Lines stockholders will receive approximately one share of Aviation Corporation for each five and one-quarter shares of New York, Rio and Buenos Aires held. Aviation Corporation of the Americas owns the entire capital stock of Pan-American Airways, Inc., New York Air Lines, Inc., and others.

AUGUST COTTONSEED CONSUMPTION GAINS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. (AP)—Cottonseed crushed during August, the first month of the cotton year, was announced today by the Census Bureau to have aggregated 165,770 tons, compared with 120,023 in August last year. Cottonseed on hand at mills August 31 totaled 214,965 tons, compared with 160,652 a year ago.

Heavy Selling Tumbles Prices on Grain Marts

CHICAGO, Sept. 12. (AP)—Grain prices here were struck down today by an epidemic of selling fever which afflicted every major grain market in the world. The ailment left all grains weak, with little strength left for rallies. Selling was persistent here, but it came mostly in small lots. Houses with connections in Canada and foreign countries were the most prominent venders of wheat in Chicago, most of which was construed as hedging against actual purchases of wheat. All deliveries of wheat here rounded new depths as they plunged into the lowest levels of the season. Winnipeg wheat prices were even lower than Chicago and Liverpool prices also registered new lows. Support for the market, such as it was, came mainly from commission houses with standing orders to buy at various fixed levels as the market went down. Corn was afflicted with the same illness which sent wheat crashing down and likewise was without support.

Wheat closed weak at ⅝@1¾c net lower than yesterday's final quotations. Corn finished ⅛@¼c off, and oats ⅛@¼c off. Rye closed ⅝@1⅝c lower, and provisions ranged from unchanged to a decline of 10c.

Wheat prices made only slight recovery from the lowest prices touched. Trade was quiet. A cable from Liverpool said a big business was being done in Canadian wheat abroad, but United States hard winters were neglected. Advices from the Atlantic seaboard intimated export business on this basis was inert and slow. Liverpool showed extreme weakness early, largely because Russia has renewed offers of large quantities of cheap wheat. Australia also was reported offering excellent quality wheat at low prices.

Corn was weak from the start, with deferred deliveries breaking nearly 3c a bushel from yesterday's close.

Oats sank with wheat and corn and because of scattered liquidation. Rye showed resistance to pressure and did not fully reflect the decline in wheat.

Provisions were influenced sympathizing with grain weakness and because of selling.

GROCERY SALES POINT UPWARD

Great Atlantic and Pacific Sees Trade Increase

Chain Indices Forecast New Buying Activities

Business of Sears, Roebuck Hit by Drought

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Contentions that public buying has turned the corner to head in an upward direction and that the movement will be extended throughout the balance of the year are high lights of th monthly sales statement issued here today by the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, world's largest grocery chain system.

Although July sales showed the smallest gain over sales for the like 1929 period of any month in 1930, officials of the company stated that August business was at an accelerated pace and that reports received from the company's divisions throughout the country indicate a stronger inclination to buy on the part of the public.

August sales of the chain system reached a total of $78,363,668, against $75,190,642 in August 1929, an increase of 4.2 per cent. Sales for the eight months this year aggregated $729,146,352, as compared with $675,680,612, for the same period last year, a gain of 7 per cent. For the entire fiscal year ended February 28, last, sales totaled $1,053,692,882. Approximately 15,000 stores are in the chain.

MAIL ORDER SALES LOWER

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—Sears, Roebuck & Co. reported today sales for the ninth period, August 14 to the 10th inst. of $38,030,215, against $32,642,246 in the same period last year, a drop of 14.1 per cent. Sales from January 2 to the 10th inst. aggregated $251,637,498, against $269,113,582 last year, a decrease of 6.5 per cent.

The business for the four weeks' period just closed fell behind earlier expectations and was the second largest percentage decrease this year. It showed the usual seasonal increase over the preceding period but the gain was only 10.6 per cent against 17.6 per cent last year.

Failure of a better showing in the ninth period was attributed to a number of factors including lower commodity prices quoted in the fall and winter catalogue further affecting the dollar volume, less number of new stores opened compared with last year, and the cumulative effect of the drought, which was not so noticeable in the preceding period. In addition, sales in September last year were stimulated by the then new policy of paying freight charges.

NEW UNEMPLOYMENT CURE

Continental Can Chairman Suggests Policy of Working Dole for Depression Periods

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—C. C. Conway, chairman of the board of the Continental Can Company, likes Henry Ford, next to war hates "unemployment most."

"Enforced unemployment is a blot on our industrial era," said Mr. Conway in discussing the subject. "It mounts rapidly during periods of industrial inactivity or depression. Lack of any permanent or definite plan for quickly absorbing labor released at such times results in untold hardships and prolongs the period of depression.

"To continue to use such labor in the production of goods when demand has fallen off would further disrupt the economic balance. Why not devise some plan to divert this excess of labor temporarily into other channels not producing goods for consumption?"

If purchasing power can be created without increasing the amount of goods on hand, business recovery can be very greatly hastened, for surplus stocks would immediately decrease.

I asked Mr. Conway to enlarge his views on this subject of just how purchasing power could be increased without a corresponding increase in production.

"I do not claim to be an economist, and I may be preaching unorthodox views. But when a successful corporation curtails production or closes down a plant temporarily, it usually takes advantage of the opportunity to put the plant in first-class order, thus getting ready for the next period of active production," he began.

"If this is sound for business, isn't it equally as sound for cities, counties, States and the Federal government to have an occasional clean-up campaign, particularly during periods of depression?

"One needs only to view American cities from a train window, the harbors from an incoming steamer, or the countryside from an automobile to be convinced of the need of such a program. Let every city clean up its alleys, water fronts and dumps; every county its roads, culverts and county buildings and every State its highways, buildings, bridges, etc.

"Put the planning of this work under some agency of the Federal government such as the Army, with its wealth of engineering and executive ability. Let the government co-operate with the cities, counties and States in this work. Make the wages lower than normal, so that no premium would be offered to keep men away from industry when industry can use them.

"Such a program could be quickly set in motion and would supplement the bigger plans which take more time to materialize.

"No plan is a cure-all, but this plan has the possibilities of employing a larger number of people at a living wage who otherwise might be unemployed. At the same time, putting hundreds of thousands of people to work in this way would not add the production of more goods, but would add materially to the total purchasing power.

"Property values would benefit, our national pride would be enhanced and the valley of depression would be leveled out.

"Certainly the people of the United States should not rest until they can say to every healthy man in this richest country in the world —'at such a place and at such a wage, you can obtain work. The wages are lower than you have been used to and the kind of work may not be that which you desire, but, until industry can reabsorb you, we can at least offer you this.'"

"Then it is really a 'working dole' that you suggest?"

"That's exactly what it is," was his reply.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Stock Market Prices Fluctuate Within Narrow Limits Through Dull Session

Small fractional recessions ruled for the most part on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday with no new developments arising to stimulate an active participation. The trading activity held close to the listless operations that characterized Thursday's session and with one or two exceptions no changes occurred in excess of one-half a point.

Superior Oil, which has been in the spotlight for the past few days, again provided an interesting diversion with a jump of 5 points to a new peak at 35. A total of 175 shares of the issue crossed the board which is the greatest turnover of the stock in any one session in the past two years. Odd lots of the issue sold at 4 last March and yesterday's price marks a gain of 13 3-8 points since last Saturday.

As usual Transamerica headed the market activity with a turnover of 3500 shares, most of the transactions occurring late in the session. The stock fluctuated between 24½ and 25, and ended at 24 5-8, off 3-8 net. Security-First National Bank continued in an upward direction reaching a new recent top at 106. Final sales were 105½, up 1-4 net.

Oils held unevenly on a light activity. Pacific Western and Richfield added 1-8 each, while Standard of California, Rio Grande, and Union yielded small amounts. MacMillan dropped 3-4 to establish a new bottom at 11.

Southern California Edison and Pacific Public Service represented the utilities and each yielded ⅛ to 59 3-4 and 33 5-8, respectively. Claude Neon dropped 1 1-8 points to 23 3-8. Western Air Express, an inactive, fell off 3 1-4 points to 33.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Sept. 13. (AP)—Inquiry for high-grade bonds was a little more active today, as money rates pointed downward with the piling up of funds at the banks in preparation for the Treasury financing and income tax payments of the 15th inst. This was counterbalanced by selling of the convertibles, and some of the more speculative issues, so prices in the aggregate were about unchanged. Transfers aggregated $8,318,000, par value.

Rails were the most active features of the domestic liens. With the interest payment on the St. Paul adjustment 5s settled, the St. Paul issues were active and firm. The 4½s sold up ½ to a new high, and the 5s of 1957 gained ¼. Convertibles generally eased. Rock Island convertible 4½s were off a minor fraction. Most of the high-grade liens were steady to firm, some at new highs.

In the industrials, the American Cyanamid 5s lost a point on the omission of dividends on the Class A and B stocks. American Metals 5½s eased a little, perhaps reflecting the unfavorable copper statistics as reported for August. Several utility issues were in good demand. Keystone Telephone 5s rose nearly 4 points to a new high at 90. In the oils, Shell Union 5s fell back close to the year's low.

United States government issues attracted the most active inquiry of the week, and the Liberty 4½s reached new highs. The foreign dollar bonds were fairly active, particularly Latin-Americans.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in order given. To expedite transmission, the closing price is omitted when the same as the low, and both low and close when same as high.

California, Main near Eighth—"Diet de la Passion," with some new native players added to the cast.

Carthay Circle, Carthay Center—"Hellship." This play of quality and fine acting will add Ann Harding as her best interest yet.

Chinese, 6925 Hollywood — "Hell's Angels." It took Howard Hughes four years and $4,000,000 to produce this colossus of the air; and it was worth it.

Criterion, 643 South Grand—"All Quiet on Western Front." Erich Remarque's masterpiece of the war receives splendid treatment at Lee Ayres.

LIFETIME CONTRACT SIGNED

Actress and Film Director Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Thornton Freeland

JUNE CLYDE, motion-picture actress, and Thornton Freeland, Hollywood's youngest film director, were on their honeymoon last night following their marriage at the First Methodist Church of Hollywood. Rev. Glenn Randall Phillips officiated at the ceremony.

Peggy Whitcomb served as matron of honor at the wedding, while Roger Heman was the best man. Approximately fifty of their friends attended.

The marriage is the culmination of a romance that started several months ago, when Miss Clyde was called for a test for a picture Freeland was directing. He wanted her for the part but studio executives differed.

Inasmuch as Freeland must return soon to the United Artists studio the couple left on a motor trip throughout the State. As soon as he completes his next production they plan on a trip to Honolulu.

Carl Laemmle Grandfather of Baby Girl

Carl Laemmle, president of Universal Pictures, became a grandfather when his daughter, Mrs. M. Stanley Bergerman, gave birth to a girl yesterday morning at the Good Samaritan Hospital. Last night mother and child were reported doing nicely.

It is Laemmle's first grandchild and he was showered with congratulations yesterday at the studio when the event was announced. His daughter Rosabelle married Bergerman January 2, 1928. Last night they had not named the child.

Bergerman is production chief on short subjects at Universal studio.

At the hospital it was announced the infant weighed seven pounds and five ounces.

MISSING WIFE SOUGHT

Aid of the Sheriff's office was sought yesterday in locating Mrs. Clara Marie Young, 24 years of age, 819 McKinley avenue, Hynes, who disappeared Tuesday night. According to a report made by R. B. Young, her husband, she was seen last at the end of the Cherry-avenue and Hynes bus line.

MYSTERY IN FLINTRIDGE EXPLOSION

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Sept. 12. — A terrific explosion which demolished a large concrete ornamental mailbox adjoining the Flintridge residence of Edwin M. Willoughby, Chicago capitalist, is being investigated tonight by Capt. C. D. Allen of the Altadena Sheriff's office.

Following a preliminary investigation, Capt. Allen asserted he had not yet determined whether a stick of dynamite had been placed in the mailbox, a miniature California home, because of sinister motives.

John Ellen, caretaker of the estate, reported that he heard a loud report late last night, but thought little of it until he discovered the wreckage of the box this morning when he went for the mail.

Miss Elizabeth Willoughby, sole member of the family now in this city, spent the night with friends.

Deputies Wier and Turner discovered a charred dynamite-stick wrapper at the base of the mailbox standard. They are of the opinion that mischievous boys are responsible for the explosion.

Successor to Scofield Not Yet Decided Upon

Mayor Porter said yesterday he is not prepared at present to submit to the City Council a nomination for the successor of E. M. Scofield, who was removed Thursday from the Board of Water and Power Commissioners.

When the message removing Scofield was transmitted to the Council, Mayor Porter appended the nomination of Edward J. Fleming, but this was withdrawn when doubt arose as to Fleming being an elector of the city.

FAIR ECLIPSES PAST EFFORTS

POMONA, Sept. 12.—Approximately 30,000 persons passed turnstiles into the Los Angeles County Fair, which opened here today, to be present at the dedication of the new agricultural building and to catch a glimpse of the largest county fair in America.

The fair this year more than eclipses any former effort, and undoubtedly is the finest exhibition of orchard and farm products ever assembled.

The explosion of aerial bombs accompanied by a display of daylight fireworks, at 10 a.m., announced the official opening, where more than $250,000 has been spent to provide an educational and amusement program for the ten days of the fair.

PROGRAM GIVEN

The stage in the great new exhibition building was occupied by fair officials, county officers and prominent citizens. The Pacific Electric band furnished music for the occasion, and with Fred T. Beaty, Supervisor of the First District, as master of ceremonies, a short program of speeches, culminated in a dedicatory address by Lieut.-Gov. Carnahan, who officially represented Gov. Young. Lieut.-Gov. Carnahan climaxed his talk with the presentation of Chairman Graves of the Board of Supervisors, who presented the key to the new building to Charles P. Curran, president of the fair association. Mayor Caves of Pomona made a short address of welcome, as did Supervisor Wright of the Fifth District.

SPECTACLE OF BEAUTY

The displays in the new building are made up of county and community exhibits. Visitors are present from practically every State as well as from Canada, Mexico and some European countries. The decorative theme of the main building is Venetian and is carried out in most artistic fashion. A frieze extending around the building depicts many scenes of the Italian city, which form a motif for the general display. Colors and lighting effects follow the same scheme, making of the whole a spectacle reflecting the fact that much beauty abounds in the agricultural life of Southern California.

The fair covers 107 acres of ground, thirty acres of which are occupied by permanent and temporary structures in which are assembled the various displays of fruit, vegetables, live stock, domestic arts, and other products of the farm and home. More than $500,000 has been expended for permanent improvements on the grounds.

OFFICERS OF FAIR

C. B. (Jack) Afflerbaugh, secretary-manager, is responsible more than any other individual, for the unparalleled success which the fair has enjoyed since its inception ten years ago. With Mr. Afflerbaugh in the direction and management are C. P. Curran president; W. A. Kennedy, vice-president; B. Chaffey Shepherd, treasurer, and R. A. Condee, Fred T. Beaty, M. E. Fellows, Hugh A. Thatcher and F. C. Froehde, directors.

Cash and trophy awards to be paid out this year will total $100,000. Seventy-five judges are required to decide the contests. In all 2000 separate prizes are offered, for which 126,000 separate articles are competing in the various classes. These exhibits total an estimated value of $10,000,000. The crops represented in this display are said to have a value of more than $63,000,000. In the art department, a display of paintings valued at $300,000 is attracting great attention.

Live-stock exhibits are the largest in the history of the fair.

The poultry show with 2300 birds representing 211 varieties is the largest attempted west of the Mississippi River. The pigeon show is the largest that has ever been shown. More than 2500 birds are entered.

RACING AT NIGHT

For the first time in the western country night horse racing is offered on a brilliantly illuminated track, the afternoon racing program being given the same as usual. There are more than 400 racing horses on the grounds.

Boys and girls of Southern California are showing what they can accomplish in a junior fair. School displays and showings of clubs, organizations and individuals make up the event in which more than 1000 entries are shown.

INCREASE IN JOBS SHOWN FOR AUGUST

Los Angeles District on Upgrade, Monthly Report of Labor Bureau Reveals

An increase in employment in the Los Angeles district, including Long Beach, Santa Monica, Pasadena and Riverside, was noted during August, according to the monthly bulletin issued yesterday by the United States Department of Labor through its Pacific division office in San Francisco.

One public utility company within the district, the report states, operated on a full-time basis with all regular employees at work. All other plants also remained in operation, although on a reduced scale. These include oil refining, oil well supply and kindred plants, machine shops, iron and steel plants, automobile assembly plants, tire factories, candy factories and fish canneries. In addition municipal improvements involving $10,590,000 were under construction in the city proper, while a number of large building projects were either under way or about to be launched.

The $38,000,000 Owens River Valley water project, the survey points out, will provide work for a number of men over a three-year period.

LIGHTING ENGINEERS WILL GATHER AT U.S.C.

The first fall meeting of Southern California section, National Illuminating Engineering Society, will be held on the campus of the University of Southern California next Monday evening. Prof. Arthur W. Nye, head of the department of physics of S.C., is chairman. "Light and Safety" is the subject of a talk to be given by Frank Hansen. Officers include S. W. Mesick, secretary; Urban L. Beh, Robert C. Linderman, F. D. McKinstry, George M. Rankin and Leonard W. Towner, local board of managers.

ORDINANCE ADOPTED

The ordinance of intention for the installation of lights in Western avenue between Jefferson Boulevard and Santa Barbara avenue, was adopted yesterday by the City Council.

GUILLERMO AND FERNANDO ORTIZ RUBIO, sons of President Ortiz Rubio of Mexico, arrived here yesterday aboard the Southern Pacific Apache en route to St. Benedict's College, Atchison, Kan., where they are entering their second year of study. They will remain in Los Angeles about ten days as guests at the Los Angeles Athletic Club of Otto J. Emme, attorney.

Guillermo, who is 19 years of age, and but one year older than his brother Fernando, is enrolled in a course of agricultural studies and practical research work in botany.

"I am carrying out the wishes of my father in trying to learn American methods of utilizing the soil and in keeping abreast of agricultural developments," Guillermo said. "In my country we hear very much about Yankee enterprise and ingenuity. I have come not only to study agriculture, but also to study the causes for the rapid economic development existing here."

Fernando, his younger brother, is studying mechanical and electrical engineering.

"Mexico's development in the future will lie in the improvement of her machinery and in the construction of modern factories similar to those in the United States," he predicted. "The prestige of American college training for engineers is recognized throughout the world, and I intend to complete my studies in this country."

A. Rosas, former Insurance Commissioner of Mexico, who is accompanying the boys on their trip, will remain with them until they are enrolled at St. Benedict's.

Council Creates New Police Job

The City Council yesterday created a new position of Deputy Chief in the police department at a salary of $400 per month. It is the understanding that this position was set up for Chief Steckel in the event that City Hall politics result in his being outed from his present job, which happened not so long ago to James E. Davis, who was demoted from Chief to Deputy Chief.

GASOLINE PRICE JUMP ORDERED

Standard Oil will Boost Charge 1 Cent Monday

At Same Time Quotation on Crude will be Reduced

Macmillan Follows Suit by Announcing Increase

Following closely on the appeal of independent gasoline refiners to the Federal government for aid in obtaining either an advance in the retail price of gasoline or a reduction in the purchase price of crude oil, the Standard Oil Company of California late yesterday announced an increase of 1 cent in the retail price of gasoline and an average reduction of 10 cents a barrel in the price of crude oil, both effective Monday.

A statement issued by the Standard Oil Company said:

"The Standard Oil Company of California announces that, effective with the opening of business Monday, September 15, 1930, there will be an advance of 1 cent a gallon in the price of gasoline.

"Effective September 15, 1930, at 7 a.m. the prices offered by the company for the average grade of refinable crude oil will be reduced from 8 to 12 cents per barrel."

ANOTHER STATEMENT

Another statement explaining the price moves was issued by the oil company which said:

"Statements have been made by independent refiners to government officials, to the public and to this company that present prices for gasoline and prevailing prices for crude oil do not permit refiners in California to operate at a profit, and that there must be either a decrease in the cost of the raw material, or an increase in the price of the refined product, or a decrease in labor costs. This last suggestion, even though it might be partially effective should not be considered in view of existing general conditions.

"The statements referred to are believed to be supported by the facts. The condition is the result of an incompleted program which was begun last spring. In March, 1930, as a result of the successful conclusion of the conservation program by California producers, the price offered by this company for the average grade of refinable crude oil was advanced 20 to 25 cents per barrel. It was contemplated that this should be followed by a corresponding increase in the company's price for refined products. Before this advance could be made effective unsettled marketing conditions for refined products developed and culminated in the recent disastrous price war. All refiners have, therefore, found themselves in the predicament pointed out by the independent refiners. Conditions today do not permit the advance in the price of refined products contemplated at the time of the advance in the price of crude oil referred to.

PROBLEM DEFINED

"It is apparent that the burden of maintaining the conservation of our crude oil resources cannot be thrown wholly on the producer. California producers, who today are restricting their production to prevent waste, are receiving some compensation for their reduced output in the shape of a higher price. If relief comes to the refiners entirely at the expense of the producer, the present conservation of California oils would be placed in jeopardy. If relief is not afforded to refiners from their present difficulty, some who control shut-in production will undoubtedly discontinue their purchases of crude oil and open up their own production, thus destroying the conservation program; for the conservation program requires for its successful operation that its burdens be shared by all operators in any one field, and that a market be provided for such oil as is produced. The public, as well as the industry, is interested in the conservation of our petroleum resources. The burden of conservation should not be thrown wholly on the public nor on the refiner nor on the producer. The theory of conservation is that our natural resources shall be utilised only to the extent of a reasonable demand. The result will be a stabilized value and price over a long period of years, rather than low prices during the periods of excessive production, with high prices when the time of shortage

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

FATHER RICARD must snicker up his sleeve to read the year's weather predictions from the meteorology professors at Berkeley.

They have issued a bulletin in which ten wet years are predicted for California; and THEY BASE THEIR PROPHECIES ON SUN SPOTS.

And this after all the pooh-poohing and ha, ha, ha-ing that Father Ricard has received from the astronomers and other sky-gazers—not to speak of wind and rain experts.

I might add that Prof. Harry Carr states that the first rain of this promised wet winter is going to happen very soon. You can feel that rain clouds are maneuvering themselves into position. At this time of year they have to jockey around for about a week or ten days.

SHOOT HIM!

Another pest who could be abolished is the one who listens to the questions that you have to ask, then—after you get all through—says: "Now what was it that you wanted to know?"

ARIZONA "IT"

The warnings of Leigh Hunt as to threat of Bolshevism are not to be disregarded. Mr. Hunt is one of the most remarkable men in California. He has lived everywhere—almost every great capital in Europe, India, Indo-China, South America, and in the far islands of the sea. It was due to his vision and farsightedness that the British undertook the raising of cotton in North Africa.

I once asked him—of all the places in which he had ever lived, of all the places he had ever seen—which held the most interest. He replied that Arizona was the most interesting patch of land in the world. I haven't seen all the others, but any country to be more interesting than Arizona would have to get up and trot.

NICE WALKING

Cecil De Mille tells me that he has discovered a new and fascinating form of sport—walking on the bottom of the sea in a diver's suit. I'm glad he likes it; but he can be assured that his pleasure will not be marred by bumping into me down there. The ocean is his—the whole darn floor—as far as I am concerned.

SWEET PEACE

The world is now enjoying all the benefits and sweetness of peace—with the mere exception of a civil war in India, with other British troops shooting the tar out of the wild tribesmen in the Khyber Pass, a first-class Marathon war in China, a red-hot revolution in the Argentine, and sporadic gunfire in Asia Minor—not to speak of an armed rebellion of the Kurdish tribes in the mountains bordering the Caspian Sea.

It is only when you examine the records of some of the old English regiments that you come to realize that the world never is and never has been at peace. From the day when the first two cave men fought with clubs over the succulent steaks cut from the ham bone of the hairy mammoth the history of the world has been one long fight.

And it must be confessed that it looks very much as though another general conflict were brewing. Sooner or later all Western Europe will be at war with soviet Russia; and the only thing that will stave off a terrible defeat for Western Europe will be the British navy. And even the British navy will not be so effective against

FITTS MAY ACT IN PLOT

Walkup Inquiry Evidence to be Given Prosecutor Reported to Involve High City Officials

Evidence from a dozen different sources all tending to connect various high city officials and others with an asserted plot to entrap Police Commissioner Walkup, with Helen Lee, 23-year-old blonde, as the lure, will probably be presented to Dist.-Atty. Fitts some time today by the police.

"We are working on the case from every possible angle," declared Chief of Detectives Taylor yesterday. "At the present time we have Miss Lee together with a policewoman in a hidden apartment and soon expect to learn just what and who were behind this attempted frame-up.'

While refusing to give out much information regarding the police investigation, Chief Taylor stated that he had called on Mayor Porter during the day and that everything was being done to clear the matter up. He also denied that Miss Lee was missing and declared that she was in the custody of a policewoman.

"Some time today, if a certain line of investigation now under way develops," declared Taylor, "the case will be in such shape that it can be presented to the District Attorney's office for action and indictments may then result."

Meanwhile Dep. Dist.-Atty. Clark, who questioned Miss Lee several days ago, refused to make any comment on the case, and declared that it was in the hands of the police. "I am ready to help in any way possible," declared Clark. "From what the police have told me there is no case at present," he continued, "but we expect certain developments within a few hours."

From what could be learned yesterday Miss Lee will probably make a complete statement regarding the entire affair with names, dates and places some time today, and it is rumored that if the statement is forthcoming then indictments will be requested.

With both the city and county authorities refusing to comment on the investigation at the present time it was learned, nevertheless, that a far-reaching conspiracy to dispose of Commissioner Walkup was put under way, it is believed, by a group of underworld characters.

MRS. COLLINS WINNER OF DAMAGE VERDICT

Damages of $10,800 were awarded last evening to Mrs. Christine Collins by a jury in Superior Judge Hahn's court which tried the woman's suit against Police Captain J. J. Jones. The award includes $10,000 general damages, $300 special and $500 exemplary. Eight men and four women composed the jury. Eleven jurors voted the award, William A. McCormick of Pomona alone voting for only $2500 damages.

Mrs. Collins sued Jones for sending her to the General Hospital psychopathic ward when she refused to accept an impostor as her missing son, Walter, 9 years of age. Walter was slain by Stewart Gordon Northcott, now under death sentence for the crime, it was brought out at the trial. The impostor, Arthur Hutchins, Jr., also recanted his hoax.

Judge Hahn instructed the jury that Capt. Jones did not have probable cause for arresting Mrs. Collins on an insanity charge without a warrant, and that, therefore, the question of probable cause was to be disregarded by the jurors. Their duty narrowed down to the amount of damages, if any, to be awarded Mrs. Collins, the court added.

In the final arguments Attorney Frank Hutton, for Jones, said that all the damages Mrs. Collins was entitled to was $21.60, representing wages she lost while incarcerated. Attorney S. S. Hahn, for Mrs. Collins, retorted that this offer was excessive if, as a defense witness had asserted, a brief rest in the psychopathic ward was beneficial. Attorney Hahn pictured Mrs. Collins as an anguished mother thrown in among deranged persons, to emerge disgraced, unnerved and branded as of unsound mind.

STRIKE-PICKET CURB SOUGHT

Injunction Plea Filed for Garment Manufacturer Against Officers and Members of Union

Application for a permanent injunction against picketing of a garment factory at 818 South Broadway marked the progress of the strike of garment workers here yesterday. Attorney Earl Newmire, who is justice of the peace in Huntington Park, and Attorney George Appell filed in Superior Court a complaint in behalf of Soloman Rosenberg, proprietor of the Bell Cloak and Suit Manufacturing Company, against officials and members of the International Garment Workers' and Cloakmakers' Union, Local No. 65, including 1'0 John and Jane Does.

Superior Judge Doran, presiding, set the hearing for a temporary restraining order asked in the complaint for next Monday at 2 p.m. in Superior Judge Gates's court.

The petition names as defendants J. Breslaw, vice-president of the union; Sol Stone, president of the local; M. Steinberg, vice-president; N. Minkin, secretary; B. Heikel, sergeant-at-arms; Sarah Dukin, Jessie Villalva and Abe Sonies, members of the strike committee, and A. Plotkin, Anna Brookspan, M. Finkel, I. Meyers, Louise Pine, S. Schindler, and S. Silverman, members of the executive board of the local. Members of the union are represented by the 150 "Doe" defendants.

Rosenberg asserts that he has worked up a "large and valuable trade" in the cloak-and-suit business, employing sixty workers, and that about the 4th inst. a general strike was called to force Los Angeles manufacturers to employ only union members, and maintain what is known as the "closed shop." About this time, it is declared, the defendants began a series of acts of espionage and coercion, including threats of violence, against his customers and employees, calculated to force his workmen to quit work and to induce customers not to patronize him.

The plaintiff asserts that because the defendants lack financial responsibility, he cannot hold them legally accountable for damage that might result from their action in picketing his place, and so he asserts an injunction is the only possible remedy to prevent such damage. Attached to the complaint are

Greed for Gold Thought Hidden by Rancher Declared Motive for Mint Canyon Murder

SUSPECTED PAIR DETAILS KILLING

Officers Say Horton Slayers Were After Treasure

Tire Prints Finally Lead to Youth's Arrest

Confession Tells of Battle on Lonely Ranch

Greed for gold yesterday was declared to have been the motive for the murder of Wade Horton, 72-year-old Mint Canyon rancher, who was shot to death in his ranch cabin last May 18, last. This point was made clear in the complaint filed yesterday at the District Attorney's office by Deputy Sheriffs Gray and Penprase, who swore to the complaint. Lloyd Dye and Gordon E. Gauss are the defendants named.

At the time the complaint was filed, however, it was understood that the matter will be referred to the grand jury at its meeting next Tuesday when an indictment will be asked.

Arresting officers assert that the two youths already have confessed killing the aged man after they had gone to his cabin on a secret tip that he and his elderly brother had a large quantity of gold concealed on the premises.

TIRE PRINTS GIVE CLEW

Arrest of the two youths came as the result of checking the tire prints of the automobile used and reports of various persons who had a slight knowledge of circumstances surrounding the murder.

The officers charge that Dye killed Horton in a gun battle in which he received a serious wound in the stomach. At the same time, officers declare, Gauss engaged George Horton, 32-year-old brother of the victim, and held him at bay preventing him from aiding his brother.

Penprase and Gray stated last night that today they probably will go to Newhall in search of two revolvers buried there by Gauss the night of the murder, according to his confession. One of the weapons is the gun with which Horton shot Dye and the other the gun carried by Gauss at the time of the killing. According to the officers, Gauss, the officers reported, stated that as he left the Horton house on the night of the killing he picked up Horton's gun from beside his body.

WEAPON TOSSED IN SEA

Dye, according to the officers, stated that some time after the murder he disposed of the weapon with which he did the fatal shooting by throwing it into the ocean from the Pine-avenue pier in Long Beach.

Both of the prisoners were booked in County Jail late yesterday. While being searched by Deputy Sheriff Simmons in the admitting-room of the jail booking-office, a curved wire was found concealed in the sleeve cuff of Dye's shirt. Officers declared the wire to be a makeshift handcuff key.

Although none came forward to champion the cause of Dye, two Long Beach women yesterday rallied to the defense of his fellow-suspect. One is Mrs. Lydia Gauss, mother of the asserted comurderer, who, at her home, 1812 East Fifth street, Long Beach, stoutly maintained her son is innocent.

ARRESTED BEFORE

The other who sought to clear Gauss is Mrs. R. Porter, 1521 Locust avenue, Long Beach, mother of Zella Belle Porter, 18-year-old sweetheart of the accused youth. To newspaper men, Mrs. Porter insisted Gauss was in her home until 12:30 o'clock on the night of May 18, last, when Horton met his death.

Dye yesterday was revealed by Long Beach police records as having once been sentenced to a term in Preston Reformatory for contributing to the delinquency of a minor. It was learned from these records also that on May 22, last, he was held in connection with an investigation of the theft of valuable welding metals from the Signal Hill oil fields. He was released after questioning.

The announced price increase from the Standard Oil Company was quickly followed by a similar move from the Macmillan Petroleum Corporation, the officers of which said that stations selling their product will post the new price Monday morning.

Other oil company executives, notified of the move just before the close of business yesterday said that statements could not be made until today.

Officials of the Standard Oil Company last night said that a new schedule of crude oil prices will be posted early today showing the average reduction of 10 cents per barrel. On March 17 the company cut the price of crude oil which it purchased from wells in the Santa Fe Springs oil field from $1.60 per barrel to 85 cents. This was for oil of 33 gravity. The price was restored to $1.60 for the same grade on June 14 and on a basis of the present reduction, the price for oil from this field will average $1.50.

Chatsworth Dam Cracks Trifling

Reports of serious damage to the Chatsworth Dam in San Fernando Valley by the earth shock of August 29 were discounted by officials of the Bureau of Water and Power yesterday.

The earth movement caused two unimportant fissures on the face of the dam, but because it is of earth-fill construction the cracks have refilled themselves. There is no leakage and no danger exists, according to a report of the State Engineer's representative.

MORE FUNDS FOR CITY TO BE PROVIDED

Finance Committee will Submit Revised Figures to Council Monday

A relaxation of the stringent budget reductions for city departments was agreed on yesterday afternoon by the Finance Committee, and the revised figures, providing about $500,000 more than formerly was contemplated, as recommended by Budget Director Knox, will be submitted to the City Council Monday morning.

The plan proposed by Knox and approved by the committee provides that the departments be allowed $512,510 from the unappropriated balance in addition to present allocations. Of this sum, $209,980 is to be allocated at once to meet deficits, $225,000 for salaries and $77,650 for expense items for the balance of the fiscal year. These last two items are to be apportioned to the departments at the rate of one-ninth each month.

These figures contemplate an increase in fiscal revenue which will approximate $24,402,469 for the year, but still are about $500,000 short of what Mayor Porter in first getting up the budget, estimated the income would reach.

Army Flyer's Funeral Today

Military funeral rites will be conducted at 11 a.m. today in the Wee Kirk o' the Heather, Forest Lawn Memorial Park, for Lieut. Casey was stationed, will conduct the service and act as pallbearers. Cremation will follow at Forest Lawn.

Lieut. Casey graduated from Polytechnic High School and attended the University of California at Los Angeles for three years. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Casey, reside at 3737 Arlington avenue.

WATER SALVAGE PLAN RIPE

Reclamation of Sewage and Storm Drainage Sought in Studies of District Officials

A comprehensive plan for the reclamation of sewage water from studies made by officials of the Metropolitan Sewer District, one that can be co-ordinated with surveys made by flood-control engineers, is nearing completion and will be made public soon, E. K. Warren, chief engineer of the Los Angeles county sanitation district, announced yesterday.

"The complications entering into such a major plan are innumerable," Warren declared, "but it is believed that when completed our study will cover every phase of the problem and will be sufficient on which to base a comprehensive plan.

"The support of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce was evidenced when directors of the chamber recently recommended that the sewage from San Pedro and Wilmington be handled through the county sanitation district's system. A resolution was adopted which, in part, is as follows:

"'We recommend the immediate construction of a sewer-collection system for the harbor district and the conveyance of sewage for complete treatment to the present Wilmington location of the county sanitation district or that general neighborhood, as recommended by the special committee of experts to the conference committee. Also that a modern treatment plant be constructed in units as required at this site, the effluent from which may either be discharged without offense into the harbor, or used for industrial or agricultural purposes when and as required, adequate time being allowed thereby for the development of such use . . . .'"

Engineer Warren declared the study now being conducted embraces all Los Angeles county south of the mountains and takes into consideration all areas within the several drainage basins.

"Since Long Beach would receive as great benefit from such development as any other part of the area, it is logical that Long Beach should be considered in any plan that may be worked out in a practical way," he said.

"The contemplation of such a project may have some bearing on the present application of the city of Long Beach before the State Board of Health for permission to discharge its sewage in the harbor entrance, since any such discharge into the harbor would not be in line with the reclamation plans that might be worked out and it is believed that the State Board of Health will take this into consideration."

Engineer Warren said the hearing on the application of Long Beach will be held before the State Board of Health today. He believed, however, no action will be taken pending the outcome of the major study for sewage reclamation.

Commenting further on the problem Warren declared:

"In a study of this character we cannot restrict ourselves solely to the reclamation of sewage water, but must consider other sources of water supply and reclamation, such as the tremendous amount of storm water annually wasted into the sea. Furthermore, it must be determined where and when such reclaimed water is necessary and in what amounts it can be used.

"Our studies have indicated the complexity of the problem, not only from an engineering standpoint, but from an administrative one. If such a project can be worked out unquestionably the lands to be benefited should participate in the costs of the work by segregating them into units in a logical manner according to drainage basins."

Davis Fails to File for Civil Service Quiz

Unconfirmed Reports About "Influence" Heard

Twelve names were listed with the Los Angeles civil-service department to take the test for Chief of Police on the 18th and 19th inst. when the time for filing closed at 5 o'clock last evening. Although the lists were opened to experienced officers outside the police department, only one, George E. Friend, former Chicago detective, applied in addition to police officers.

The list includes Chief of Police Steckel, Capt. Ray E. Cato, Capt. Lawrence J. Amman, Capt. C. A. Hodson, Capt. William H. Behrendt, Capt. Howard I. Nicholson, Capt. Paul C. Ross, Inspector of Detectives David A. Davidson, Detective Lieutenant A. R. Kallmeyer and Detective Lieutenant D. McD. Jones.

Former Chief of Police James E. Davis, now a deputy Chief, Deputy Chief Cross, Assistant Chief Finlinson and others, who were expected to file, did not put in an appearance. Davis has been in the East as a member of the pistol team.

No reasons were advanced for the others failing to file, although reports were in circulation that they had been "instructed not to," which could not be confirmed.

Other reports were that the administration is seeking to make sure that Steckel will come through on top for the permanent appointment. Other rumors were that Kallmeyer is favored for the job. Still another is that Jones, who heads the Mayor's secret-service squad, and was a recent candidate for Sheriff, has the "inside track."

The civil-service department has requested its commission to supervise the two-day examination, which has been agreed.

TRUCE MAY END JAMES FILM SUIT

Lawyers Admit Talk of Settling Controversy Over Picture of Noted Bandit

Settlement of Jesse Estelle James's $55,000 suit against Paramount-Famous-Lasky Corporation was being considered, attorneys for both sides admitted late yesterday when the trial by jury in Superior Judge Mahon's court was adjourned until Monday.

Attorneys W. C. Dalzell and F. H. Phillips for Miss James and Everett H. Mills and Frank James for the defendants discussed the possible compromise. Dalzell said he offered to move for dismissal if the defendants paid the plaintiff $10,000 and that the offer is under consideration.

L. B. Smith of the F.-B.-O. bookkeeping department was put on the stand in the plaintiff's effort to prove that the late Fred Thomson, actor, had a financial interest in his pictures. The actor released pictures through F.-B.-O. before going to Paramount. The estate of Thomson is being sued together with Paramount, the actor having created the title role of a play entitled "Jessie James," based on the life of the plaintiff's grandfather, the train robber. Miss James asserts she was promised a principal role in the picture and that the contract was breached.

Fingerprint on Door Links Man to Old Burglary

A single fingerprint left on the polished surface of a door five years ago yesterday connected Howard K. Harbaugh, arrested as a suspicious character, with a party burglary in the home of E. T. Allers at 105 North Arden Boulevard, December 3, 1925. The print was found by Police Lieutenant Barlow at the time the burglary was investigated.

Harbaugh is held on suspicion of burglary. He also may be taken to trial on another felonious charge as a check on his record disclosed that police hold a warrant issued the same year the burglary was perpetrated, charging him with three counts of forgery.

several depositions from his employees, all of which detail threats of beatings by strikers, one woman declaring a picket threatened to throw ink on her if she continued to work for the plaintiff.

Attorney Newmire said he intends to file several more suits against the International Garment Workers' Union, and another union known as the Needle Trade Workers' Industrial Union, which, the attorney asserted, is a Communist organization. The suits will be filed in behalf of other cloak-and-suit manufacturers, it was stated.

PLANTS AFFECTED

"There are about sixty-five or seventy such manufacturing establishments in Los Angeles," the attorney said. "Approximately twenty of these are closed by the strike, ten have signed 'closed shop' agreements with the unions, and the others are operating, but with reduced forces.

"Most factories provide lunches for their employees, so they do not have to go out at noon where pickeders are waiting for them. Some provide transportation for their workers to and from their homes. Police protection is furnished workers at some shops where complaints of picketing have been most serious."

CAR 'RACKET' PLOT CHARGED

Finance Companies' Complaints on Used Auto Repair Bills Has Sequel in Pair's Arrest

Startling details of a used car "racket" in which police say local insurance and finance companies have lost thousands of dollars in the last four years, were brought to light yesterday with the arrest of George McKee, 32 years of age, truck driver, of 1458 West Fifty-ninth street, and Paul Chipper, 27, proprietor of a garage at 468 West Slauson avenue, by Detective Lieutenants Swan and Ryan of the police bunko detail.

A used car would be purchased for a small sum of money, according to the detectives, and after being held until the second payment was due, it would be left in the garage of a man who was in the conspiracy. The purchasers would then vanish. Later the garage man would notify the finance and insurance companies that the car had been left for repairs and send a bill for an amount far above the worth or the second-hand purchase price of the machine.

In many cases, the detectives said, the finance companies would be forced to relinquish ownership rather than suffer the loss accruing through action to replevin the cars. For the last four years, the detectives stated, the system has been worked here but until recently they were unable to obtain evidence upon which to make an arrest.

POLICE OFFICERS DIFFER ON 'ACCIDENT' SHOOTING

Contrary to the statement of Douglas S. Kendall, manufacturer, that he had accidentally shot himself in the back of the left leg with a 22-caliber pistol during the course of a party at his home at 1750½ Wilcox avenue early yesterday morning, Detective Lieutenants Armstrong and Stevenson reported that absence of powder burns on Kendall's clothing indicated that the weapon was held by someone else.

Little credence was given to this report, however, by Acting Captain of Detectives Clark of the Hollywood division, who stated that, as far as he is concerned, the shooting was merely an accident and the case is closed.

Kendall, questioned by the detectives at the Hollywood Hospital where he had been removed immediately after the accident by Lloyd Hamilton, motion-picture comedian, declared, they said, that he and members of the party had been target shooting at a kitchen cupboard and that he accidentally fired the pistol as he held it behind his back.

Hamilton, who was one of the guests, said he had just stepped out of the kitchen when he heard the report of the gun. He at once had a near-by garage man drive Kendall to the hospital. When the detectives arrived at the Kendall residence the guests had left.

Miss Lee, it is asserted, then was employed to trap Walkup into a compromising situation and bring about his arrest and that following this the newspaper publicity would force him out of the Police Commission. Various cafe licenses and other matters against which Walkup voted as a member of the Police Commission, according to the report, resulted in the wish in certain quarters to remove him from the commission.

TAXI MAN HUNTED

From what the police already have learned Connor (Mike) Shawn, a checker for a local taxicab company, engaged Miss Lee at $5 per day and expenses to "work" on Walkup, but it is believed by the investigating officers that Shawn was in turn employed by some one else. Up to a late hour last night a police search for Shawn had failed.

The present investigation got under way a number of weeks ago when Commissioner Walkup notified Chief Taylor that he believed that an attempt was being made to "frame" him and the arrest of Miss Lee followed after police detectives had trailed the woman for days. Following the arrest Miss Lee admitted having been employed to "get" something on Walkup, but refused to give the authorities any details.

Mrs. Slayde Forer yesterday collapsed on the witness stand of Superior Judge Archbald's court, where her contested suit for divorce from Abraham M. Forer is on trial. She accuses her husband of cruelty, while Forer, a merchandise broker, asserts his wife was too friendly with other men.

At the time of her collapse Mrs. Forer was under cross-examination. She had asserted her husband had left her without money on one occasion. Attorney W. J. FATAL SHOOTING HELD ACCIDENT

Roy Kent Vividly Describes Death of Playmate

He Admits Taking Badge of Lifeless Companion

Juvenile Authorities will Make Further Inquiry

Whether 14-year-old Roy Kent will be held by juvenile authorities or allowed to return home probably will be decided today. It was after last night following a Coroner's jury's verdict that Kent shot and killed his playmate, Bruno De [illegible], accidentally last Wednesday afternoon in Kent's home at 911 East Seventy-seventh street.

The transcript of the Coroner's inquest will be placed before Superior Judge Blake, who will decide the boy's future.

Further investigation, however, will be carried on by Detective Sergeant's Fruitt and Savage into how Kent came into possession of the .32-caliber pistol, a flying helmet and goggles found yesterday in his home.

TELLS FULL STORY

Taking the stand to tell his version of the fatal shooting, young Kent recounted a vivid description of the affair—talked in a firm and unfaltering voice without hesitation.

"Bruno took my bicycle after school, went home to change his clothes and came back," the lad explained in answer to questioning by Deputy Coroner Monfort.

"Then I said, 'Let's go down and see if there's a billboards to a movie that we can go to tonight.'

"He said he would like to go, and then all of a sudden said, 'Have you got a gun.'

"I told him my father had one—that it was an automatic. I got it out of the closet where I had seen my father hide it about a month ago.

BULLET SEEN

"It was covered with vasoline. Bruno said he knew how to work it. You have to slide the top part back to cock it.

"Bruno told me if I would slide the top back a bullet would pop into place in the barrel.

"The gun was slippery and Bruno dropped the bottom while I pulled. He was about two feet away—you know, just like you would be standing to shoot.

"I pulled the top back and he looked into a hole in the side of the gun and said, 'See, there goes a place now.'

"Then it went off. Bruno looked at me and turned white. Then he walked through the front room and out the door. I didn't know whether he was shot or scared.

"I followed him out and he walked back and fell backward—unconscious. I ran over to him and called him. His eyes rolled back. I didn't know whether he was dead or not.

TAKES HIS BADGE

"Then I reached over and unpinned the traffic badge from his shirt. I had the gun in my left hand. There was blood on my right hand.

"I thought if I kept the badge the principal at school would make me a traffic captain.

"I went into the house and washed my hands and the badge. Then I cleaned the gun and put it away.

"I took the receiver off the hook and telephone the police and then got scared. I got on my bicycle and went down to the corner. When a police found me I didn't want to tell the truth because I thought they would arrest me."

Then the lad finished, dry-eyed and composed. But tears surfaced in both cheeks when he reached his home beside his mother, Mrs. W. Kent, who previously had testified that Roy and Bruno were pals, and that they had had no argument before that the automatic was loaded and fired, as described.

EARLIER SHOOTING

Frank De Maria, 16-year-old slayer of Bruno, declared to the jury that Roy had shot Bruno in the back with an airgun several months ago.

Mrs. Maria De Maria, the mother, told the jury she had been warned that Bruno associate with Roy. She could not recall any trouble the youngsters may have had.

Frank Riolo, 13, of 1008 East Seventh Place, and Jimmy Govoni, 10, of 1009 East Seventy-fourth Place, both school chums of Roy and Roy, told of finding the body, lying on an ash pile in the alley back of Kent's house. Lieutenant Stevens amplified their statements. Mamie China, 1007 East Eighty-third street, Bruno's sister, stated that the boy was born in Philadelphia, Pa. He was 13 years old.

Roy last night declared that Bruno had brought a nickel-plated revolver to him last July and asked him to keep it. This is the gun which police declare was burglarized along with some clothing, from the home of George Stewart, 356 East Seventy-sixth Place.

ADMITS TAKING HELMET

Mrs. Hunn, in her testimony, said she saw the two boys polishing the gun a few weeks ago. She took it away from them, filed off the firing pin so it would not shoot and told the jury the boys had stolen it, purchasing the gun and helmet from a mail-order house. Roy admitted taking the aviator's helmet from an airport, but said the goggles were given him by a pilot who used to take him for rides in a plane.

Officer Clark, attached to the police juvenile division, said his office had requested the boy in connection with the stolen helmet. Later he and Mrs. Hunn, through an interpreter, attempted to console Roy's weeping mother following the testimony of several other children, all of whom the carried in her home to this inquest, could only utter, "I am sorry—Bruno was a good boy."

PROJECT APPROVED

The City Council yesterday adopted the ordinance of intention for the improvement of streets in the Seventy-eighth street and Denker-ave district. The Council will receive protests against the project until [illegible].

FATAL SHOOTING HELD ACCIDENT

Fourteen-year-old Roy Kent, who is held by juvenile authorities pending a decision as to whether he will be allowed to return home probably will be decided today, it was learned last night following a Coroner's jury's verdict that Kent shot and killed his playmate, Bruno De Forer, accidentally last Wednesday afternoon in Kent's home at 911 North Twenty-seventh street.

The testimony of the Coroner's inquest will be placed before Superior Judge Blake, who will decide the boy's future.

The investigation, however, is carried on by Detective Sergeants Pruitt and Savage into how Kent came into possession of the pistol, a flying helmet and a badge found yesterday in his home.

BOY TELLS FULL STORY

Kent took the stand to tell his version of the fatal shooting, young Forer having related a vivid description of the tragedy earlier in the day without hesitation.

"Bruno took my bicycle after we went home to change his clothes and came back," the lad said in answer to questioning by Deputy Coroner Monfort.

"Then Let's go down and see Reuben Schaffer in the picture to see a movie that we had planned to tonight.'

"Bruno said he would like to go, and then all of a sudden said, 'Have you a gun.'

"I told him my father had one—a big automatic. I got it out of the closet where I had seen my father hide it about a month before.

BULLET SEEN

"The gun was covered with vaseline. Bruno said he knew how to work it. I have to slide the top part back to get it out.

"He asked me if I would slide it back a bullet would pop out in the barrel.

"The gun was slippery and Bruno dropped it on the bottom while I pulled. He was about two feet away—you know, how far you would be standing to do it.

"I pulled the top back and he put his finger in a hole in the side of the gun and said, 'See, there goes the bullet now.'

"Then it went off. Bruno looked at me and turned white. Then he walked through the front room and outside. I didn't know whether he was shot or scared.

"I followed him out and he walked around and fell backward—I guess he was dead. I ran over to him and called him. His eyes rolled back and I didn't know whether he was dead or not.

KEPT HIS BADGE

"I reached over and unpinned the traffic badge from his shirt. I had the gun in my left hand. There was blood on my right hand.

"I thought if I kept the badge I would be a special at school would make me the captain.

"I went into the house and washed my hands and the badge. Then I opened the gun and put the shells in it.

"I took the receiver off the hook and called the police and then hung up. I got on my bicycle and went home to the corner. When I got there I found me I didn't want to tell the truth because I thought they would arrest me."

Kent, the lad finished, dry-eyed and unemotional. But tears streamed down his cheeks when he reached the point where he told his mother, Mrs. W. Kent, who previously had testified that she and Bruno were pals, and that they had no argument before the automatic was loaded and discharged.

SHOOTING DESCRIBED

Mrs. Maria De Maria, 16-year-old sister of Bruno, declared to the jury that she had seen Bruno in the yard with an airgun several days before the shooting.

Mrs. De Maria, the mother, testified that she had been warned by Bruno not to associate with Kent, as he could not recall any time that the youngsters may have had a quarrel.

Kent, 13, of 1008 East Seventy-first Place, and Jimmy Gover, 11, of 1009 East Seventy-first Place, both school chums of the boy, told of finding Bruno lying on an ash pile in the back of Kent's house.

Lieutenant Stevens amplified statements. Mamie China, a sixty-third street, Bruno's sister, stated that the boy was born in Philadelphia, Pa. He was 11 years old.

Kent last night declared that he found a nickel-plated revolver the last July and asked Bruno to keep it. This is the gun which he declares was burglarized with some clothing, from the home of George Stewart, 856 West Sixty-fifth Place.

GIRL SAYS SHE SAW

Mrs. Ruth Hall, in her testimony, said that she saw the two boys polishing the gun a few weeks ago. She took it from them, filed off the firing pin so it would not shoot and returned it to the boys the next day and their money was refunded, purchasing the gun from a mail-order house.

Mrs. Hall said in taking the aviation badge from an airport, but the badges were given him by a friend who had promised to take him for a ride in a plane.

The badge, attached to the police division, said his officers, with the boy in connection with the stolen helmet.

Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Hunn, through an interpreter attempted to console the mother following the testimony. The Italian woman, with other children, had carried in her arms.

Kent, it is stated, could only utter "Bruno was a good boy."

Barometer of Business Rising, Says Grainger

Concrete facts and figures proving the increase in business in the amusement world during the last half-year were given yesterday by James R. Grainger, vice-president of the Fox Film Corporation, on his arrival from New York.

"Motion pictures are entering a more prosperous period than they have enjoyed in three years," he said. "The business of our own company during the last six months is 40 per cent more than during the previous six months. Since it has been a fact for years that the theater boxoffice accurately indicates the trend of prosperity, industry throughout the country should look to the approaching months with a smile."

PART OF AUTO LAW VOIDED

Loss of Operator License Because of Inability to Pay Judgment Held Discriminatory

Motorists deprived of operators' licenses because of their inability to satisfy money-damage judgments arising from automobile accidents are unfairly discriminated against by the California Motor Vehicle Act, according to a decision handed down yesterday by Division Two, District Court of Appeal.

The decision, written by Justice Schmidt, pro tem, and concurred in by Presiding Justice Works and Justice Thompson in a supplemental opinion, declares that subdivision (g) of Section 73 is unconstitutional. Inasmuch as there is no rule of procedure whereby the case, a misdemeanor, may be carried to a higher State court, the decision is final.

In arriving at its conclusion, the court was chiefly concerned with the injustice done the poor man by the provision of the automobile law. Justice Works observed: —

"A rich man, continually operating his car in a negligent manner and solely for pleasure, may offend again and again, may day by day rove the roads at an unlawful rate of speed, free from molestation even if successful judgments for damages be pronounced against him, while the poor man is deprived of the use of his car if he fails to pay a single judgment, even though he be ordinarily a careful driver.

"It seems to me," the justice continued, "that such things cannot be under the constitutional guaranties which protect rich and poor alike. The statute is constitutionally defective because it is operative unequally in so far as the question is concerned with which it assumes to deal, that is, the lessening of negligence."

The decision was handed down in the case of Lester Thomas Lindley, who applied for a writ of habeas corpus. Lindley was involved in an accident on February 16, 1929, as a result of which Julia Chavez filed an action for damages. The judgment became final November 26, 1929, and it was not satisfied and is still not satisfied. He was represented by Attorney Howard T. Mitchell.

On April 11, last, the Division of Motor Vehicles, by reason of provisions of Section 73 of the Motor Vehicle Act, suspended Lindley's license. On April 30, Lindley was arrested in Los Angeles for driving without a license. Tried in Municipal Court, he was sentenced to pay a $15 fine or to serve three days in jail. Unable to pay the fine, he was committed to the City Jail.

Justice Schmidt pointed out that the provision of the Motor Vehicle Act applied in the case makes the classification not one arising from the operation of the automobile but from the ability of the person to pay a judgment that may have been rendered against him. It is neither a natural nor an inclusive classification, he said.

"It is a well-known fact," Justice Schmidt's opinion continued, "that the present use of a motor vehicle is frequently he true source of a man's ability to earn a livelihood for himself and his family. To deprive him of this privilege unnecessarily is not a reasonable police regulation. . . . The classification provided for in subdivision (g) places an undue premium on the means to satisfy a judgment rather than upon the ability or care with which a person drives a motor vehicle."

The justice concluded that the provision is the taking of property without due process of law.

CONVICTION OF ROGERS OBTAINED

Ex-Sailor Acquitted in Costello Slaying Case Found Guilty of Robbery

Glenn A. Rogers, young ex-sailor who was acquitted last July on a charge of murdering Policeman James Costello, was found guilty on one of two charges of robbery by a jury in Superior Judge Tryon's court last night. He was found not guilty of the other charge. Both charges were based on hold-ups of Los Angeles Railway conductors. Date of passing sentence was not set, pending arguments on a motion for a new trial, which will be heard Wednesday morning.

Rogers sought to prove an alibi to the two robberies by introducing witnesses who testified in one instance that he was a dinner guest at their home at the hour of the asserted robbery and in the other that he was a guest at a fraternity dance at the Potrero Country Club.

Clifford Crail, deputy District Attorney prosecuting the case, however, produced testimony contradicting that of the Rogers witnesses. Among this was the testimony of Miss Roselyn McPhee, who at first testified she danced with Rogers at the Potrero Country Club on the night of December 7, last—when he was accused of robbing a Los Angeles Railway conductor.

A few hours later the girl resumed the witness stand and declared that her former statement was untrue and that she had not seen Rogers at the dance.

Electric Car Crashes into Load of Hay

More than thirty-five tons of baled hay were scattered along the right of way of the Pacific Electric Railway last night when one of the cars of the transportation company crashed into a truck and trailer loaded with the fodder. The accident was at the crossing at Van Nuys Boulevard and Sherman Way.

The impact sent the motorman, Clarence Kohlhoff, 35 years of age, 14630 Friar street, Van Nuys, through the glass front of the car. He was taken to the Van Nuys Hospital with a broken right leg and severe cuts. Neither the truck driver nor the seven passengers on the car were seriously injured.

Officer Neal of the Van Nuys police division, who investigated the crash, said the driver of the truck, J. F. Fenton, 2816 Orchard Place, South Gate, apparently drove his vehicle on the tracks without seeing the rapidly approaching car. Although thrown from his seat by the collision, Fenton was uninjured and the interurban passengers were only shaken. Every window in the car was shattered. No arrests were made.

Mrs. Gibson, 75 years of age, a native of California, had been in ill health for more than a year. She died at her home, 2305 Scarff street, last Thursday noon.

Besides her son she leaves a sister, Mrs. Carrie S. Green, who was present at the time of her death.

Rolph Arrives Here Via Air to Thank Friends

James Rolph, Jr., Mayor of San Francisco and Republican nominee for Governor, arrived in Los Angeles last night by plane for a twenty-four-hour visit.

"I just came down to personally thank my friends in Southern California for the splendid support they gave me in the primary election," he said. "Just a little thank-you trip, to call on my friends, with no speeches and no meetings."

The smiling San Francisco Mayor said that he will return to San Francisco tonight, on the midnight plane of the Pacific Air Transport.

NATIONALISTS GIVEN PRAISE

Senate Subcommittee Told of Conditions Overseas

Gift of Huge Air Fleet Urged to Put End to Banditry

Faith in the integrity of those at the head of the present Nationalist government in China was voiced yesterday by witnesses at the hearing before the subcommittee on Foreign Relations of the United States Senate, which is being conducted in the Chamber of Commerce rooms here. Senator Pittman of Nevada is chairman.

Various ways of giving help were proposed, from extending credit for the purchase of 1000 airplanes to wipe out banditry to that of disinterested advice and help in re-establishing China's markets through stabilization of currency.

Mrs. Bessie A. Ochs, head of a furniture importing concern with headquarters in this city and resident of China for many years, gave the committee at the afternoon session many interesting facts concerning her experience in that country.

WAR LORD QUOTED

"I have talked with one of the four war lords now in control and he told me he is positive there will be no difficulty in getting the various factions together if it is done quietly and in a manner that will be advisory rather than by the presentation of force," she told the committee.

"I think the present leaders in the Nationalist government are the most intelligent and unselfish in all China. I am convinced they are interested in their country rather than self.

"The credit of China is chaotic. Exchange has fallen off 20 per cent from last year at this time. Letters of credit simply are not being issued. The merchants and others who would buy of us simply do not have the money."

PLANE FLEET URGED

Thomas W. Simmons, president of Steel, Inc., a resident of China for six years, expressed the belief that the best thing that can be done will be to give the Nationalist government 1000 planes to wipe out banditry.

R. L. Hall, export manager of the Richfield Oil Company, said that India, with a great mass of silver currency, has in a measure been responsible for the fall in the price of silver in China and large amounts of this metal have been dumped into the country.

At the morning session Ernest B. Price, formerly in the American consular service in China and recently there as an agent for aircraft companies, said that foreign powers are faced with the alternative of helping China today or of intervening tomorrow. His plan for aiding China would enable the country largely to work out its own problems. A loan by treaty powers is one of the chief features of the plan.

Other members of the committee are Senators Swanson and Shipstead. Following the afternoon session yesterday hearings were adjourned until Monday.

Ruth Alexander Plans New Feat

Ruth Alexander, Southern California's schoolgirl aviatrix, holder of the women's altitude record, and who recently set up another record for women, with a three-flag nonstop flight from Vancouver, B. C., to Agua Caliente, Mex., in her low-wing Barling monoplane, is now going to fly from Agua Caliente to New York, starting next Monday morning, from the Agua Caliente Airport.

Miss Alexander will attempt the jump in a one-stop flight, landing at Wichita, Kan., which is about halfway, to refuel. Roosevelt Field Long Island, will be the terminus of her flight.

AUTOMOBILE KILLS VEGETABLE PEDDLER

Emilio Ruiz, 78-year-old vegetable peddler, of 1806 Pomeroy street, was almost instantly killed last night when he was knocked from his wagon by a passing automobile. His vehicle was struck by a car driven by Mrs. E. Holmes, 803 North Los Robles avenue, Pasadena, in front of the General Hospital, Mission Road, and although Ruiz was given almost immediate attention by surgeons at the hospital, he was dead when examined. Mrs. Holmes in a report to the Boyle Heights police said the vegetable wagon carried no lights and was not visible in the darkness. She was not held.

CAT SACRIFICES LIFE IN RESCUING MISTRESS

Accounts of dogs sacrificing their lives for their mistresses or masters are legion, but to Margaret—just an ordinary cat—goes the distinction of giving her life so that her mistress might live.

MISS BELL LONG

This was disclosed yesterday following a fire which destroyed the little home of Miss Bell Long, 53 years of age, a familiar figure at Sixth and Broadway, where crippled, she sits in her wheel chair each day selling newspapers.

"I was awakened about 9:30 p.m. last Tuesday when Margaret jumped on my bed, placed her paws around my neck and licked my cheek—issuing plaintive noises nearly human," Miss Bell declared.

"Margaret, I thought must be hungry, and I made my way toward the kitchen. I found most of the house in flame and had only time to escape before the flames raced into the bedroom.

"I thought Margaret would follow, but I suppose the fire engulfed her."

Miss Bell ordered a thorough search yesterday for remains of the cat—so that they can be placed in an animal cemetery.

WOMAN RECOVERING FROM POISON DOSE

Mrs. Anna Ebert, 23 years of age, 617 North Gage street, yesterday was recovering from the effects of poison she took the previous night after quarreling with her husband, John V. Ebert, according to a Sheriff's report. Following treatment at the Receiving Hospital Mrs. Ebert was permitted to go home.

Here are some lovely suggestions that are worth following through: When you are tired out after a morning spent in shopping, stop at any one of the Owl Drug Company's stores and have a delicious sundae or soda made with Mandalay "Coco-Hon-ee" . . . a perfectly delectable syrup made in old Manila, and possessing the true cocoanut flavor.

Then when the tea hour approaches go into Bullock's Tea Room and have a waffle with this same "Coco-Hon-ee" spread on it. Oh, but it will be good If you want to take some home or give some as a gift then go to Young's Market Company at Seventh and Union and get it in one of the alluring bamboo containers—all ready to mail if it's going out of town. If you have friends in Riverside, Mandalay "Coco-Hon-ee" may be found at the May Company, and at Scotty Campbell's Shop around the corner from the Mission Inn.

Crumb cake—Mix well the following ingredients: Two eggs, beaten until light; one cupful of sugar, one-half cupful of dry bread crumbs, one cupful each of chopped nuts and dates, one teaspoonful baking powder. Put into a shallow pan and bake in a slow oven three-quarters of an hour; cut into squares and serve with whipped cream.

Add to boiling rice a teaspoonful of lemon juice to each quart of water to help keep the grains separate and make them white.

Today I am going to give you a recipe for Grape Parfait and if you do not find it the best ever, I very much miss my guess! You must have on hand some Guasti Concentrated Grapejuice, so use it in this recipe and rejoice for its a most delectable dessert.

One and one-half cup water.

One cup whipping cream.

Boil concentrated grapejuice and water together until it measures one cup (about ten minutes.) Cool thoroughly. Whip cream stiff and fold in the cold grape syrup. Pour into trays and freeze for four or five hours. (Makes six portions.)

Friends who call informally will always appreciate a refreshing glass of Coco Cola, you know, so be sure to keep plenty on hand. Order it in the special home package which consists of a carton containing 12 bottles for only 50 cents at your grocers.

Don't be distressed when you break your silver-topped comb, for it can be replaced by Mr. Kent as at the Peerless Platers and Jewelers of 220 1-2 S. Spring St., (VAndike 5417.) Mr. Kent does all kinds of jewelry repairing as well as special designing of rings.

For damp or lumpy salt mix one ounce of magnesium carbonate to four pounds of salt; sift thoroughly before putting it away for use. Cornstarch or rice flour is also good; use one spoonful to any of salt.

Before cooking rice, grease the pan with butter, or put a piece of butter in the rice, and it will not stick.

Be sure to have some Fluff rugs made out of your old carpets this fall, won't you? Send for the Hoffman Rug Works of 2914 West Jefferson street, (EMpire 2048) when you are ready for they do splendid work at unusually modest prices. They make colonial rugs from rags, too.

To prevent odor when cooking cabbage cut the cabbage in halves or quarters, and, with a sharp knife remove the little curl or center of the cabbage. Most of the strength is in the bud, and if this is removed it will eliminate most of the unpleasant odor.

A combination of lemon juice, one teaspoonful, and olive oil, two teaspoonfuls, makes a delicious dressing for lettuce.

With labor, fortune comes to all; without labor, fortune comes to few.—[Proverb of India.

Add a teaspoonful of celery salt to the cracker crumbs to be used for frying oysters; it improves them greatly.

When the custard recipe calls for several eggs, one egg or more may be left out if one-half tablespoonful of cornstarch is added for each egg omitted.

HOLLAND'S FOES MEET REVERSAL

Efforts to Force Signing of Recall Petitions Fail as Court Makes Ruling

Efforts to compel City Clerk Dominguez to certify to the sufficiency of signatures on petitions asking an election to recall Councilman Charles A. Holland failed yesterday when Superior Judge Smith nonsuited the application of Earl Parker and others for a writ of mandamus. Dominguez had refused to certify the sufficiency of the petitions on the ground that fifty-seven circulators had failed to sign each page of the petitions, as required by law.

Deputy City Attorney Erwin moved for a nonsuit on the grounds that the law specifically states that the pages have to be signed by the petition circulator, and that as this was not done, Dominguez had no alternative but to reject the petitions. Judge Smith ruled that it was a close question but that he had to follow the law and grant a nonsuit.

NEW AIDES GRANTED FITTS

Supervisors Allow District Attorney Four More Employees on Showing of Necessity

Two additional deputy District Attorneys, one investigator and another stenographer were authorized yesterday by the Board of Supervisors for the office of Dist.-Atty. Fitts on motion of Supervisor Shaw. The action was taken following the receipt of a communication from the District Attorney asking for additional help, due to an increase in the work of his department of approximately 72 per cent, within the last year.

The new deputy District Attorneys will receive a salary of $250 a month, the investigator $4.50 a day and the stenographer from $130 to $140 a month. The names of those who will be added to the staff will be announced within a few days.

PRESENT EMPLOYEES

At present there are 150 employees in the office of the District Attorney. Of this number forty-nine are deputy District Attorneys. There are sixty-two investigators.

In his letter Fitts points out that on January 1, last, there were seventy-seven cases waiting trial in Superior Court. Three weeks ago, he declares, there were 475 cases waiting trial.

"The fact that a number of rather heavy cases, necessitating many weeks of trial, have been pending and are pending is one of the factors for this request," the letter says.

BUDGET LOWER

The District Attorney also calls the attention of the Board of Supervisors to the annual budgets of his office for a period of four years as follows:

1928-29	582,980
1929-30	569,797
1930-31	581,513

The figures show that while the volume of business in the office of the District Attorney has been increasing from year to year expenses during the last two years, Fitts's term of office, have been below previous years' requirements.

TRIP AUTHORIZED

A resolution authorizing Fred W. Wadsworth, county superintendent of parks and playgrounds, to attend the convention of the American Institute of Park Executives, has been adopted by the Board of Supervisors. The meeting will be held at St. Louis from the 20th inst. to October 2. The order also authorizes the county to attend the seventeenth national Recreation Congress at Atlantic City from October 6 to 11.

Producer Goes to Confer with Foreign Groups

J. G. Bachmann, associate producer at the Paramount Publix studios in Hollywood for the last three years, has resigned and will leave at once for New York to confer with the representatives of two European producing concerns.

"For several years I have watched the trend of European motion-picture production with interest," Bachmann said. "The advent of talking pictures has given this field new and unusual possibilities—both for the foreign language pictures and for productions made in Europe for American release."

Auto Ignites in Collision, Injuring Child

The automobile of Mrs. Hamilton Bee, 807 Ocean Front avenue, Venice, burst into flames last night after a collision with another car at Highland avenue and Beverly Boulevard. Mrs. Bee's 11-year-old daughter Virginia was cut and bruised. F. S. Mier, 246 South Mansfield avenue, driver of the other car, received a sprained back, he said.

Another crash at Forty-eighth street and Crenshaw Boulevard last night may result in the death of Peter Lowenbruck, 34 years of age, 1650 West Sixty-third street, Georgia-street Receiving Hospital surgeons reported.

AN ACTIVE CAMPAIGN

An Omaha legislator in listing his campaign activities mentions that he sang in three church choirs and went to ten dances. He should be what they call a social success.

WELL DRESSED

Our idea of a richly caparisoned dame is one who indulges in three sets of furs—for morning, afternoon and night. And they do have them right here where they seldom need any furs at all.

THE LONG WAIT

It is mentioned that this revolution in Argentina is the first the people have had in forty years. No wonder they were getting restless. The Argentineans are certainly entitled to a whirl once in a lifetime.

CONFIDENCE MAN

Said that John J. Raskob has loaned the Democratic National Committee another $40,000, making $190,000 in all. He must have a lot more confidence in the Democratic party than most folk have.

VOTING IN ALABAMA

There are said to be more than 1,250,000 persons in Alabama of voting age and yet the vote of the State is hardly ever over 250,000. It must be that some of the colored folks stay at home on election day. It might be said that the State has a Congressional representation heavier than its actual vote would entitle it to.

CAMELS BY AIR

The latest arrival in the zoo at Rome is a camel that was brought direct from the Sahara Desert by airplane. The camel is by nature a rather slow-moving animal and this critter must have been dumfounded by its flight. They are not really built to negotiate the air and when this one was passing over the Mediterranean it would have given a few wholesome grunts to be back on its sandy beat.

THE NEW IRELAND

The new Ireland is more temperate and better behaved than the old. There is more agriculture. There is more industry. Roads have been built. Transportation has been vastly bettered. Wonders have been wrought in sanitation. Yet those who visit the country say that the people do not look happy any more. The old-timers used to be a reckless set, but they seemed to have their laughs. Now they have grown serious. Such at least is the judgment of several writers who have recently visited the green isle.

BUSINESS MAN FOR GOVERNOR

In disposing of the Ferguson family Texas for the first time in its history has named a business man for Governor. The people have always had politicians and lawyers. But Ross Sterling is the publisher of the Houston Post and is known as a business man of superior abilities. The only office he has held is highway commissioner and in this he showed business activity rather than political acumen. It should be an interesting experiment for Texas, but there is no certainty that the people will like it. They rather enjoy seeing politicians at the capital.

BETTERING THE BOYS

Those who have indicated derision over New York City's campaigns to free the old town from noises, indecency and smoke will be surprised to note what is being accomplished. The Knickerbockers are growing good in their old age. Here is another example of their moral activities: The Bureau of Crime Prevention is going down into the slum districts—where there are any—and rounding up the neighborhood gangs of tough boys and turning them into industrial clubs having a purpose and organization. The youths are drilled in citizenship and they can be readily watched and directed. Already the results are said to be excellent. The boys are kept from alliance with the crime crews and are brought under wholesome influences. It sounds like good medicine.

ROOSEVELT ON PROHIBITION

Gov. Roosevelt of New York, frequently named, since the Smith debacle, as a possible Democratic national candidate in 1932, out-Smiths Smith in an antiprohibition pronouncement made as part of his campaign for a second term. He proposes an out-and-out repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and the substitution of State option and State "control" of the liquor traffic.

Gov. Roosevelt frankly admits that changes in or repeal of the Volstead Act would not accomplish the result he seeks, and thereby takes issue with Smith and other nullificationists who think they could legalize intoxicating liquor by saying it is not intoxicating. But he impales himself firmly on the other horn of the dilemma, which is that in all human probability the Eighteenth Amendment cannot be repealed.

Incidentally, Gov. Roosevelt is late in making up his mind. Though it has generally been assumed that he was wet, he successfully dodged saying so all during his 1928 campaign and all through his term as Governor up to the present. His delayed pronouncement is thereby given the aspect of one made strictly for political purposes.

It has repeatedly been pointed out that to change the Eighteenth Amendment requires the concurrence not only of two-thirds of both houses of Congress, but of thirty-six States, so that any thirteen could block repeal forever. Since the maximum number of States which have ever, by any sort of referendum or what could be interpreted as a referendum, expressed an opinion adverse to prohibition is seven—and this includes California's vote of 1920, which since has been reversed overwhelmingly—the repeal faction is at least thirty States short, assuming that all six of the States counted on for repeal stand hitched.

Aside from this point, Gov. Roosevelt's program is not attractive. It is the old time-tried and time-rejected scheme of local and State option with certain restrictions such as "no saloons" and with Federal assistance for prohibition enforcement in the States that desire to retain prohibition. On the question of saloons, it is plain that if liquor is to be sold at all it may as well be sold in saloons. Any place that sold liquor would soon come to resemble a saloon in all objectionable particulars.

The blind pig and the speakeasy would grow up alongside of the licensed liquor stores and society would have to deal with the problem of legal and illegal liquor sale, instead of only illegal sale as at present.

The plan of having some States dry and some wet does not work either. It has been tried. The wet States inevitably leak in all directions. In addition to the national boundary, which must now be guarded against smuggling, all the State boundaries would have to be guarded also against smuggling, multiplying the problem several hundred times. City and village local option, proposed by Roosevelt for wet States, is not effective for the same reasons; the plan merely extends the area of trouble.

Gov. Roosevelt may get votes in wet New York by his proposal, and that presumably is his object, but it does not establish him as a national statesman nor forward the probability of his 1932 nomination.

TWO INSPIRING LIVES

In the morning hours of the same September day two of California's best loved and most famous native daughters passed on to their final reward, leaving behind them a record of good works and kindly deeds which will long be remembered and cherished in their city and their State. A whole community today mourns the loss of Mrs. Frank A. Gibson and Lenora Rudecinda Florencita Sepulveda de Dodson, both members of historic Southwest families and both known far and wide for their unselfish service and philanthropic enterprises.

The mother of Hugh S. Gibson needs not the international repute won by her brilliant son to keep her memory green in the city where she gave him birth. She would have necessarily been honored in high circles as the mother of so illustrious a diplomat. Not for this, however, but for the leading part she took herself in all movements for the betterment of humanity and the relief of the suffering, is a city, a State, a nation, sorrowfully laying a wreath of laurel on her last resting place.

She was especially the friend of women. From the early days when she took up teaching in the schools of Santa Clara Valley, through a long life as wife and mother in her chosen city of Los Angeles, she was untiring in her educational work for the political, social and moral uplift of American womanhood. That he owes much of his success in his own enlarged sphere of national influence to the training, the example and the love of his mother, Hugh Gibson himself would be the first to affirm.

Lenora de Dodson, who passed away at almost the same age and within a few hours of the American Ambassador's mother, was a representative of one of our oldest and most honored Spanish families whose traditions are irrevocably entwined with the Southwest's stirring history. The name of Sepulveda will always have high mention in the record of deeds of the patriots and pioneers, gathered from the romantic past while our present Los Angeles was still in the building. But as with Mrs. Gibson, so with Senora de Dodson, a life devoted to benefiting her fellow-beings and filled with sympathy and help for all who came to her in times of trouble has given her a place in the affection of our citizens family and tradition could never have won for her.

SCOFIELD IS REMOVED

Mayor Porter's removal of Commissioner Scofield from the Water and Power Board has been sustained by the City Council. The action gives the Mayor what he has asked for, control of this important city department, and with it responsibility for that department's actions. If Commissioner Scofield is replaced by the right sort of man, disposed to view the realities of the situation broadly and with nothing but the city's best interests in mind, the Water and Power Department should function from now on as it was intended to do.

The difficulty with Scofield was that he considered aggrandisement of the Power Bureau, with consequent neglect of the Water Bureau, as his duty. It is no reflection on his sincerity to say that this is a mistaken position. Water supply is the really important matter, power is subsidiary and collateral. Scofield helped to block a reorganization of the department which would have placed its two functions in their proper relation and so genuinely endangered both.

If public confidence is to be restored to this municipal enterprise, it can only be done by business management. This the Mayor is now in a position to obtain.

SHADES OF NOAH

An aviator landed on Mt. Ararat a few days ago and had his eyes gouged out and his machine torn to shreds by the incensed inhabitants. Noah managed matters much better. He took along a dove and an olive branch and sent them out first to test the feeling of the home folks.

BELATED DISCOVERY
By James J. Montague

When winter breathes defiance
And blizzards rage and rare
It's nice to know that science
May soon mine coal from air.
This means of coining money
Was quite unknown of yore,
Yet it strikes me as funny
It's not been done before.

For in the swarming city
Where clouds from chimneys roll
The atmosphere is gritty
With particles of coal.
It smudges homes and churches,
With black and grimy smears,
Continually it smirches
Your hands and nose and ears.

Whatever your vocation
Or calling or pursuit,
With every respiration
Your lungs fill up with soot.
And when in bleak Decembers
The driving snow comes back,
The flakes, like burnt-out embers,
Paint all the pavements black.

And so, with little wonder,
I learn the science means
To rend the air asunder
For fuel for machines,
Because in sun or shower
The atmosphere around
Contains more food for power
Than hides beneath the ground.

THE theory that orientals cannot be Americanized does not hold water.

The other day friends of ours employed a Japanese woman for domestic service. They, like most of us, had the idea that among the Japanese the man is ruler and the woman obeys.

A couple of days after the domestic had gone to work a Japanese man came to the back door of the house and knocked gently. The woman looked out and saw him.

"Get out of here, you yellow son-of-a-gun," she ordered, "or I'll knock your block off."

The man of the house, thinking some intruder was annoying their efficient new employee, stepped out. "Who was that fellow?" he asked, pointing to the swiftly vanishing man.

"Only my husband," replied the woman as she reached under the kitchen table to crack off her chewing gum.

Workers in Glass Houses

Bottles, bottles everywhere, and not a drop to drink.

Yesterday we visited the Illinois Pacific Coast Company's plant at 3101 Fruitland Road, to have our eyes opened and our nose blistered. There, in a furnace which is held to 2600 deg. Fahrenheit, about sixty tons of glass a day is made into bottles.

Los Angeles is becoming such an important market for bottles that last year the Illinois Pacific Glass Corporation of San Francisco opened a branch here which threatens to outgrow the parent concern. The Pacific Coast Glass Company already was operating here, and now the two have merged into the Illinois Pacific Coast Company with two Los Angeles plants busy all the time, besides the big San Francisco plant.

When you break your milk bottles and hide the shells you think you are fooling the milkman, but the milkman knows. He knows because he and other milkmen have to organize a service company to buy for all of them which has a standing order for 40,000 gross of milk bottles a year, or 5,760,000 bottles.

Gallon jugs are another staple product. For some reason there has been an amazing and steady demand for gallon jugs lately. And 100 different kinds of bottles are made to order. Any kind of bottle and any color can be made.

Exit Glass Blowers

Though California has more miles of seacoast than has any other State except Florida, the sand for these glass factories is brought from sand banks in the Scheidt River in Belgium.

An interesting thing about these factories is that no glass blowers are employed. The molten glass is flowed into the molding machines, the precise amount needed being cut off by machinery much more accurately than human judgment could guess it and compressed air blows it into the molds. From the molds, conveyors take the red-hot bottles into annealing compartments, where they are cooled gradually. Were they set out in the air before they are annealed, or "set," they would fly to pieces.

The Advantages of Youth

One reason why Los Angeles is growing rapidly in world importance as a manufacturing center is that all the big plants here are new and equipped with the latest and most modern equipment. Recently a group of glass manufacturers from the East visited this new plant and saw equipment they could hardly understand, it was so much more advanced than what they were using.

Where Every Workman Is an Artist

To make a complete glass day of it, we next visited the Los Angeles Art Glass Company plant at 6000 South Gramercy Place and learned that stained-glass windows costing as much as $10,000 apiece are being made here. In the office of Earl H Gilbert, secretary-treasurer, we saw a panel about five feet tall and two feet broad which has taken prizes at numerous exhibitions and which numerous people have tried to buy. But the man who designed it is dead and the company treasures it for sentimental reasons.

In this plant every worker is an artist and stained-glass windows are made which not only beautify churches and homes all along the West Coast, but often are ordered for distant places. The company has placed windows in Detroit, Columbus, Bangor, Me., and other eastern cities and the other day a delegation came in to order one for India.

Secrets Still Guarded

The secret art of staining glass, Gilbert told us, has been guarded for centuries. Italy first perfected it, but there it was a secret of the church and it was intended that stained glass should be used only in churches. France next became a stained-glass center, but there, also, the secrets of manufacture were guarded. English craftsmen next learned the art, and they have been more liberal, so that now England ranks above all other countries in the production of stained glass and an Englishman is the highest authority on it. One of the men in this Los Angeles factory worked and studied for twenty-two years under that Englishman and there are two other English artisans in the plant. Still, the factory has to buy all its glass in Europe, especially in England, though a good deal comes from France, Germany and Czecho-Slovakia. But these local artists can build that glass into windows of surpassing beauty. Give them a beautiful picture for a pattern and they can produce a window in which the picture is far more beautiful because the light shining through it illuminates it as no canvas or drawing can be illuminated.

Not only churches but numerous offices and homes are beautified with stained glass now. Lon Chaney was putting several windows in the lovely home he never got to occupy. Lee Phillips and some of our oil barons have stained-glass windows in their offices. Our "cathedrals of commerce" may yet outshine the cathedrals of Europe in art-glass windows.

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

MAKING GOOD CITIZENS
[Baltimore Sun.]

To Prof. Harry M. Dengler of Mr. Woodcock's training school for prohibition agents must be given credit, despite his modest denials, for the idea that boys be used as snoopers in the apprehension of bootleggers and their ilk. Mr. Dengler's lessons take note of the fact that boys at play near a suspected residence would attract less attention than an adult snooper, but we suspect that, deep down in his heart, the supervisor has a higher, nobler purpose—which may be upset by Director Woodcock, although one doubts his power to check the genius of his force.

All of us want the boy of today to have the best training, education and experience so that he may be truly, as the philosopher has said, the father of the man. Mr. Dengler, recognizing that in America we have at last achieved a state of society akin to that of the fleas which have smaller fleas to bite 'em, and so, ad infinitum, merely suggests that America give the boy a chance. As a man he will be expected to go about planting dictaphones here and there; as radical agitator, employers' confidential man, Senate investigator, agent of political candidates, patriotic seeker after truth, soviet spy, dry sleuth, or what not. Shall he be handicapped because his parents and teachers have been foolish enough to teach him that he must be an honest, fearless, frank little man who looks people straight in the eye?

With the young Communists supposedly learning how to handle the time bomb, the Boy Scouts achieving mastery of the rifle, and Mr. Dengler's charges learning how to plant a dictaphone and, while playing a game of one old cat, to spot a bootlegger, the manhood of the future certainly will be able to put on a show.

101 AND NO ADVICE TO GIVE
[New York Evening Post.]

The record for longevity has been broken by Thomas J. Barley of Lakewood, N. J. Mr. Barley may not be the oldest person who has ever lived—he is only 101—but he holds the record for longevity, nevertheless. Of all the men and women who have attained great age he is the only one who has not had a formula or a set of rules explaining how he managed to live so long and how anybody else could do the same.

UNDER THE SOUTHERN CROSS

I

BY FRED HOGUE

"I met two men on the King's highway,
And each was bewailing his lot;
The one because he had buried his wife,
The other because he had not."

These lines have been running through my mind during the last ten days, as I have read cables from South America, under the Southern Cross. Two Presidents have been deposed and imprisoned; the one on the pretext that he was too friendly to the United States; the other because he was not.

After forty years of comparative peace and prosperity the Argentine Republic has joined the ranks of the states where government by arms has prevailed over a government of laws.

Hipolito Yrigoyen, elected President in 1928 for a six-year term, has been deposed and imprisoned by a military junta. Free speech, free press and the right of peaceful assemblage have been suspended. The heads of the army and navy have abrogated to themselves all the functions of civil government. To support a government elected by the people and to oppose the military junta is now a capital offense in Argentina.

It may be true that the Argentinians made a mistake in electing Yrigoyen to the Presidency. It may be true that he was a demagogue who encroached on the other branches of the Federal government. It may be true that the prosperity of the state was threatened by his radical tendencies. But, after forty years of peaceful government by those selected by the people to rule over them, it is doubtful whether the sturdy sons of the Argentine will accept without protest the military rule of self-selected dictators.

I know the Argentine people from personal contact. I know their ancestry, their history, their legends and something of their patriotic spirit. The Latin blood predominates and the main stems are Spanish and Italian. Argentina, like our own country, is a melting pot; but, while most of our immigrants came from the north of Europe, most of those migrating to the Argentine came from the south of Europe. There has been little mixing with the Indian blood, as in Mexico. The Indians who once populated the territory now embraced in the Argentine Republic were simply exterminated.

The Argentinians have all the pride of race and nationality of the Latin peoples. They are passionate in their loves and in their hates and they would yield readily to the domination of a Caesar, provided he could bring them foreign conquests.

They have made of Buenos Aires, their capital city, a veritable city beautiful. In population it is third in the two Americas, surpassed only by New York and Chicago. In structural, architectural and scenic beauty, it is perhaps the first. Rio de Janeiro will contest this affirmation; for Rio has one of the loveliest national settings of the cities of the world. The Bay of Rio has been called the most glorious on the shores of the seven seas; but the new Spanish-Italian race in the Argentine has gone farther, in my estimation, in making their capital a city beautiful than the Brazilian-Portuguese in Rio de Janeiro.

During the last forty years, a period of unbroken peace, the Argentinians have builded an agricultural and commercial empire in South America after the model of our own country. There has been protection for life and property of all nationals. Revolutions that swept other Central American and South American republics left Argentina unscathed. While Catholicism was the state religion—there is a provision in the Federal Constitution that only a member of the Catholic church can qualify for the Presidency—there has been no religious persecution.

The soil of the Argentine is fertile and the climate propitious to agriculture. The great Argentine plains are green with lush grass the year 'round; for rain falls in every season and the winters are so mild that the pastures are ever green. Dry feeding, cutting hay for feed, is practically unknown. A calf born in a pasture remains there until it is ready for the market.

For 100 years the Argentinians have been successful husbandmen. On the La Plata River inland from Buenos Aires is the second grain shipping port of the world. Wheat, cattle and hides form the bulk of the exports of the Argentine, which total more than $1,000,000,000 annually. When one considers that the population of not more than 10,000,000 is exporting nearly $1,000,000,000 of agricultural products every year, one begins to understand why the wealth of the Argentine is increasing so rapidly. Its exports exceed its imports by about $200,000,000 each year.

The La Plata River is to the Argentine what the Mississippi is to the Middle West; and the harbor of Buenos Aires is the finest in South America.

Like our own port of Los Angeles, it is a man-made harbor. When I visited it in 1928 I counted the flags of twenty nations in the port and on the broad breast of the La Plata.

Buenos Aires rises a city of marble and gold, of turrets and domes, from the low shores of the La Plata about 100 miles from the mouth of the stream, which is here an estuary rather than a river.

On the muddy banks of this estuary a great metropolis has been builded and populated within the space of a century. It stands as a monument to the initiative and the industry of the natives of Argentina.

The source of all that wealth is wheat and beef. The wealth of Buenos Aires is the wealth of its great agricultural hinterland.

One naturally wonders why a people who have prospered so marvelously under a republican form of government should become so discontented with themselves and their government as to permit it to pass almost without bloodshed under the control of a military dictator. But it must be remembered that the choice became one of a demagogue, although of the people's own choosing, who was making secret alliances with radicalism and Socialism, and a military dictatorship composed of men whose patriotism was unquestioned, men who could be trusted to give a better protection to life and property than Yrigoyen.

The revolt was in the nature of a Fascist revolt. Radicals and Communists will fare no better in the Argentine under the present government than in Italy under Mussolini.

Gen. Uriburu, head of the military bund that overthrew the Yrigoyen administration, has taken the oath of office to support the constitution of Argentina and, after the government and courts have been purged of radicals, to call a general election for chosing a new President and Vice-President.

His policies, as announced in an interview granted to the Associated Press, are conservative, without being reactionary. He has pledged himself to participate whole-heartedly in the program of the Pan-American Union; and has expressed a desire for a closer co-operation with the government and people of the United States.

Yrigoyen prepared for his own overthrow by a foreign policy of nonco-operation. He withdrew the Argentine Ambassador from Washington and in the Pan-American conferences the Argentine delegates, named by Yrigoyen, were always troublemakers.

I was in Buenos Aires in 1928 only a few weeks after he had taken office. I was surprised to find the Argentinians themselves with whom I conversed taking a gloomy outlook on the political future of their country. The radical elements were overjoyed at Yrigoyen's election. A Communist group had arrived from Moscow and there was open talk of the sovietizing of the Argentine.

Several strikes had already started, preparing for the general strike which was to mark the overthrow of constitutional government. There was severe rioting in the city of Buenos Aires at that time and some property was destroyed.

In talking with members of the Argentine Congress, they told me of a defensive league which had been formed for the purpose of protecting life and property, in case the Yrigoyen government failed to enforce the laws against violence in disputes between employers and employees.

In reading the names of the new cabinet ministers I find some of the conservative group that was preparing two years ago to protect the country against mob violence and radical sabotage. The surprise to me was that Yrigoyen could ever have been elected.

I was at that time a member of a party of Californians and Hawaiians making a good-will tour about South America. In Lima, Peru we were cordially received by Dr. Leguia, President of the republic. In Santiago, Chile, our reception was also cordial, the President granting us an interview. But, in Buenos Aires, President Yrigoyen and the members of his official family declined to take the slightest notice of us. The attitude was that of thinly veiled hostility; and we were told that it was because our government was too prone to interfere in the governmental and commercial affairs of the South American republics.

I was then told that the Conservative members of Congress could not even secure admission to the President to discuss with him affairs of state, but that he was always ready to receive the radical leaders. He was then accused of seeking secretly to fill all the high positions in the army and navy with officers who would place loyalty to their chief before loyalty to the constitution. Some pretended to believe that he was planning to make himself military dictator and to organize his government on radical lines.

I paid little attention to these rumors at the time, for I regarded it the same class as the small table talk one hears in political and diplomatic circles in every capital.

However, the events of the last ten days attest that the fire of revolt then smouldering has since burst into a flame.

Sincere friends of republican institutions must be wary of placing their trust in a dictator who takes an oath of office in the evening to support the constitution which he flagrantly violated that morning.

From this distance, there is something depressing in the September revolt in Argentina. For a generation Argentina has been the best governed of the republics to the south of us. It has offered an example to other states of the popularity and the success of government under republican institutions. But the Argentinians have apparently grown weary of well doing. They have revolted against their own material prosperity; although it is plainly their belief that their material prosperity will be enhanced by a change from a government founded on the consent of the governed to a military dictatorship.

In the last war Americans remained neutral as long as possible. So their attitude toward this war between the law and bandits isn't surprising.

Then, too, the number of bandits seem to have no work can be reduced by discouraging the practice of spending $300,000 for a Senate seat.

CHEAP FAME

The sort of fame that's rightly earned is hardly worth a red's head is turned when thinking he will cut much ice. He hopes to be the central theme of conversation everywhere, and so he tries to find a scheme, that he may have some fame to spare. To be notorious, in fact, he'll lose an arm or break a leg, and dare the angry cataract imprisoned in a wooden keg. Or we may put him in a tree, where he will sit six months or five, and men will marvel much to see, that such as this, he is alive. Or he will strive to eat more pies than any man has chewed before, and will eat them till he dies in throes and spasms on the floor. All sorts of crazy schemes and plans, resembling no sane, normal game, are being tried by also-rans in their desire to gain ner fame. And some of them may know, perchance, a little day; but soon their pomp and circumstance like morning dew will pass away. It is a frightful punishment to see your hard-earned fame decline, and know it was never worth a cent, e'en when at most inclined to shine. It is disgusting to the freak who's striven hard to gain renown, but he's forgotten in a week. Unhaply ere the sun goes down. It's better far to be obscure, to be unknown, outside the block, than have a fame that won't endure for fifteen minutes by the clock. For when your little fame is spent and you get back to where you belong, you have a lasting discontent; you find the universe is wrong.

With the dawn of September 13, Panamas and straws are discarded, and this year the fashion experts are offering the widest variety of felts they have attempted in some seasons.

Higher crowns predominate, with broad bands, many colors, and combinations of roll and snap brims which the experts predict will prove unusually popular.

ARTHUR DENIES WILL INFLUENCE

Did Not Urge Mrs. McAdams to Make Gifts, He Says

Tells Belief Testatrix Was of Sound Mind

Denial that he urged Mrs. Catherine M. McAdams to will property to Evangelist Aimee McPherson or to himself was made late yesterday by Rev. Joseph W. Arthur of Angelus Temple, testifying at the trial of the will contest in Superior Judge Allen's court. Arthur was named executor by Mrs. McAdams, whose uncle, James E. McKeand, and whose cousin, Mrs. Marion E. McCabe, are contesting and are asserting the testatrix was of unsound mind. The case was submitted on briefs at the close of yesterday's session.

Under cross-examination yesterday, Arthur stated his belief that Mrs. McAdams was of sound mind until her final coma a week before her death December 5, 1929. He testified that, until Mrs. McAdams called him in and handed him her will, he had not known she had bequeathed the bulk of her property to Angelus Temple organizations.

The Temple chief elder denied he had been threatened with arrest for attempting to interfere with the stretcher bearers removing Mrs. McAdams to her home on one occasion. This was in rebuttal of testimony by Abe Shapiro, who said Mrs. McAdams collapsed on an Echo Park-avenue lawn during a purported miracle healing demonstration. Shapiro said neighbors called an ambulance and that Arthur tried to interfere until threatened with arrest. Arthur said yesterday he aided the police instead of hindering.

Judge Allen questioned Arthur about his accepting $5000 from Mrs. McAdams for a fund to aid Temple students. The judge asked why Arthur did not remind Mrs. McAdams that she was sick and ought to have outside advice in making such a donation. Arthur admitted he supposed he should have done so.

"You were working for the church benefited?" said the judge.

"Yes, I was working for the church," replied Arthur.

BERENZWEIG TRIAL AGAIN POSTPONED

Judge Wood Refers Case Back to Judge Schauer as He Denies Dismissal

Trial of Max Berenzweig, former police dry squad investigator, yesterday was continued for the fifth time in Superior Court when it was called for trial.

The case was put before Superior Judge Wood to rule on a motion of Dep. Dist.-Atty. Veitch asking for dismissal of the case so that it might be referred back to the grand jury. Judge Wood declined to accept responsibility for such a ruling and referred the matter back to Superior Judge Schauer's court, where it will come up for decision Monday.

Berenzweig is accused of giving perjured testimony in behalf of a friend in December, 1928, at a liquor case trial. The testimony resulted in the acquittal of John Barr.

Since Berenzweig was indicted, officers have sought the principal witnesses in the case without avail. Consequently, the District Attorney on numerous occasions has asked that the case be deferred.

Nine persons were indicted in true bills returned yesterday by the newly sworn Federal grand jury. Two indictments involved illegal possession of government coins and forgery of government compensation checks.

Two other charges brought are for violation of the Dyer Act in interstate transporting a stolen automobile. Two other indictments charged violations of the immigration act.

REVIVAL SEEN IN GOLD MINING

Senator Pittman Points to World Shortage of Ore

Believes California Camps will be Active Again

Rivalry Between Nations Held to be Cause

Credit of the world is threatened by a shortage of gold and by England's desperate attempt to get enough of the yellow metal to stabilize the silver currency of that country, according to Senator Pittman of Nevada, considered an authority on gold and gold and silver mining.

That California, Nevada and other western States shortly will see a substantial revival of gold mining is Senator Pittman's belief. He declared that most of the gold supply which had been coming from South Africa will shortly be shut off, as the mines are playing out, and are getting too deep to mine profitably.

"I notice the old California and Nevada mines long abandoned are being worked again," he said. "It is the logical thing to do and I would not be surprised to see the old dumps worked over carefully and many of the abandoned mining towns again take on life and prosperity as the gold shortage becomes more noticeable.

GOLD DECREASING

"The production of the world gold supply is decreasing steadily. The finances of the world are based on this yellow metal and there are grounds for uneasiness as to credit and voiced by such economists as Prof. Fisher of Yale and others. They hold that credit is being strained.

"There is a tremendous rivalry now between governments to obtain possession of gold. The United States now has nearly half the world supply, while France through various expediences has acquired about a quarter of the gold of the world. England has about one-tenth of the world gold and the balance is divided among other nations.

"England, in her effort to get gold to sustain her gold-basis currency in India, has been melting up and sacrificing great quantities of silver coin and dumping the silver on the world markets in conflict with silver from the mines and from normal sources. This has broken the value of silver, which is the only measure of wealth and money of more than half the population of the world. The result has been that through England's effort to get gold for India she has depressed the value of nearly one-half the wealth of the world, and the purchasing power of such silver-using countries as China, India, Russia, Mexico and South America. This is true of a country—gold standard or not—because with nothing but silver to buy with, the fiction of a gold standard will not alter the situation.

FUTURE GOLD SUPPLY

"A great many economists today believe that it is an error to attempt to place a greater burden on gold while at the same time they disturb the credit value of silver."

Much of the future gold supply will have to come from Australia, California and neighboring States, and Alaska, he said.

"I hope that gold mining in California and Nevada will come into its own again," he said, "and I believe it will."

DENNY WINS ROLE IN "KIKI"

Warners Announce Plans for "Dawn Patrol" Sequel; Gavin Gordon Cast in M.-G.-M. Picture; Laura La Plante Goes East

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

When once an actor starts up that ephemeral trail to glittering success in Hollywood, there seems no stopping him. Movieland loves good fortune and heaps it up.

REGINALD DENNY

Now the story is that Reginald Denny, who has staged one of the most amazing comebacks in films in the past few months, is slated to be Mary Pickford's leading man in "Kiki."

A few months ago, it was said, that Denny was about through in pictures. A series of unhappy program films in which his gifts as an excellent and delightful light comedian were buried had done the dire work. Then Denny played in an independent talkie. He was good. Cecil B. De Mille sent for him to play in "Madam Satan." And the word drifted out that the Denny lad was an excellent bet.

The role opposite Mary Pickford in "Kiki" should be ideal for the Englishman. The Pickford production will not, as in the Norma Talmadge silent version, have a parisian locale. Scenes will be laid in New York.

Production is scheduled to start on the United Artists lot on October 5. Sam Taylor, now working on story preparation, will direct.

"Dawn Patrol" Sequel

Still they come.

Yesterday it was Warner Brothers' studio which was to make a big aviation film. Today it's First National with a sequel to "The Dawn Patrol."

HOWARD HAWKS

Coincident with the signing anew of John Monk Saunders, writer, and Howard Hawks, director, to new long-term First National contracts, came official announcement that the two are now preparing a new air film to put into production by November or earlier. Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., will star. Thus, First National will beat Warner Brothers, its big brother studio, into the field by at least two months.

I went checking up on the air pictures yesterday. Fox has one coming, "Squadrons," from an Elliott White Springs story. Columbia is working at a fast and furious pace on "Dirigible," the Zeppelin film. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, R.-K.-O, Universal and Paramount deny they have any in the offing. But there's "Hell's Angels," "The Sky Hawk" and "The Dawn Patrol" already out on the circuits. Which makes a grand total of seven of a kind within a very few months' release date of one another.

Gavin Gordon Cast

Gavin Gordon, the tall, dark chap who was Greta Garbo's leading man in "Romance," is continuing work on the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer lot.

GAVIN GORDON

Yesterday came word that he was to don make-up for the role of Muir in "The Great Meadow," the Kentucky mountain film which the studio is doing. Gordon used to play leading roles on the Los Angeles stage.

Trinkets Recovered

A very distasteful task awaits Laura La Plante in Chicago, to which she took a train last night. She is going to collect some odds and ends of jewelry which were stolen from her a short time ago and recently recovered by the police. Nothing very much, just a diamond bracelet, a diamond bar pin, an emerald and diamond pin, an onyx jade bar pin, and a couple of diamond rings, await her identification. Laura feels so badly about it that with her mother she is going on to New York to see some new plays and see if she can forget her sorrow.

About the Lots

Universal has sent to Argentina for an actress named Amelia Senisterra to play the Mary Duncan role in the Spanish version of "The Boudoir Diplomat." Miss Senisterra is supposed to be a very fine Spanish-American performer who just completed a season in Buenos Aires . . . Joe Frisco, he of the big cigar and the brown derby, who had the role of Garrity in "The Gorilla" for First National, departed yesterday for New York. He will come back in the spring . . . "The Pay Off" has been selected as the final title of the R.-K.-O. picture, "Losing Game." This is the film that Lowell Sherman directed . . . Ivan Lebedeff, handsome young Russian who is seen about pretty much in Hollywood, left last night for a European vacation. He plans first to go to Paris and then later to London, where he will make personal appearances in connection with R.-K.-O. pictures showing there.

GLORIA GOES "CONTINENTAL"

"What a Widow!" Surprises Film Patrons

United Artists Houses New Frisky Farce

Breakneck Pace Maintained Throughout

BY PHILIP K. SCHEUER

The sound screen has produced no stranger anomaly than "What a Widow!" the new picture at United Artists Theater. It was run off there several times yesterday, to the mingled surprise, consternation and even delight of audiences who had gathered to see one of their favorite stars—Miss Gloria Swanson. Yet "What a Widow!" is so different from anything in which she (or anybody else) has appeared that one frequently suspected that Miss Gloria Swanson was doing nothing so much as what a Britisher might have described as pulling our leg.

Fantastic farce, I suppose, comes as close as possible to a category for "What a Widow!"—which, like its title, suggests almost anything. And that, in short, is exactly what the film is.

Resembling, in its farcical aspects, one of those comedies with music which Irene Bordoni used to ornament from season to season, the current production boasts a tempo that might well be studied to advantage by most movie makers. So often, indeed, does it bubble over that the wonder of it is the screen is able to contain it. And literally there is so much drinking that I wouldn't have been more amazed if the aisles had suddenly run champagne, the organ turned into a bar.

As Tammy, the widow with a $5,000,000 inheritance, Miss Swanson is allowed to riot all over the continent, her entourage consisting of most of the eligible—and ineligible—males in Europe. Principal among these are Owen Moore, as a prosperous lawyer; Lew Cody, as a nonstop drinker and mumbler, and Gregory Gaye and Herbert Bragiotti as two fire-eaters from Russia and Spain, respectively. Here is a battle of accents to try your mettle!

As a matter of fact, a good half of the dialogue in "What a Widow!" is unintelligible, partly because of the accents, but mostly because none of the cast ever stops talking. If there is no one around to listen, they talk to themselves. Simple, when you get the hang of it; and besides, it really doesn't matter very much. One of the odd things about this photoplay is that you would be perfectly able to appreciate what was going on even if you heard nothing at all.

Despite its peculiarities, "What a Widow!" should prove at least moderately successful. It is a "matinee picture," one in which women will find much to beguile them. Principally for the reason that it provides a vicarious adventure for all potential widows, and also because it has been dazzlingly mounted and luxuriously dressed, it should be popular with a majority. But mere man, I fear will be bored.

Miss Swanson, vacillating between vivacity and coyness, emerges with a voice that is curiously high and staccato. Her performance strains determinedly at times for effect, but she has not lost the essential glamour that has always been hers. She sings three songs by Vincent Youmans—"You're the One," after the manner of Raquel Meller, "Love is Like That" and "Say Oui, Cheri"—which are more musicianly than most of the type.

The supporting cast is all right, Lew Cody deserving special mention for his portrayal of the continuously intoxicated Victor. Besides Owen Moore, Gaye and Braggiotti, the players include Margaret Livingston (in a blond wig.) Adrienne D'Ambricourt, William Holden and Nella Walker.

Allan Dwan directed Josephine Lovett's original story. His scenes of the boat's sailing are superlatively well managed. Dialogue is by James Gleason and James Seymour. The film is introduced novelly, with effects by William Dietz which are noteworthy.

A new Mack Sennett comedy, "Grandma's Girl," a Paramount News and a cartoon embellish the show. Gaylord Carter does the Gershwin rhapsody on the organ.

Aileen Pringle Becomes Blond in "Thin Ice"

Aileen Pringle, who will costar with Francis X. Bushman in "Thin Ice" at the Hollywood Playhouse starting Wednesday night, is to display a new blond headdress in the production.

AILEEN PRINGLE

"Thin Ice" affords both Miss Pringle and Bushman excellent roles, it is said. The latter characterizes Jim Burbridge, ex-officer in the British army, and titled gentleman, who accepts the position of butler in an American home when reverse circumstances wipe out his fortune. Miss Pringle is seen as Helen Nelson, wife of Burbridge's friend, and other prominent roles in "Thin Ice" will be taken by J. Frank Glendon, Edward Earle, Marion Burns, Rollo Dix and Harry Movil.

COOK NEGOTIATING FOR FILM CONTRACT

Joe Cook, star of "Rain or Shine," now at the Orpheum Theater, is the subject of present negotiations through Leo Morrison's office, looking to a contract between Cook and a major film concern, under which the comedian would appear in several feature talkies in the East, while continuing his stage work on Broadway, where he is a favorite. Cook's new stage show, "Fine and Dandy," has opened in Boston, and plans are being made for its New York premiere.

"Rain or Shine" is a success in New York, where it occupied two theaters successively, and in other key cities where shown, it is reported.

Stage Veteran Makes Film Debut

Louis Mann

Enacts a featured role in "Sins of the Children," an M.-G.-M. picture, which starts today at the Tower Theater. Mary Doran has the important feminine part.

POLICY OF THEATER TO BE CHANGED

Newsreel House Reverts to Former Name; will Screen "Birth of Nation"

Wednesday the Newsreel Theater passes from the local Rialto and reverts to its former name, the President, for the premiere showing of the revised D. W. Griffith masterpiece, "The Birth of a Nation."

Sound effects, including the recording to the original musical score, the songs of the darkies in the cotton fields and the rumble of battle have been added to the original film, but Griffith would not hear of the use of dialogue to the production, contending that "The Birth of a Nation" attained its greatness upon the quality of the acting, the interest of the story, all of which have been combined into the most pleasant memories and an example of the best and most artistic of screen plays.

Many players achieved the heights of stardom through their efforts in this production. A few recalled offhand are Henry B. Walthall, Lillian Gish, Wallace Reid and Mae Marsh. Others whose appearance in "The Birth of a Nation" led to fame are: Donald Crisp, Spottiswood Aitken, George Siegmann, Mary Alden, Miriam Cooper, Walter Long, Joseph Henabery, Raoul Walsh and Elmer Clifton.

Cogut Players Start Season at Beaux Arts

BY JACOB COOPER

Starting off with a play bearing the good old title, "The Woman Pays," the Cogut Yiddish Players opened a promised season of thirty-six weeks at the Beaux Arts Theater last night. True to its name, the play ignored the nineteenth amendment and other manifestations of female emancipation, and harked back to the last fin de siecle when a good play was a wholesale combination of copious tears and huge guffaws.

This type of drama, as manifested last night, is still the most popular (judging from box-office standards) among Jewish audiences. It concerns a woman who erred in her youth and left her child to the mercies of the cruel world, only to find him again when he comes to work as a chauffeur for her rich husband. All, however, ends happily and the husband's expected wrath softens to divine forgiveness while a vista of future happiness spreads out for all concerned.

All of the productions of this type on the Yiddish stage follow a formula, a breach of which a Yiddish audience would quickly detect. "The Woman Pays" has its musical interludes of song and dance, its villains and Nells who weren't "done right by" and its heavily caricatured comic relief. The latter, in the person of Jacob Birenberg as an old peddler, proved the main attraction of the evening. If spontaneous and prolonged laughter is any criterion, then Birenberg proved his mettle as a comedian.

Just as heavily as the latter leaned to comedy, Pauline Offerman and Ben Adler, who headed the cast, leaned toward the starkest tragedy. Histrionic dynamics were greatly stressed in more than true melodrama style and the audience was rewarded with an occasional good cry. The supporting cast included Albert Friedman, Ruth Miller, Sam Klenetzky, Liza Tuchman, Esther Glickman and Julius Michelson. The latter, incidentally, is the author of this piece.

This new group was given a fine verbal send-off when Mayor Porter, Vera Gordon and Alexander Carr, who were introduced by Aaron Riche, greeted the audience from the stage.

Further performances will be given tonight and Sunday night, with a new production opening Friday.

Intrigues in Algiers Told at Filmarte

BY ELENA BOLAND

From all reports there would seem to be dirty doings at every Algerian crossroad. The hideousness of the whole situation for the past seventeen years furnishes the ample intrigue of "The Streets of Algiers" which opened last night to the amazement of Filmarte audiences.

Law, much less order, has no part in this UFA feature, which prowls its way through the African alleys beautiful, occasionally bouncing back across the Mediterranean to the convents of France.

There is small doubt but what Herr Wolfgang Hoffman-Harnish had an epic in his eye when he directed this. Whether he changed his mind or lost control is not known; but somehow or other the plot got beyond him. It starts out bravely with the theme that girls will be girls, being but sisters under the skin.

Then there is a mother suffering because she has been leading two or three lives, all in various degrees of shade, with a daughter in one of the finer convents who must know nothing.

She (mother) has frequent collapses, some in native costume and some in evening dress, depending on who she is for the moment, when she remembers her dead husband and his gold mine. She is in cohoots with a certain gentleman called the "street wolf," who stands on corners asking ladies if they are hungry—and then they are never seen again.

This goes on with developments and complications. There is the daughter who arrives from a convent, a manly young chap who, when he sees her, promptly insists on cleaning up the city, a strange brother thrown up by the sea, a girl called Mitra who pokes her nose into the plot at planned intervals and an organized band of street pirates for comedy relief. Each seems to be on a secret mission of sorrow.

If the number of close-ups is any indication, then it must be that Mari Jacobini is the star. She is the mother who between close-ups collapses. Camilla Horn, once she is recognized, is the daughter, a piece of innocent mischief until she is caught in the toils of the town.

Warwick Ward kept the camera at so great a distance most of the time that it was difficult to tell how much of a wolf he was. But he wasn't fooling; in his one big chance, a close-up, he nearly leered. Ward has been seen in Hollywood before and in a better light.

Technically comparable as to treatment comes "The Temporary Truce," a D. W. Griffith horror of love and hatred and all that it means to men. Blanche Sweet is the star, but there is also a handsome collection of Indians.

Pantages Plans Special Shows for Children

Today the first of a regular series of children matinees will be staged at Pantages Hollywood Theater. Ken Hamilton, better known to children as "Big Brother Ken," will be in charge of the morning program. In addition to the special features appealing to children, auditions will be held in which any of the youngstars present will be given an opportunity to display their talents.

A unique feature of the auditions for children will be the fact that the unusual public-address system of the theater will permit each child, no matter how small, to be heard distinctly in every part of the house.

'Scarlet Pages' Now on Screen

"Scarlet Rages," in which Elsie Ferguson, Grant Withers and Marian Nixon play leading roles, is now showing at the Majestic Theater.

The picture marks the return of Miss Ferguson to the screen and is also the first film under the new policy.

ANN HARDING GRACES DRAMA

Star Contributes Poignant Charm to New Film

"Girl of Golden West" Takes on Fresh Value

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

In the long ago, there was a charming melodrama authored by David Belasco called "The Girl of the Golden West." Hokum that it was, even in its day, it was one of the great successes. In due time it was made into an operetta and folks went about humming tunes from its score. When pictures came along, "The Girl of the Golden West" was made into a movie.

Yesterday, this melodrama, a quarter-century old, came back to town in audible screen form. One would think that its ancient bones would creak protestingly at being unveiled in such a modern and smartly up-to-date picture house as Warners' Hollywood Theater.

Such was not the case. The presence in the cast of that refreshingly human actress, Miss Ann Harding, served to imbue it with a rare and poignant charm. Because of her, "The Girl of the Golden West" should take on, in the eyes of its old-time admirers, a new delight. This modern generation can well afford to see it, if for no other reason than to watch Miss Harding walk movingly through the drama.

There is that scene, for example, where the girl, aghast and frightened at the thought of betraying her maiden sweetness, cries out to her lover, words something like this: "You've had my kiss, my first kiss. No other man has ever touched my lips before." Only an Ann Harding could read those lines in such a manner that a blase and sophisticated Hollywood audience could sympathize with her horror.

And the card game. Ah, that compelling scene when the pasteboards are shuffled to determine the fate of Ann's lover! Hokumish, done to death, took on new significance yesterday and spectators throughout the theater sat tense and alert awaiting the deal of the deck.

If "The Girl of the Golden West" is a good picture it is because of Ann Harding, and because John Francis Dillon has directed it simply and straightforwardly with no flourishes and flowery embellishments. James Rennie and Harry Bannister, in the two leading male roles, contribute capable performances.

A program of shorts accompanies the feature.

DRAMA AT BILTMORE ENDS SOON

Final Week of 'Dishonored Lady,' Starring Katharine Cornell, Starts Monday

Monday night marks the beginning of Katharine Cornell's final week at the Biltmore Theater in "Dishonored Lady." Two weeks only are permitted the distinguished young actress and her company in Los Angeles, according to the schedule of the Pacific Coast tour. The show will go direct from here to Chicago for a limited engagement at the Harris Theater.

This is the first California engagement of the girl who rose dramatically to stardom in a few brief seasons, and whose portrayals in "The Green Hat," "The Letter" and "The Age of Innocence" have brought her much favor.

In "Dishonored Lady" she plays the role of a girl whose emotions rise above the dictates of her conventional surroundings. The play is staged by Guthrie McClintic.

Adrienne Dore Gets Role in 'Temptations'

Assignment of Adrienne Dore, stage and film player, to a leading role in "The Temptations of 1930," which opens on the 22nd inst. at the Mayan Theater, has been announced.

ADRIENNE DORE

Miss Dore will be remembered as the second lead in Clara Bow's vehicle, "The Wild Party," and for her appearances opposite other well-known stars. Two years ago she appeared in the stage play "Oh, Kay" at the Mayan.

With the premiere only a week away, progress in rounding out the revue is being broadcast nightly around the dinner hour over the radio.

Belasco Books 'Young Sinners'

"Young Sinners," the Elmer Harris comedy of youth, now well into the second year of its New York run, will be produced in California by Belasco and Curran in the near future.

The majority of the cast has been selected and rehearsals are under way under the personal direction of Edgar MacGregor. According to present plans, "Young Sinners" will be presented after the engagement of Pauline Frederick in "The Crimson Hour" at the Belasco. Miss Frederick is due to follow the current run of "It's a Wise Child."

"Young Sinners" is described as a comedy of youthful indiscretions.

KERRY STARTS WORK

Following rehearsals for the role he is playing in "Ex-Flame," first of a series of pictures, Norman Kerry has begun the camera work in the film. Victor Halperin is directing.

NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

NATURAL GAS TO WARM NATION

Final Sessions of Coast Convention Told Plans

Transmission Network Over Country Contemplated

Conservation Program Also to be Instituted

PASADENA, Sept. 12.—Five hundred delegates to the thirty-seventh annual convention of the Pacific Coast Gas Association prepared to leave for their homes, located between British Columbia and the Mexican border, following the annual banquet at the Hotel Huntington tonight which marked adjournment of the four-day conclave.

Growth of the gas industry and plans for one of the greatest engineering feats ever attempted, that of developing a nation-wide system of natural-gas transmission lines which would serve practically every section of the United States with natural gas service, were revealed by gas industry officials in the convention sessions.

Other convention high lights included the announcement by Maj. Alexander Forward of New York City, managing director of the American Gas Association, that his organization is about to launch a national campaign for the conservation of natural gas with resultant increase in the life of Southern California's oil fields.

In an informal discussion this afternoon, Clifford Johnstone, manager director of the Pacific Coast Gas Association, declared that suicides by gas have been reduced in California by the increasing use of natural gas. Inhalations of natural gas are less quickly fatal than those of manufactured gas, he explained.

To prevent accidents, the natural gas furnished this city by the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation is treated with "cal-odorant" to give it a detectable odor, officials revealed.

Here today, the delegates inspected the local meter station of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, with W. M. Henderson in the role of guide.

Speakers at the final general meeting today included E. A. Oliver, vice-president of the Standard Management and Operating Corporation; C. P. Cutten, rate attorney for the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, and Claude C. Brown, gas and electric engineer for the California Railroad Commission.

San Bernardino G.O.P. Unit in Rolph's Behalf

REDLANDS, Sept. 12.—James E. Cram of Mentone, orange grower of the Greenspot section, and chairman-elect of the Republican County Central Committee, announced this morning that an active campaign will be carried on in the county for the election of James Rolph as Governor.

Cram stated that at the organization meeting of the committee a resolution was introduced by Grant McComb of San Bernardino, and passed by the committee, giving the loyal support of the county to Rolph, candidate of the Republican party, despite reported attempts of dry interests to defeat him.

Chairmanships have been placed in charge of the campaign in the five districts in the county. M. P. Cheney is in charge in Colton; Harte Wilson in Upland; Charles Latimer in Ontario; H. H. Thomas of Cucamonga and K. W. Alexander of Highland.

Cram plans that the campaign will be so well organized that on the day of election every effort will be made to get out a record-breaking vote. In the meantime there will be an active campaign to have every voter registered.

Historic Pepper Tree Doomed

SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 12.—A huge pepper tree in front of the City Hall, which has stood in the plaza across from the historic De la Guerra home and old Presidio since Santa Barbara was a Mexican village, is doomed to die, according to tree surgeons.

The magnificent pepper tree has been attacked by a fungus growth from the inside. Tree surgeons hold little hope that the tree can ever be repaired as the rot damaged the heart of the old tree before it was discovered.

WORK COMPLETED ON TUJUNGA CITY HALL

TUJUNGA, Sept. 12.—Twenty-one tons of tile have been laid on the roof of the new City Hall here. The tile came from Elsinore where it was manufactured. Except for the painting and putting in of several doors the hall is completed. The building was bought from the local post of the American Legion last spring and has been remodeled throughout for its new purposes.

MRS. SANDERS BURIED

SOUTH GATE, Sept. 12.—Funeral services for the late Mrs. Lint Sanders, wife of the former president of the Southeast Realty Board, were held this morning at the Pyle mortuary, interment taking place at Inglewood. Dr. Kenyon, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Los Angeles, read the service. Mrs. Sanders had resided here for a number of years, and had been in ill health for some time. She was a patient at one of the Los Angeles hospitals for two months, but was brought to her home a few weeks ago. Besides her husband, she leaves five children.

DOG SAVES FAMILY AND DIES

Frantic Barking of Faithful Pet Awakens Inmates of Burning Home at San Bernardino in Time for Their Escape But Too Late to Save Him

SAN BERNARDINO, Sept. 12. Awakened by the frantic barking of their dog in time to flee for their lives from their burning home, Mr. and Mrs. Abel Perrito of 833 Perris street were forced to allow the faithful pet to perish in the flames which destroyed the house and its furnishings early today.

Starting from an undetermined origin before daylight this morning, the flames had gained such headway by the time the dog succeeded in awakening his masters, that firemen who arrived at 2:25 a.m. were powerless to do more than prevent spread of the blaze to other houses.

Shut in the house with his owners, the pet sensed the disaster impending in the crackling of the flames that evidently started in one corner of the house, possibly from defective electrical wiring, according to Fire Chief Ernest E. Leffen.

At first the dog's barking failed to acquaint the family of the cause of the pet's alarm and by the time Mr. Perrito realized the danger, and saved his wife and child, the animal had been overcome by the smoke and heat. The family escaped with only what clothing they could grab hastily as they made for the front door of their home.

Although he made a determined effort to dash back into the burning house to rescue the dog that had saved the lives of himself and family, Mr. Perrito was unable to reach the room where the canine had fallen.

REDLANDS ARTISANS HELP

Working Party Going to Victorville Sunday to Build Cabin at Tubercular Veterans' Hospital

REDLANDS, Sept. 12.—Carpenters, plumbers, painters and other artisans will form a big working party which will go to Victorville Sunday for the purpose of building a cabin for the Tubercular War Veterans' Hospital there.

In a recent campaign conducted here by the American Legion a total of $450 was secured for the purpose of buying the materials, the members of the Legion offering their services for the work. The Veterans' Bureau says such materials will cost $510 but the Legion here has no doubt of getting all the money needed.

These cabins are to be built by the various Legion posts of Southern California and in this way the men will be assured of comfortable accommodations while they are at the hospital.

The government hospital at Victorville is to be one of the finest in the West, it is planned, and in connection with it the Legion posts of Southern California plan to establish a great rest camp where men of the posts who are ill can be sent for recuperation.

The local post is also planning to have a cabin at the beach which can be used for the sick members.

SAN DIEGO AVIATRIX TO FLY EAST

Ruth Alexander Leaves on Monday for Aerial Tour; Has Letters for Mayors

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 12.—To make an aerial tour of the East and Middle West, Miss Ruth Alexander, local aviatrix, who established a women's altitude record here and who recently made a nonstop flight from Canada to Lower California, is to leave here early Monday in her low-winged Barling monoplane.

The flyer is to leave Agua Caliente at 1 a.m., landing at Lindbergh Field to have a barograph installed in her plane by William Van Dusen, local representative.

Taking off from Lindbergh Field before dawn, Miss Alexander plans to fly straight to Wichita and then to Roosevelt Field, Long Island.

She is to be given introductory letters by the local Chamber of Commerce and Mayor Clark to the chambers of commerce and mayors of cities on her route.

On the return trip she plans to visit Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City and Marshall, Mo.

Chino Grows Giant "Cuke"

CHINO, Sept. 12.—This valley, famed for the variety of its agricultural products, has another distinction today, that of growing cucumbers that don't look like bananas.

S. W. Strickling has placed on exhibition at the Citizens' National Bank in Ontario, a Chinese climbing cucumber, grown by him on the W. H. King dairy ranch, three miles south of Chino.

This peculiarly-shaped cucumber is 24 inches long and nine and one-half inches around at the thickest point. It resembles an ancient war club rather than a cucumber.

SOUTH GATE PLANS FOR FIRE COLLEGE

SOUTH GATE, Sept. 12.—Plans for establishment of a fire college in this City are now completed and will be put into effect shortly, Fire Chief Glines and Capt. Miller supervising the plan. Many courses are to be included in the study which will take more than a year to complete. Among them will be administration, care of quarters, hoses, equipment, evolution of heat, fire inspection, transmission of heat, ventilation, salvage, dust explosions, refrigeration, oil storage, fires, fire streams, inhalator, first-aid work, fires in public buildings, hydraulics, demolition and others. The work is to be aided by slides, lectures and study bulletins.

Three Hurled Through Top of Car Unscathed

ONTARIO, Sept. 12.—When a truck and an automobile carrying three Mexicans collided at the intersection of A street and Euclid avenue, yesterday, the three Mexicans were hurled through the top of their automobile and were not seriously injured.

The truck belonged to the Ontario Plumbing Company and was driven by W. C. McCombs. The automobile was driven by Diego Narrvez. He and his two companions tore off half the top of the automobile when thrown through it in the impact.

The lighter car overturned, and the Mexicans were dragged from the wreckage, unhurt, except Narrvez, who received a scratch on one finger.

Smokers Pay to Puff in Hills

UPLAND, Sept. 12.—Smokers who can't get along without puffing on something that smokes, continue to swell the coffers at City Court here.

Most all of the offenders are outers from Los Angeles, who puff cigarettes in closed mountain areas, according to Judge George R. Crane, who has levied $10 fines on a great number of violators of the no-smoking ordinance this summer.

The latest to pay for their smokes in San Antonio Canyon are C. V. Critzer, Pomona; Zeke Swaydon, Los Angeles; Kenneth F. Reeve, Los Angeles; W. C. Mage, Los Angeles; E. W. Glassock, Los Angeles; F. J. Osborn, Long Beach; A. E. Saadeh, Los Nietos; Dr. M. Berzinger, Los Angeles; C. Obernott, Los Angeles.

Herbert Allison, United States forest service patrolman in the mountains arrested practically all of the offenders.

CITY MANAGER SUCCUMBS

Levi G. Herr of Montebello, First to Occupy that Office There, Victim of Heart Trouble

MONTEBELLO, Sept. 12.—Death brought to a close this morning a career of civic service when Levi G. Herr, Montebello's City Manager, died at his home, 205 South Spruce street. For more than three months Herr had been in failing health which was brought on by a vacation spent in the mountains. An already weak heart seriously affected his health. He spent a month of relaxation at his home and then returned to his office seemingly much improved. About ten days ago he suffered a relapse from which he never recovered—but at no time during the last three months did he neglect the work of the city. He kept constantly in touch with the routine and directed all its activities.

Herr, who was 50 years of age last month, was born in Bird-in-Hand, Lancaster county, Pennsylvania. He came to California in 1915, establishing his home here in 1916. When Montebello was still a part of the city of Monterey Park, Herr was made city marshal. After Montebello's incorporation in 1920 he retained that position until 1923 when he was appointed City Clerk. He was elected to that office for two consecutive terms.

In June of 1928 he was asked by the City Council to temporarily act as City Manager. At the close of the first year under the city management form of government the statement covering the activities of the city showed that each department did more work than was outlined at the beginning of the year and at a lower cost than was allotted in the budget. This record made the city management form of government a permanent institution and Herr was unanimously appointed City Manager.

Herr was a member of the Rotary Club, Chamber of Commerce and Masonic Lodge. He was always an active civic worker, being largely responsible for the reorganization of the chamber in 1918.

As he was an only child, his only immediate relative to mourn his passing is his widow, Mrs. Catherine Herr. Funeral services will be conducted Monday from the Masonic Temple with the local Masonic lodge in charge.

LUMBER YARD FIRE IN VENTURA

Independent Company Loss Set at $10,000

Smoker Thought Responsible for Starting It

VENTURA, Sept. 12.—Fire starting from an unknown origin did $10,000 damage to the Independent Lumber Company's yards here last night. Starting at 9 p.m., the blaze was under control by 10 o'clock, but firemen poured water into the mass of flames for six hours before it was out.

The blaze started, it is believed, in a wooden shed used to house an old truck which had not been used for several months. Spreading quickly, it ate its way through several large piles of finished lumber, sending into the sky embers which were easily visible from the heart of the city.

No employees of the company or neighbors were on the premises at the start of the fire, and it was believed today by company officials the fire possibly was started by a lighted cigar or cigarette carelessly flipped by a passer-by to the ground, which was covered with chips of wood.

Two fire trucks from the city department and two from the county department's stations at Ojai and Santa Paula, rushed to the scene when the alarm was given. The fire fighters succeeded in holding the flames down to the shed and near-by lumber piles.

The consumed lumber was valuable high-grade cut material, according to officials of the firm.

The loss is covered by insurance, it was said.

TWO OIL RIGS BURNED AT HUNTINGTON BEACH

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 12. Two rigs—the Huntington Beach B-8 and the Huntington Beach B-18, at Westminster and Garfield streets, belonging to the Standard Oil Company, burned to the ground late last night, and caused about $12,000 damage, according to Fire Chief Sargent. Fire burst out in B-18 from a slipping belt, it is believed, and spread to B-8, located about fifty feet away and both wooden derricks, engine houses, belt rooms and machinery were completely destroyed.

The Standard Oil Company's fire-fighting crew and the Huntington Beach fire department put up a stiff battle but the flames had gained such headway before being noticed and with the burning oil and gas were soon blazing torches. Hundreds of spectators watched the fire and it could be seen for miles around.

The wells were drilled in 1922 and 1923 to 2900 and 4500-foot depths and have been on production ever since. They were each producing about 100 barrels daily.

Concrete Work at Tujunga Dam Making Strides

SUNLAND, Sept. 12.—About 100 men, working in two shifts, have poured 5000 yards of concrete in the construction of the dam in Big Tujunga Canyon, according to a statement by Chief Engineer Eaton. Before the concrete work is completed 70,000 yards will be poured.

The present work brings the foundation of the new dam about twenty-five feet above the stream bed. The structure will be 240 feet high, 500 feet across the crest, with a seventy-foot base and twenty feet wide at the top. The site is about eight miles north of Sunland. Most of the materials are being hauled from Roscoe on San Fernando Road, about sixteen miles from present operations.

Eaton stated today that after a survey of all work ahead, he believes the dam will be completed about this time next year. It is designed to impound 7500 acre feet of water and to provide flood control and water conservation in the Big Tujunga watershed section. Three other dams are later to be erected in the vicinity of the present dam site.

Indio Girl is Valley Choice for Sweetheart

INDIO, Sept. 12.—It is announced by Thomas H. Rosenberger, president of the Coachella Valley Chamber of Commerce, and member of the Southern California Fair Board, that Miss Ellen Ray of Indio Heights had been chosen as the valley's candidate for Southern California's sweetheart.

Miss Ray, who is one of the most popular girls in the valley, is an accomplished dancer. She is the daughter of Mrs. Ellen Ray of the Sunray Date Gardens.

The date display at the fair which is being sponsored by the local Lions' Club, will this year eclipse anything hitherto attempted. The gathering of the collection is in charge of Max Zimmerer, who produced such a beautiful exhibit last year.

The lions are planning to have a Coachella Valley Day at the fair when it is hoped to have a large delegation visit the fair attired in white clothes and sun helmets.

TRAFFIC OFFICERS TO DON WHITE AT NIGHT

HUNTINGTON PARK, Sept. 12 The City Council has ordered that all officers directing traffic at night during the rainy season, wear white rubber coats. This order is given as a result of an accident occurring one night last season, when a local officer wearing a black coat during a rain at night, was struck by an automobile and badly injured.

FISH BITES WOMAN AS SHE BATHES

Mrs. J. S. Krueger of Santa Barbara Has Toes Torn; Barracuda Blamed

SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 12.—Mrs. J. C. Krueger of 220 West Quinto avenue was severely injured this afternoon when a fish, thought to have been a barracuda, attacked her while she was swimming near the life raft on West Cabrillo Beach. She was swimming amidst a score of other bathers in the quiet waters behind the recently completed Fleischmann breakwater. The fish bit her on the foot, severely slicing several toes, and tearing away considerable flesh from the foot.

This is the second attack of its kind on West Beach within two weeks, a man having been bitten by a fish in a similar way. There are small sharks in the waters but these, fishermen say, will not attack swimmers, as they are cowardly. The fishermen declare that the large barracuda, however, are vicious.

Mayor Served with Papers in Water Action

ONTARIO, Sept. 12.—Mayor Francis P. Williams has been served with papers summoning the city to appear in Superior Court in the $92,000 suit filed against Ontario by the Marshall Corporation of Los Angeles.

Water rights, charges for water asserted to have been illegally used by the city, and cash damages assertedly suffered by the corporation are involved in the suit. Nature of the suit made it necessary that it be served upon one person representing the city, and not upon the municipality, according to City Attorney E. H. Jolliffe, who is prepared to fight the claim, branding it "baseless and foolish."

The corporation's complaint charges the city of Ontario has been pumping water illegally for four years from a well at Dessau street and Euclid avenue. City Service Manager Burt contends the well has been in operation but two years, and according to City Attorney Jolliffe, the deed to the land given up by Richard Gird more than forty years ago, voided any water agreements he may have made. The Marshall Corporation purchased the Richard Gird land some time ago.

The city will admit that water is being used by the city, that comes from the Dessau street well, but final will be made that Marshall Corporation has any interest, legally, in the water, according to City Attorney Jolliffe.

As soon as the defendants' answer to the suit is filed, date for the hearing in Superior Court will be set.

Two Couples, Long Wedded, in Celebration

LOMITA, Sept. 12.—Two couples, pioneer residents of this place, celebrated many years of married life yesterday in the sixty-third wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Munger, 2958 Chestnut street, and the reception marking the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Arbuckle.

Mr. and Mrs. Munger were married in Dundee, Mich, at the close of the Civil War, in which Mr. Munger was enlisted and honorably discharged twice, serving with the Seventh Michigan Infantry. He is a former Mayor of Garden City, Kan., coming here after retirement from active business. A son, Harry Munger, and a host of friends celebrated the anniversary with them.

The Arbuckles, who celebrated their fiftieth anniversary by holding open house at the home, 1035 Narbonne avenue, were married in Swanville, Ind., in 1880, coming to California from Fort Morgan, Colo., where Mr. Arbuckle was County Clerk and Recorder for a number of years. He has been a member of the Masonic Order for fifty-two years.

Covered Wagon Baby Saddened

REDLANDS, Sept. 12. Mrs. Kittie Johnson of 220 Brookside avenue was a disappointed woman this week, for she had hoped to attend the annual meeting of the Covered Wagon Babies Club at San Francisco. Mrs. Johnson was one of those born in a covered wagon on the long trek from Missouri to California and she enjoys attending the annual meetings of the club each year.

DEPUTY-CONSTABLE EXAMINATION HELD

HUNTINGTON PARK, Sept. 12. A civil-service examination was held a few days ago in this city in which twenty-six persons took the examination for deputy constable of San Antonio township. Constable Herman Boeshard has received a list of those who passed the examination. They are Jack D. Lyons of Maywood, Edward P. Gibson of Walnut Park, Lyle G. Clark, Joseph F. Conrey and Elmer D. Benton, all of this city, and Henry S. McLaughlin of South Gate.

RITES FOR MRS. BAUER

OWENSMOUTH, Sept. 12.—Funeral services were conducted for Mrs. Marie Bauer, mother of five children, who killed herself by drinking poison, police reported. Worry over bad health and financial matters caused her to take her life, her husband said. He told police his wife had been melancholy for several weeks.

Move to Gain Support for Milton K. Young Fails

Speakers Urge Support for Three Other Candidates

PASADENA, Sept. 12.—Proof that women can agree among themselves more easily than the sterner sex was furnished by 400 delegates to the Los Angeles County W.C.T.U. convention which concluded its session tonight in the First Baptist Church.

On the first ballot, Mrs. Lily C. Richardson of Glendale, was re-elected president. She polled approximately twice as many votes as her competitor, Mrs. Hattie M. Doughty. Four hundred and four votes were cast. Mrs. May Hopkins of Venice, was re-elected vice-president.

Although formal action was not taken, speakers urged the W.C.T.U. to back the following candidates in the November election: Dr. M. Len Hutchins, Secretary of State; Clyde Plummer, Sheriff; C. M. Shelden, Superior Court.

Following heated discussion, the convention took no action on suggestions that the delegates go on record in favor of electing Milton K. Young, Democratic gubernatorial candidate. Mrs. Richardson ruled that the convention would "take no cognisance of the argument."

Mrs. Doughty reported that miniature golf courses are uplifting the morals of the younger generation by keeping them away from "taxi" dance halls and other undesirable amusement places.

At last night's meeting, Vierling Kersey, State Superintendent of Schools, indorsed the prohibition organization as "a sane, sincere and eager-to-help" body of workers. Kersey, introduced by John A. Sexson, local school superintendent, spoke on "Education for Our Life Controls."

Reports were read today on activities of the Los Angeles, Long Beach, Pasadena, San Fernando and Verdugo Hills federations by Mrs. Doughty, Mrs. Mary A. Ruckle, Mrs. Clara Morgan Odell, Mrs. Zella C. Hunt and Mrs. Dorothy Hughey.

Mexican Pilot Killed; Chinese Hurt, in Crash

MEXICALI (Lower California, Mexico) Sept. 12. (AP)—Lieut. Enrique Castanieda of the Mexican army aviation corps, was killed and Juan Yee Kun, local Chinese merchant, probably was fatally injured today, when the airplane in which they were flying nose-dived suddenly from 100 feet elevation near the government airport here.

The plane belonged to Kun, who was being instructed in its operation by Lieut. Castanieda. The army officer learned to fly at a San Diego air school.

Father Confers Masonic Degree Upon Young Son

TUJUNGA, Sept. 12. — Unusual Masonic ceremonies took place in the local lodge when the degree of Master Mason was conferred upon Jack Johnson by his father, J. B. Johnson, and his brother, Alfred Johnson, officials of the lodge, who jointly bestowed the degree.

A number of visiting Masons from San Fernando Valley, Pasadena and Tujunga Valley were present.

Mrs. Childs Dies at Redlands

REDLANDS, Sept. 12.—Mrs. Nettie Childs, Redlands pioneer, who had lived here forty years, died suddenly at her home on Fourth street today of heart disease. She was 65 years of age. She leaves a son, Leroy Childs of Hood River, Or., a daughter, Mrs. Harold Sherman of Los Angeles, and two sisters, Mrs. T. A. Nye of this city and Mrs. Louise Bezell of Rosemead.

WOMAN DENIED PROBATION

Mrs. Tressa Carothers, Convicted of Peculations from Building-Loan Company, Sent to Jail

SANTA ANA, Sept. 12.—Despite the plea of her physician that she is an expectant mother and the incarceration would be dangerous, Mrs. Tressa Carothers, pretty blond ex-official of the Orange Building and Loan Association, who was charged with a felony when shortages of nearly $1000 per month, reaching a total of nearly $11,000, were found in her accounts, today was denied probation and was left facing a term of from one to ten years at San Quentin.

Sentence is scheduled to be pronounced tomorrow at 9:30 a.m. by Superior Judge James L. Allen, who heard and rejected her plea for clemency. The court at the same time ordered her immediately placed in custody in the County Jail. Mrs. Carothers had been at liberty under bond. Dr. Willis P. Baker of this city had testified for Mrs. Carothers, telling of her condition and the danger attendant upon her imprisonment. She was not called to the stand, but sat beside her husband in the courtroom with downcast eyes, nervously twisting a handkerchief that was held to her mouth.

Mrs. Carothers was led away to jail at the end of the hearing after her attorneys, S. B. Kaufman and Franklin West, had vainly requested the court to allow her to remain at liberty until sentence is pronounced tomorrow.

Jud K. Payne, auditor employed by the building and loan association to investigate its records after the arrest of Mrs. Carothers several weeks ago, testified today regarding his findings at the request of Dep. Dist.-Attys. W. F. Menton and Preston Turner. Payne said the shortages found from the earliest discovery early in August, 1929, to the close of the investigation on the 4th inst. amounted to $10,891.80.

INDIO DATE PACKERS AT WORK NOW

Largest Crop in History of Coachella Valley Seen for This Season

INDIO, Sept. 12.—The 1930 date season started yesterday with the opening of the Deglet Noor Date Growers' Association packing-house and picking is now in full swing.

The valley this year will have the largest crop in the history of the industry in this country, close to 2,000,000 pounds, including all varieties and seedlings. The crop of Deglet Noors, the main commercial crop, is estimated at nearly 2,000,000 pounds.

The plant of the date growers' association has been considerably enlarged this summer but Manager Don Mitchell anticipates being compelled to have the plant going twenty-four hours a day to keep abreast of receipts. The plant expects to have in its employ nearly 200 as soon as picking gets into full swing.

Independent plants in the valley have also been enlarged and there is one new one, that recently completed by Bryan Haywood.

The ripe dates now maturing on the palms make one of the most beautiful sights imaginable. Even the old-timers are becoming enthusiastic. The miles of date gardens with their golden brown fruit are declared worth traveling miles to see, and despite the warm weather there have been many visitors to the valley.

Mother's Cries Bring Help to Drowning Man

NEWPORT-BALBOA, Sept. 12.—Three fishermen casting their lines from the Newport pier this morning heard the screams of a frantic mother calling for help to save her son from drowning near by in the ocean. All three men responded to the piercing cries and leaped into the water fully clothed. They saved the life of Ernest Culey, 24 years of age, of 160 Carter avenue, San Bernardino, champion swimmer of the Young Men's Christian Association of that city. He was swimming in the surf at about chest depth and was seized with cramps and was drowning when the mother realized his condition.

F. W. Crocker, head of the fire and life-saving department, and Herchel Teter, chief lifeguard, responded to the call and worked over the victim for an hour before Culey responded to the pulmotor treatment. He is in the Newport Hospital and it is believed he will completely recover.

Ventura County Infant Death Rate Lowered

VENTURA, Sept. 12. — Through the strenu efforts of the Ventura county health department, the infant mortality rate for this county has been lowered in the past two years from 140 to 95 per 1000, according to Dr. J. A. King, county health officer.

Excluding the incorporated cities, the rate for the county districts is fifty-four per 1000, which compares favorably with the State rate of sixty-five.

Classes in child hygiene and personal instruction to mothers has been largely responsible for this remarkable showing and the department hopes to have the general county rate down in the neighborhood of the State figures, Dr. King declared today.

Ventura county is one of the first in the State in low number of cases of smallpox and diphtheria, due to the good work of Miss Olivia Gillilan and her staff of health nurses, Dr. King said. More than 6000 school children have been immunized against these diseases.

Triunfo Woman Pioneer Dies

TRIUNFO, Sept. 12.—Mrs. Abigail M. Russell, pioneer resident of Ventura county, for whom two schools in the Triunfo and Conejo school districts have been named, was laid to her last rest today in Forest Lawn Memorial Park. She died Tuesday at her home here.

Mrs. Russell was 85 years of age and had resided in Southern California since she was a girl. She leaves four sons, two daughters and eleven grandchildren.

WORK ON DAM STARTS SOON

Consulting Engineer Engaged for $750,000 Project

A. Kemphey to Explore Santiago Creek Site

Irvine Ranch and Two Districts in Condemnation

SANTA ANA, Sept. 12.—Signing of a contract with A. [illegible] hydraulic engineer of San Francisco, to act as consulting engineer for the Santiago Creek dam project and the beginning commencement of exploration at the proposed dam site was announced today by representatives of the John T. Carpenter and Irvine water districts and the Irvine company, joint sponsors of the project.

A final engineering survey of the dam site at the fourth crossing of Santiago Canyon to determine availability for storage purposes will be returned to Los Angeles to be started at once by Mr. Kemphey, it is said. Several preliminary [illegible] have found the site suitable, but Kemphey will conduct extensive exploration [illegible] diamond drill bore holes to [illegible] particularly the matter of [illegible] which would be objectionable for storage dam. Engineer Kemphey's report will be submitted to the State Engineer and if it is approved on that quarter consideration work on the dam will be started early spring, it is said.

Under agreement between the Irvine company and the two districts the impounded water and above the normal [illegible] of the stream would be shared equally. The dam will be a rock and earth-fill type, ninety feet in height and with a storage capacity of 900 acre feet.

Flying Boats to Begin Service to Ensenada

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 12.—Pending Diego's position as an aerial activities center was [illegible] further today, when it was [illegible] that this city soon will be [illegible] northern terminus of a [illegible] aerial service to Ensenada. Director Joseph Brennan announced that the Harbor Commission had granted officials of the Pacific Ways an exclusive [illegible] landing and taking off [illegible] planes at the foot of [illegible] between the Broadway and [illegible] piers. Two trips daily [illegible] to Ensenada, approximately [illegible] miles by air line, are to be made, reports today stating that the [illegible] by night start tomorrow. It said he was advised by officials of Pacific Airways that the [illegible] for the trip would be between [illegible] and forty minutes. Motion picture service to the Mexican resort town, it is planned to use the amphibian planes in addition to trips over the bay and other trips to the Coronado [illegible] and possibly the Salton Sea, it was said.

Spreckels Wins in Damage Suit

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 12.—[illegible] Spreckels won a victory in Superior Court today in a $134,000 damage suit, when Judge K. Van Fleet, temporarily assigned here from Kings county, ruled that no case for the suit could be shown. Stanley Woodman, Coronado real estate man, had brought the action for damages, the amount was due him for services rendered Spreckels on a joint agreement with Richard Bate, [illegible] chilsest, looking toward the development of a $1,000,000 resort hotel and transbay city.

The court found from the evidence, mainly in the form of letters written by Woodman to Spreckels, that negotiations had been entered into but no agreement reached. Apparently the only [illegible] Woodman's attorney could see was Spreckels's consent to certain credit of the Spreckels Company for ninety days on materials and so forth, which was ruled was merely the usual business agreement for such a firm, not binding Spreckels himself to any contract for construction of the hotel.

Peach-Canning Season Closes

ONTARIO, Sept. 12.—[illegible] canning activities will come to a close in local canneries this week according to announcements by [illegible] nery officials.

California Co-Operative Canning Company has but one or two days left to run, and will then close for the season. Cutting [illegible] plant has received a few more shipments than anticipated, and will close a few days after the [illegible] Operative Canning. Quality of the peaches through the canneries was [illegible] though the crops were short this season, the cannery officials said.

NEW HEAD SOUGHT FOR SUNLAND POSTOFFICE

SUNLAND, Sept. 12.—The Post office Department today announced that an examination is to be conducted to fill the vacancy in position of postmaster here. Applicants must have their papers on file with the United States Civil Service Commission in Washington, D.C., by the 20th inst. The examination will follow in the [illegible] soon after that date. The salary paid by the office is $2,100 annually.

New Buildings Ready at Several Institutions

Forecasts for the registrations this week and next in the colleges and universities in and about Los Angeles indicate that records of the institutions of higher education in this section will show limited registrations filled to capacity and the others with student bodies equal in size or larger than those of the previous year.

Returning students, numbering 3500, registered yesterday for their studies at the University of California at Los Angeles; the number indicating, according to university officials, that the total enrollment at the various colleges at the school will be slightly larrfier this year than last.

The registration yesterday was confined to returning students. Last year the number counted on the same day was 3423. New students, which will include both freshmen and upper class men from other universities, will be registered today.

STUDENTS ENROLL

Registration for old students and upperclassmen were opened on the Westwood campus yesterday and freshmen and new students will register today. Class work begins Monday. One new building will be ready for use this semester when the $500,000 mechanical arts building opens for classes. Thirty new faculty members bring the total staff to about 275.

A four-day program of events for freshmen, beginning next Wednesday, with freshmen registration, will open the season at Occidental College. Advanced students will register on the 20th inst., and classes will start on the 22nd inst. Predictions are that the full enrollment of 300 will be reached in the freshman class and that the entire student body will number about 650. Outstanding in the improvements at the college will be the opening during the first week in October of the new $60,000 swimming pool and annex to the gymnasium.

INCREASE OF 300

Freshman registration has been in progress this week at the University of Southern California. Upperclassmen will complete enrolling today. Regular class sessions will begin Monday. Indications are that there will be an increase of about 300 in the enrollment this semester, with an entire student body numbering between 8000 and 9000. A new $750,000 physical education building covering about a half-block will be ready for use for both men and women this semester. It is said to be so completely equipped and designed upon such modern lines that it will set a new standard for health education facilities throughout the country.

NEW COURSES ADDED

Two new courses in aviation education will be opened for the first time at the Trojan university. The Hadaller chair of commercial aviation in the college of engineering has been endowed by the Richfield Oil Company, and a four-year course in this field will lead to a degree of Bachelor of Science in mechanical engineering.

There will also be a new four-year course in industrial engineering, a four-year course in the study of organ music and a new opera department in charge of Lisa Roma, opera singer. Eighty new appointments have been made to the Trojan faculty, including professors, instructors and assistants.

IN OTHER SCHOOLS

Freshman registration at Pomona College will take place Monday and Tuesday, upper classmen will register Wednesday and Thursday, and classes will start Friday of next week, following the opening convocation. It is expected that approximately 750 undergraduates will be enrolled. Two new units to the men's dormitory groups constitute the newest feature of the Pomona campus this year and for the first time all of the men students will be housed in college dormitories.

California Christian College at Vermont and Monroe avenues, with a capacity limited to 350 each semester, anticipates a record enrollment when the institution begins its eleventh year today. Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

FERMENTED AND SOUR MILK DIETS

Various types of sour milk have been used as a food beverage ever since men learned to domesticate milk-producing animals, such as cows, mares, goats, camels and donkeys. Within the last fifty years the healthful value of sour and fermented milk has become more recognized, and many sanatoriums have sprung up in Russia and Central Europe, especially, where the sour milk diets are given in the treatment of a variety of disorders.

The first thought that sour milk might be used in the cure of disease seems to have originated as a result of a number of independent observers in reporting that the countries where large quantities of sour milk were used contained the greatest number of people who lived beyond the ripe old age of 100 years.

The principal kinds of sour milk are: The plain sour milk containing lactic acid with which we are all familiar; buttermilk, made from churning sour cream and removing the butter; kumiss, a product of double fermentation, both lactic acid and alcoholic; and yoghoort, a product where some member of the bulcaricus type of lactic acid bacteria is used to increase the amount of lactic acid from the 1 per cent found in ordinary sour milk to 2 per cent or 3 per cent.

Buttermilk is consumed in enormous quantities in Scotland and Ireland. It contains about the same nutritional value as skimmed milk and is more easily digested by the average stomach, as the casein curds are finely divided because of the churning.

Kumiss was the principal beverage of the ancient Tartars. It was originally made from either mare's or camel's milk to which a small quantity of the previous batch was added, and the milk then frequently agitated during its fermentation. The milk begins to sour during the first twenty-four hours and fermentation is finished in about three days, producing a slightly sour, effervescent liquid with about the alcoholic content of light beer. The product is not only nutritious, but easily digested and has the advantage of keeping for a long time without spoiling. In this country a similar product is made from cow's milk that has been treated with cultures of lactic acid bacteria and yeast. To prepare this product from cow's milk it is necessary to first remove a portion of the cream and add a small amount of sugar. If a large amount of cream were allowed to remain it would produce butyric acid, giving the product a bitter flavor and irritating the stomach. The sugar is added to assist the yeast fermentation. There is not enough alcohol in the finished product to be harmful.

Kumiss is easily digested because the casein curds are very finely divided and a portion of the protein is made soluble by the bacterial action. For this reason convalescents often find that kumiss can be used when the stomach is too weak to digest other foods, and they find that its creamy, effervescent consistency is very appetizing. In England, a product similar to kumiss is known as Kephir. Kumiss diets have been successfully used in the treatment of many digestive disorders and seem to be helpful in cases of tuberculosis. Many beauty parlors are beginning to prescribe it for their patrons as they find that it assists in clearing the complexion when used both in the diet and externally as a skin application.

Yoghoort is a product in which some member of the bulcaricus type of lactic acid bacteria is used to produce a large amount of lactic acid, as it is claimed that the lactic acid will retard putrefaction in the intestines.

SETBACK PROTESTS DENIED

Protests were denied yesterday by the City Council against the establishment of setback lines in Fiftieth street between Western avenue and Gramercy Place.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

The Times' free cooking school conducted by Chef Wyman has been discontinued for the summer. Date for resuming has not been set but will be announced later.

STUFFED BAKED FISH

Wash and clean a two and a half or three-pound fish, melt three tablespoonfuls of butter or shortening in a saucepan over a slow fire, add one tablespoonful each of finely chopped onion, parsley and celery, and simmer until the vegetables are tender, then add four tablespoonfuls of water, a half a cupful of fine bread crumbs, and stir in two tablespoonfuls of capers, then add half a cupful of finely chopped shrimps, or a half a cupful of whole California oysters, season with salt, paprika and a half a teaspoonful of thyme, and margaram, stuff the fish with this mixture, and either sew it or tie it together, score each side three times, and place in each scoring thin strips of fat bacon, place in a baking dish, add to the dish one-half cupful of salt cooking sherry, and one-half cupful of ginger ale. Place in a hot oven for the first twenty minutes, then reduce the heat and finish the baking. If there is any of the dressing left, place it around the fish in the pan.

BAKED GRAHAM CRACKER PIE CRUST

Sift one cupful of graham cracker crumbs rolled as fine as possible, with one cupful of white flour and one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, chop into this a scant half a cupful of ice cold shortening, then add just enough ice water to hold the crumbs together, flour a pastry board very heavily, turn out the mixture and pat it down, roll with a floured rolling pin, slightly thicker than for the ordinary pie crust, place loosely in a pie dish, and fill with any mixture you desire.

SWEET POTATO CUSTARD FILLING

Add to two cupfuls of well-mashed cooked sweet potatoes, one-half cupful of thin cream, or a half a cupful of rich milk to which has been added four tablespoonfuls of melted butter, heat the mixture in a double boiler, until it is thoroughly heated through. Remove from the fire and add to it two well-beaten egg yolks and two whole eggs, mix well, and add two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, one-half teaspoonful of nutmeg, one-fourth cupful of sugar. Mix well and if liked, add a cupful of seedless raisins, that have been steamed until plump, pour into the pie shell, and bake until set, make a meringue of the two remaining egg whites, and brown in a very slow oven.

PEACH PUDDING

Beat three eggs slightly, and add to them one-half cupful of sugar, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, and one cupful of milk, take a sufficient number of slices of stale white bread, and line the bottom and sides of a well-oiled baking dish, soak them in the mixture until the bread is just coated, fit the slices into the pan and sprinkle with finely chopped almonds, fill the center with peeled and sliced peaches, pour the balance of the batter in which the bread was soaked over the peaches, bake in a medium oven, serve with a peach sauce.

Your Baby and Mine

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, bowel evacuations, nervousness and colds and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

TEACH RESPECT FOR PARENTS' RIGHTS AND PRIVILEGES

Many days in the year we discuss the child's rights and privileges, chiefly because parents are usually selfish enough to demand theirs without championship. But there is a type of parent who allows the child to unobtrusively usurp those precious moments of her time in ways which do not benefit the child and which might be devoted to her own interests.

We have in mind the child who takes hours to eat his dinner; who makes such a fuss over being dressed and bathed that a far longer period is devoted to this ceremony than is either necessary or desirable; who demands immediately after dinner that his father read to him, or hold him on his lap; who if his mother sits down in the afternoon to sew or to read a book or write a letter, is at her knee demanding to be held, or read to, or entertained; a child, in a word, who resents every interest the parent displays in anything but himself.

SQUELCH SELFISHNESS EARLY

Sheer selfishness, we term it, which should be squelched early in life. Even the small baby can learn to lie without attention when none is necessary, to accept service from other hands besides his mother's, and to move to a certain rhythm in eating, bathing, dressing and so on. Purposeless dawdling teaches the child bad habits and eats into his mother's spare moments so that she says in perfect truth, "I haven't a moment that I can call my own."

The mother should make the child conscious from the first that she is an individual, and has duties, and needs hours of recreation that are not connected with him.

There is a certain tone of voice in which father says with finality, "As soon as I finish reading my paper I'll read you a story," and mother says, "I'm going downtown now, dear, and Anna will look after you." This effectually squelches any desire to howl dismally, which has been proved a useless procedure.

CHILD CAN BE TAUGHT

Children are reasonable. They are eager to tiptoe about while mother takes forty winks; they see readily, if it is pointed out to them, that the time they waste on meals or in slow dressing is time that mother could be using more valuably in some other way.

Parents can preserve their rights if they start early enough to acquaint the child with them. The child learns that while father and mother are always at hand to iron out his difficulties, to listen to his tales of woe, to spend time in helping him with necessary activities, they are not perpetual motion machines designed to run his day and make it entertaining. The child never demurs at father's departure in the morning, for "father's business" is an undertaking which he learns to respect. He will have just as much respect for his mother's necessary activities which do not include him, if she impresses him with their importance. The mother who takes out her resentment in whining, "You are such a selfish child," discovers that her whines fall on deaf ears. A child is selfishly demanding only if we permit that attitude.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

ALL THE WORLD CHANGED

'Tis strange how just a simple touch
The future can affect so much.
—Mother West Wind.

Impy was still stiff and sore, as early the next morning he left his bed and made his way to the hidden entrance of his home. The light of early morning was making all the Great World glad. However, it didn't make Impy glad. He, who used to think the Great World was such a bright and beautiful place, had decided that the Great World was a dull and gloomy place and that for him there was no happiness in it.

"I don't care what happens," grumbled Impy. "No, sir, I don't care what happens."

Just then Sammy Jay spied him. Sammy saw at once that something had happened to Impy. He flew dow to a fence post and looked Impy over. "My, my, my!" said Sammy. "What under the sun has happened to you?"

"It's none of your business," replied Impy grumpily.

Instead of being provoked, Sammy Jay simply chuckled. "True enough, true enough," said he. "It isn't any of my business. Did you win the fight?"

Impy looked up quickly. "How did you know I had been in a fight?" he asked before he thought.

Sammy chuckled again. "I didn't," said he, "but I do now. If you won the fight, I'm sorry for the other fellow. My, my, what a looking coat! By the way, who is that pretty little Chipmunk that I saw over here yesterday? You were nowhere about."

Such a changed look as come over Impy's face. "I wasn't at home," said he, "so I cannot tell you. Was this other Chipmunk smaller or bigger than I?"

Sammy's eyes twinkled. He cocked his head on one side, as if he were measuring Impy with his eyes. "W-e-ll," said he slowly. "I should say that she was smaller. Yes, sir, she was considerably smaller."

Impy's eyes brightened. "Was she the prettiest Chipmunk you ever saw?" he demanded.

Sammy chuckled right out at that. "That I couldn't say," he replied. "There was another Chipmunk, though, who seemed to feel about her the same as you do."

If you could have seen Impy's face then! All the brightness went out of it very suddenly. "Were-were-were they together!" he stammered.

"No," replied Sammy. "She seemed to be trying to hide from him."

Once more Impy's face brightened. "Did he find her?" he asked eagerly.

"I didn't want to find out," replied Sammy. "Well, I must be going along." With this, Sammy spread his blue wings and flew away.

Just the faintest sound of a moving leaf—a dry leaf that had been stepped on—caught Impy's ears. He turned hastily. At first he saw nothing. Then he discovered a pair of soft bright eyes. There was only one person in all the Great World with a pair of eyes like those. Impy forgot that he was sore and lame and unhappy. He forget that there might be a big, strong stranger near. He took a few hasty steps forward. The bright soft eyes disappeared. It was only for an instant, however, and they were back again. Slowly—oh, so slowly—Impy approached. Would little Miss Frisky run away as she always had? He could almost touch her now. He reached out until his nose did actually touch her ...ose. With that touch the whole world was changed. Yes, sir, the whole world was changed.

"My, my, my!" said Sammy, "What under the sun has happened to you?"

CUP RACE GOES ON AIR TODAY

KHJ and KFI to Broadcast International Contest

Golf Championship Finals will be Third Feature

The Times Forum, KHJ, at 3:30 p.m.

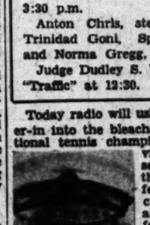
Judge Dudley S. Valentine on "Traffic" at 12:30.

Today radio will usher the listener-in into the bleachers of the national tennis championships, provide a gallery seat following the national professional golfing championships and last, but far from least, give a vivid word description of the gallant attempt of Sir Thomas Lipton's "Shamrock V" to wrest from America the international cup.



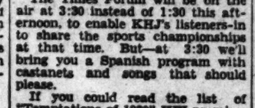
SIR THOMAS LIPTON

KHJ at 8 o'clock this morning is to fire the starting gun for this day of sports features. Intermittently throughout the morning the progress of our own "Enterprise" and England's "Shamrock V" toward the finish line will be broadcast. KFI at 12 and again at 12:30 will pick up over NBC like versions of the encounter.

Columbia's ace broadcasters will portray this thrilling event from many angles. Stuart Eggleston is to look down upon it from the balloon "Defender," while Harry Von Zell and Bob Longstreet will be aboard Coast Guard cutters detailing each and every wind-whipped spurt. Years have passed since last England and the colonies trooped and now that race of sportsmen—Sir Thomas Lipton—is to try again.

Another morning sports event over KHJ will be the opening of the national tennis championships at Forest Hills, beginning at 9:30 and interlaced throughout the morning and until the finish with the cup race.

Then at 12 noon listeners will leave the bleachers for the gallery of fans following the golfers in their final chapter of the championship.



The Times Forum will be on the air at 3:30 instead of 1:30 this afternoon, to enable KHJ's listeners-in to share the sports championships at that time. But—at 3:30 we'll bring you a Spanish program with castanets and songs that should please.

If you could read the list of "Temptations of 1930" KFI promises to broadcast next week from the Mayan Theater—well, you'd believe in the need for the curfew.

Do you want to spot your dial at 4:30 this afternoon and relax until 6 o'clock. Then point to KHJ—Dixie's Echoes will take you South and at 5 the C.B.S. Showboat will shove the gangplank out—Watson, the papers," villains, heroines and tears.

KMTR points to its talking-film song hits at 7:30 p.m.—"some of the newest theme songs."

Radio sopranos finally get a break. Our own Harry Carr, after hearing Norma Gregg at the Radio Show, says: "I take everything back I ever said about sopranos."

For opera lovers, KNX at 2:30 will offer "Pagliacci" and also Beethoven's "Ninth Symphony." This program is to continue until 5.

KFI at 9 tonight will present George Liebling, one of the most renowned names in the golden century of the piano. As a pupil of Kullak and of the immortal Franz Liszt, he was one of a group which included practically every famous virtuoso in the last half of the nineteenth century. His program will consist almost entirely of compositions by Liszt and by himself. In playing Liszt, he will offer the most authoritative interpretation the world now has. Jose Rodriguez of KFI tells us all of the above—and Jose's artistry at the piano is well known in the Southland. If you like music you will like this period.

Again—"Temptations of 1930." The broadcast will be over KFI at 8:30 tonight, with Wedgewood Nowell as "master of ceremonies of temptations." Whew—have you consulted Lloyd's, Mr. Nowell?

KECA will offer Floyd Gibbons and airs from Victor Herbert's "Babes in Toyland," "The Voice of Chimes" by Luigini, and "Seminola," an Indian composition by King, in a chain program at 5:30.

Bill Sharpless' Arabian mare—a gift—kicked the rear wall out of his garage and ate a neighbor's dahlias. And that isn't all—the dahlias were entries in the Dahlia Show.

KNX, with Calmon Luboviski and Claire Mellonini, at 9:05 tonight will offer a violin and piano combination that seldom fails to please the most exacting.

KHJ at 9 tonight is to give a new series of vaudeville programs—"Big Time"—its program reads like one you should enjoy. Harmony teams, an M.-G.-M. quartet, Van Coplow, song writer and record artist, Nora Schiller, blues singer. A half-hour of variety.

"A furious melange of old-time hoe-down melodies" is promised by KNX's Arizona Wranglers at 8 tonight. If only half of the superlatives in the copy are justified it should still be a good program.

Stuart Buchanan's playlet over KFWB at 9:30 tonight is announced as something about what might happen to a stenographer. It's a comedy—but I wonder what happens.

"Please note that Ted White's 'Top o' the World Night Club' hereafter will be a regular Saturday-night feature." I knew it. They're in Paris.

City Mother Bureau Assets Not Municipal

Furniture in the office of the City Mother valued at $1500 and a bank account containing $768.84 are the property of the City Mother Bureau and not the city, according to a decision handed down yesterday in Municipal Court.

Judge Baird found for Mrs. Elizabeth Kerbell, treasurer of the bureau, who filed suit against Mrs. Elizabeth Fiske, City Mother; Chief of Police Steckel and the Police Commission.

The suit was an outgrowth of the controversy between the bureau and Mrs. Fiske when the latter was appointed City Mother by Mayor Porter recently. The decision overrules an opinion by the City Attorney's office that the furniture and funds in the bureau's possession are city property.

OIL WORKER GIVEN $10,000 JUDGMENT

Judgment for $10,000 yesterday was awarded J. T. Boylan, oil derrick worker, ending his suit for $55,000 on trial in Superior Judge Keetch's court. The judgment was given under stipulation by attorneys for both sides. Boylan sued George F. Getty, Inc., asking damages for injuries received when he was blown from a rig to the ground eighty-five feet below when a Getty well blew in at Alamitos Heights.

The precaution you take in making hot biscuits is the one thing to insure roasting Hills BROS. COFFEE

You don't throw all the ingredients in the bowl at once—you combine them a little at a time—and make a perfect dough. Hills Bros. roast their coffee by a continuous process—not all at a time—never in a hurry—so develop a flavor such as you get in no other coffee.

WHITE HANDS ON THE [illegible]

There are two ways of making hands young. One is to wash with skin creams and the other is to avoid getting dirty. The White King way is to avoid getting dirty. Dishes made from pure vegetable oils good enough to eat—so nothing that can touch the skin can harden the skin. Wash dishes and dish-washing, the chief cause of dried and chapped hands. Try White King. It cuts through rich suds and dissolves grease even in lukewarm water. Then use hot water only to rinse the dishes. Afterward your hands will be smooth and soft. Fabrics, dishes, floors, woodwork—White King solves every household cleaning problem. It contains no lye, so that water won't harm the most delicate fabrics. Get a can today? At your grocer's.
